Surveillance Of Agricultural Prices And Trade:

Surveillance of Agricultural Prices and Trade Alberto Valdés, Jesus de los Santos, 1995-01-01 This book provides an independent and comprehensive review of World Bank irrigation lending and policy between 1948 and 1993. The Bank's role in irrigation lending has been large, more than 30 billion in current US dollars spread over some 600 projects. Only 200 projects have been in place long enough to be assessed. The overall performance record is good but there is room for improvement. The report finds that there are still pervasive problems in maintenance and operation. Operating chaos prevails in most large canal systems in the humid tropics. In drier areas drainage is the biggest environmental problem associated with irrigation. The author argues for upgrading existing systems, improving service involving irrigators and saving water where it is scarce.

Surveillance of Agricultural Price and Trade Policies Alberto Valdés, Barry Schaeffer, 1996-01-01 World Bank Technical Paper No 326 Describes the condition of young children in Sub-Saharan Africa, calls attention to their plight and examines strategies for addressing their condition. The paper describes the World Bank's early childhood development initiative which focuses on the neglected but critical development age group that falls between birth and school enrollment age and which regards child development as the holistic formation of the child rather than an extension of traditional schooling downward.

Eastern Europe Jan J. Rutkowski, 1996-01-01 World Bank Technical Paper No 336 Presents the results of consultative surveys undertaken in 36 rural and urban communities across Nigeria. The study examines the effectiveness and accountability of local institutions in local decisionmaking and participation as well as some common limitations such as the narrowness of membership and goals and their limited technical and managerial capacities Trends in Health Status, Services, and Finance: The transition in Central and Eastern Europe Ellen Goldstein, 1996-01-01 Annotation World Bank Technical Paper No 341 This cross national study provides empirical evidence of some of the trends in health status health services and health care financing that have occurred in countries undergoing economic transition in Central and Eastern Europe. Evidence shows that the transition has led to a significant reduction in resources devoted to health care in many of these countries. Moreover in those that have increased health care spending the resources have either not been properly mobilized or have not led to improved quality in care. Haan, 1995-01-01 This report describes the results of a survey of 1 000 multinational corporations undertaken in 1992 which asked about the importance of environmental issues in investment decisions. The survey shows that most large corporations look systematically at environmental questions when they decide where to invest. Environmental problems appear to have discouraged a number of investments across different industries and the question of liability for past pollution problems at industrial sites was the greatest concern for investors Medicinal Plants Jitendra Srivastava, John Lambert, Noel

Vietmeyer, 1996 All 15 new independent states established in the economic space of the former Soviet Union suffered big declines in output and trade after their independence. This study summarizes cross country experience on the role of trade and payments policies in the linked contraction of output and trade by drawing on eight country case studies Estonia the Kyrgyz Republic Latvia Lithuania Moldova Russia Ukraine and Uzbekistan. The results of the case studies show that trade reform and reorientation of trade toward the rest of the world have done much to arrest the decline in output usually associated with the transformation from plan to market. Trends in Health Status, Services, and Finance: Statistical annex Ellen Goldstein, 1996-01-01 Education systems in more than 50 countries most of them in the industrial world have in recent years shown an interest in obtaining information on what their students have actually learned as a result of their educational experiences. This interest has been manifested either by developing national procedures to assess students achievements or by participating in international studies of student achievement. This book provides introductory information on ways of assessing the learning outcomes of education systems. It considers the nature choice and use of indicators and describes numerous approaches to assessing learning outcomes in selected industrial countries the United States and the United Kingdom and developing countries Chile Colombia

Mauritius Namibia and Thailand The authors also review systems of comparative international assessment and debate whether developing countries should participate in them The book contains boxes and tables an appendix features a national assessment checklist Judicial Reform in Latin America and the Caribbean Malcom Rowat,1995-01-01 Proceedings of a World Bank conference T p Restoring and Protecting the World's Lakes and Reservoirs Ariel Dinar,1995-01-01

Privatizing Africa's Infrastructure Michel Kerf,Warrick Smith,1996-01-01 This paper examines the promise and challenge of infrastructure privatization in sub Saharan Africa with particular emphasis on power telecommunications water rail ports and airports The paper places primary emphasis on mobilizing private investment in infrastructure To realize the potential of infrastructure privatization in sub Saharan Africa four main challenges must be addressed a concerns over market size affordability and payment risks b establishing adequate legal and regulatory frameworks c dealing with non commercial risks and d mobilizing local finance The paper examines these four areas and gives elements of a future strategy for the World Bank Group The Legal Framework for Water Users' Associations Salman M. A. Salman,1997-01-01 Recent experience confirms that participation of farmers in managing parts of an irrigation system and collecting water charges usually results in a more efficient use of water To be effective farmers in the hydraulic unit would need to organize themselves by establishing a water users association This paper presents a comparative study of the legal framework for these associations in Colombia India Mexico Nepal the Philippines and Turkey Building on the theory that participation of farmers in managing and operating parts of an irrigation system will result in an optimum use of water the document analyzes in a comparative manner how each of these countries addressed the basic aspects related to the establishment and functioning of such associations Additional emphasis is placed on the collection of water charges
