unexplored dimensions of the music literature relationship and the sometimes unrecognized talents of certain famous writers and composers This book deals with three aspects that have been neglected in the burgeoning field of music and literature The First Movement of the book considers writers from German Romanticism to the present who like Robert Schumann first saw themselves as writers before they turned to composition or like E T A Hoffmann and Anthony Burgess sought careers in music before becoming writers It also considers the few operatic composers such as Richard Wagner and Arnold Schoenberg who wrote their own libretti The Second Movement turns to literary works based specifically on musical compositions This group includes first and more generally prose works whose author chose a specific musical form such as sonata or fugue as an organizational model And second it includes novels based structurally or thematically on specific compositions such as Bach's Goldberg Variations The Finale concludes with a unique case effort by modern composers to render musically the compositions described in detail by Thomas Mann in his novel Doktor Faustus This book which addresses itself to readers interested generally in music and literature and is written in a reader friendly style draws attention to unexplored dimensions of the music literature relationship and to the sometimes unrecognized talents of certain writers and composers Theodore Ziolkowski is Professor Emeritus of German and Comparative Literature Princeton University The Damned and the Elect Friedrich Ohly, 2010-08-26 A comparative cultural history of figures such as Oedipus Judas and Faust from antiquity to modern times Thomas Mann Studies, Volume 2 Klaus W. The German Novelle Martin Swales, 2019-04-23 Although the influence of Homer on Western literature has long commanded critical attention little has been written on how various generations of readers have found meaning in his texts These seven essays explore the ways in which the Illiad and the Odyssey have been read from the time of Homer through the Renaissance By asking what questions early readers expected the texts to answer and looking at how these expectations changed over time the authors clarify the position of the Illiad and the Odyssey in the intellectual world of antiquity while offering historical insight into the nature of reading The collection surveys the entire field of preserved ancient interpretations of Homer beginning with the fictional audiences portrayed within the poems themselves proceedings to readings by Aristotle the Stoics and Aristarchus and Crates and culminating in the spiritualized allegorical reading current among Platonists of the fifth and sixth centuries C E The influence of these ancient interpretations is then examined in Byzantium and in the Latin West during the Renaissance Contributors to this volume are Robert Browning Anthony Grafton Robert Lamberton A A Long James Porter Nicholas Richardson and Charles Segal Robert Lamberton is Assistant Professor of Classics and John J Keaney is Professor of Classics both at Princeton University Originally published in 1977 The Princeton Legacy Library uses the latest print on demand technology to again make available previously out of print books from the distinguished backlist of Princeton University Press These editions preserve the original texts of these important books while presenting them in durable paperback and hardcover editions The goal of the Princeton Legacy Library is to vastly increase access to the rich scholarly heritage found in the thousands of books published by Princeton University Press since its founding in 1905

Hesitant Heroes Theodore Ziolkowski, 2018-05-31 Why Theodore Ziolkowski wonders does Western literature abound with figures who experience a crucial moment of uncertainty in their actions In this highly original and engaging work he explores the significance of these unlikely heroes for literature and history From Aeneas who wavered momentarily before plunging his sword into Turnus's chest to Hamlet Orestes Parzival Wallenstein and others including Kafka's Josef K Ziolkowski demonstrates that characters' private uncertainty reveals a classic opposition of binary forces He describes how Aeneas for example was forced to choose between the ancient code of blood vengeance and the new civic virtues of law and justice Ziolkowski asserts that the indecision of the characters reflects the tensions that authors observed in their own societies Drawing on the insights of Hegel and Freud he analyzes the ways in which these tensions represent turning points in cultural history In stark contrast to Aeneas Josef K temporized for a year before his executioners thrust a knife into his heart For Ziolkowski the centuries separating Virgil and Kafka are ones in which the notion of the hero was transformed almost to the point of total inversion He sheds light on this transformation and a corresponding change in literary form

Money Matters Richard T. Gray, 2018-03-23 In Money Matters Richard Gray investigates the discourses of aesthetics and philosophy alongside economic thought arguing that their domains are not mutually exclusive The transition in Germany from an agrarian or proto industrial economy to a capitalist industrial economy which was paralleled by a shift from the exchange of money in coin to the use of paper currencies occurred simultaneously with an efflorescence of German language literature and philosophy Based on close readings of canonical literary and philosophical texts Gray explores how this confluence led to a rich cross fertilization between economic and literary thought in Germany during this period Money Matters documents the surprising degree to which literature and philosophy participated in the creation of modern economic paradigms as well as the extent to which economics influenced literature and philosophy The cultural artifacts of the period demonstrate the existence of an economic unconsciousness persistent notions of value and exchange that inflect the aesthetic and thematic dimensions of literary and philosophical texts This book offers a thought provoking and original analysis of literature and ideas in the critical transition period from Kant and Goethe through the German Romantics to Marx
