Surviving The Leaving Certificate Points For Parents:

Surviving the Leaving Cert Marie Murray, 2002 Surviving the Leaving Cert Points for Parents is a comprehensive guide for parents and students to help them navigate the daunting territory of the Leaving Cert year. Psychologist Marie Murray provides new and important insights into the needs of young people preparing to sit the Leaving Cert. Designed to help parents to distinguish between issues that are exam related and those that are part of this age and stage, the book outlines the signs and symptoms of a student under pressure, stressed, distressed or depressed. Every aspect of the Leaving Cert is covered: the CAO, time management, study strategies, family problems, specific learning studies. Parents are helped to be supportive, encouraging and motivating right up to the day students receive their exam results. The book includes suggestions from students as to how parents could be more helpful to them. The author in turn provides pointers for students on how to communicate effectively with parents. Written in a lively and accessible style with many user friendly bullet points, Surviving the Leaving Cert Points for Parents is an indispensable resource for every Irish family. Coping with Depression in

Young People Carol Fitzpatrick, John Sharry, 2004-06-25 Depressive disorders can produce dramatic and frightening changes in young people's behaviour but while parents may suspect something is wrong they are often at a loss to know what. This book shows parents how to tell the difference between the ordinary ups and downs and true depression, helping them better understand clinical warning signs and the various approaches to treatment. Dealing sensitively with how depression sometimes manifests itself, self-harm, alcohol and drug abuse and suicide attempts, the book offers parents practical guidance on how they can reach out to their children and find professional assistance. Books Ireland, 2003 Sorted! Andrée Harpur, Mary Quirke, 2011 Written by two experienced career guidance counsellors in an honest and clear style, Sorted helps parents and secondary school students to negotiate the tricky process of choosing a career. With the intention of removing the stress and complications of making career decisions, Sorted outlines all the different options upon leaving school: higher education, further education, studying abroad, apprenticeships and professional training. Explains how to make informed decisions around key areas such as the CAO process and choosing school subjects. Explores how natural interests and abilities can lead to an enjoyable and successful career. Sorted is an essential guide to the world beyond school, primarily for parents but will also prove useful for students, teachers and career guidance counsellors. About the authors: Andrée Harpur and Andrée Harpur and Associates is an established guidance counsellor. She writes columns on career development in the Irish Times and the Sunday Business Post and is on the staff of the Masters in Career Guidance in Dublin City University. Mary Quirke is a private guidance counsellor with Career Confidence and assistant director of the Association of Higher Education Access and Disability (AHEAD). All in all, it is a fine product with a clearly defined audience. For any parent of a Leaving Cert student, this would make ideal reading. While a lot of information is shared on the parental network and grapevine, it is often not always reliable information and this very readable book along with an approachable Guidance Counsellor should help fill the information vacuum Guideline The Institute of Guidance Counsellors Newsletter Vol 38 No 1 Lacanian Psychoanalysis with Babies, Children, and Adolescents Stephanie Farrelly Quinn, Carol Owens, 2018-03-29 Lacan did not say or write very much about the psychoanalysis of children There is no doctrine of the psychoanalysis of children in his work Instead his 1956 1957 seminar on the object relation and his Note on the Child of 1969 have been adopted by Lacanian analysts working with children as providing essential coordinates for direction in their clinical work This book is the result of inviting psychoanalysts of the Lacanian orientation working with children around the globe to theorise and conceptualise that work The Lacanian psychoanalyst works with the notion of the subject as a speaking being but the child subject brings particular exigencies to the psychoanalytic work Contributors attend to these exigencies in their essays by articulating the precise particularities of the direction of the treatment and psychoanalytic work with children A Parent's Guide to Examinations F. H. Pedley, 2014-05-18 A Parent's Guide to Examinations From Primary School to University provides an account of examinations in Wales and England from the primary school stage to the university This book discusses the intense competition in universities that led to procedures being adopted for the administration of students Organized into 12 chapters this book begins with an overview of the examinations taken in the primary school in relation with selection for secondary schools This text then describes the examinations themselves as well as some aspects of the system that has produced them Other chapters consider the differences between the different types of schools the organization of Local Education Authorities and the administration of technical colleges and universities This book discusses as well the courses for operatives draftsmen and technicians The final chapter deals with grants for students at teacher training colleges This book is a valuable resource for readers who are interested in the working of the system Digest of Insurance Cases John Allen Finch, 1890 Reconstructing Education Rosalind M. O. Pritchard, 1998-12-01 After the unification of Germany had first been greeted with euphoria on both sides of the Wall it did not take long for disillusion to set in when it became obvious that structures mentality values and outlook were very different in the Old and New Bundesl nder Moreover whereas during the initial phase the East Germans were hoping just for a reform of their existing systems they were soon disappointed and had to accept the fact that a fusion was out of the question instead East German structures were expected to assimilate to those of West Germany which led to the accusation of the latter's colonization of East Germany The restructuring of the education system played a crucial role in the transformation of East Germany consequently enormous sums were pumped into East German schools and the training of teachers This is the first study in any language that closely examines the process re education and addresses such vital questions as whether the reforms were educationally sound to what degree they meshed with local circumstances what measures were taken to fill the vacuum in moral and social values that was left by the discrediting of Marxism Leninism and what happened to the notion of equality the key principle of a socialist society Contrasting the old and the new regime in the East the author addresses these and many more critical issues Numerous case
