Non-Timber Forest Products in the Global Context Sheona Shackleton, Charlie Shackleton, Patricia Shanley, 2011-03-28 This book provides a comprehensive global synthesis of current knowledge on the potential and challenges associated with the multiple roles use management and marketing of non timber forest products NTFPs There has been considerable research and policy effort surrounding NTFPs over the last two and half decades The book explores the evolution of sentiments regarding the potential of NTFPs in promoting options for sustainable multi purpose forest management income generation and poverty alleviation Based on a critical analysis of the debates and discourses it employs a systematic approach to present a balanced and realistic perspective on the benefits and challenges associated with NTFP use and management within local livelihoods and landscapes supported with case examples from both the southern and northern hemispheres This book covers the social economic and ecological dimensions of NTFPs and closes with an examination of future prospects and research directions

Conservation and Development of Nontimber Forest Products in the Pacific Northwest, 1996 , Tapping the Green Market Abraham Guillen, Sarah A Laird, Alan R

Pierce, Patricia Shanley, 2012-08-21 There is a rapidly growing interest in and demand for non timber forest products NTFPs They provide critical resources across the globe fulfilling nutritional medicinal financial and cultural needs However they have been largely overlooked in mainstream conservation and forestry politics This volume explains the use and importance of certification and eco labelling for guaranteeing best management practices of non timber forest products in the field Using extensive case studies and global profiles of non timber forest products this work not only seeks to further our comprehension of certification processes but also broaden understanding of non timber forest product management harvesting and marketing It should be useful to forest managers policy makers and conservation organizations as well as for academics in these areas

Tropical Forests Eusebio Cano Carmona, Carmelo Maria Musarella, Ana Cano Ortiz, 2023-05-31 The book contemplates different ways of approaching the conservation and development of tropical biomes The chapters analyze biodiversity and highlight ecosystem services as a fundamental element for the conservation and eco development of tropical forests Chapter authors propose the involvement of country institutions in conservation efforts and present studies on the ecology flora and vegetation of tropical ecosystems

Landscape, Process and Power Serena Heckler, 2012 In recent years the field of study variously called local indigenous or traditional environmental knowledge TEK has experienced a crisis brought about by the questioning of some of its basic assumptions This has included reassessing notions that scientific methods can accurately elicit and describe TEK or that incorporating it into development projects will improve the physical social or economic well being of marginalized peoples The contributors to this volume argue that to accurately and appropriately describe TEK the historical and political forces that have shaped it as well as people s day to day engagement with the landscape around them must be taken into account TEK thus emerges not as an easily translatable tool for development experts but as a rich and complex element of contemporary lives that should be defined and managed by indigenous and local peoples themselves

Medicinal Resources of the Tropical Forest Michael J. Balick, Elaine Elisabetsky, Sarah A. Laird, 1996 This book opens readers eyes to the enormous resources of the Earth s rain forests and the potential impact of their destruction in terms of human health

Natural Products from Plants Leland J. Cseke, Ara Kirakosyan, Peter B. Kaufman, Sara Warber, James A. Duke, Harry L. Brielmann, 2016-04-19 2008 NOMINEE The Council on Botanical and Horticultural Libraries Annual Award for a Significant Work in Botanical or Horticultural Literature From medicinal industrial and culinary uses to cutting edge laboratory techniques in modern research and plant conservation strategies Natural Products from Plants

Conservation and Development of Nontimber Forest Products in the Pacific Northwest Bettina Von Hagen, James F. Weigand, 1998 Encompasses literature on the historic procedures for identifying monitoring means for technical innovation public education Keywords at the end of each annotation are organized in an index that references species geographic location key themes topics organizations

Sustainability Michael Redclift, 2002-02-07 The concept of sustainability is traditionally viewed in exclusively environmental terms Sustainability Life Chances and Livelihoods links peoples livelihoods and life chances to the concept of sustainability by examining the way in which social and economic processes complement and compound environmental change Looking at the main ingredients of sustainable development health economic policy land use ethics and education in both the north and south this book demonstrates the way in which the life chances of individuals both effect and are affected by their environments Sustainability Life Chances and Livelihoods shows that the scope of sustainability thinking needs to be widened to embrace public policies and experiences in both developed and developing countries By providing a comparative focus both spatially and temporally the contributors demonstrate how the environmental concerns of the northern developed world are culturally translated into the south often into immediate survival questions

Living in and from the forests of Central Africa Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, 2017-01-01 Living in and from the forests of Central Africa is intended first and foremost as a full scale extension tool concerning NWFPs in Central Africa It is a work on the groups who have always lived in these forests forests that contribute to every aspect of their daily lives both material and spiritual and enable them to survive even in periods of extreme crisis

Ethnobotany and the Search for New Drugs Derek J. Chadwick, Joan Marsh, 2008-04-30 A compilation of articles by prominent experts in their respective fields on compensation for and collaboration with indigenous people in regard to their knowledge and provision of rare plants which are used for some of the most potent drugs in Western medicine

Tropical Forest Conservation Douglas Southgate, 1998-06-04 Attempts to halt the destruction of rain forests and other natural habitats in the tropics have met with little success In particular national parks like those found in wealthy nations have proven difficult to establish in Africa Asia and South and Central America More often than not people inhabiting areas designated for protection resist being told by outsiders that they must change how and where they live Alternative approaches frequently embodied in integrated conservation and development projects ICDPs are now being pursued The goal is to address local communities desires for improved standards of living while simultaneously meeting conservation objectives Nature based tourism and sustainable harvesting of forest products are the centerpieces of ICDPs and related initiatives This book assesses the viability of conservation strategies predicated on the adoption of environmentally sound enterprises in and around threatened habitats Drawing on research in Brazil Costa Rica Ecuador and Peru and on his extensive experience working in South and Central America and the Caribbean the author demonstrates that it is rare for forest dwellers to derive much benefit from ecotourism the extraction of timber and other commodities or the collection of samples used in pharmaceutical research Often these activities are simply unprofitable Even when they are profitable the benefits tend not to accrue locally but instead are captured by outside firms and individuals who can provide important services like safe and reliable transportation The author contends that human capital formation and related productivity enhancing investment is the only sure path to economic progress and habitat conservation

Incomes from the Forest Eva Wollenberg, Andrew Ingles, 1998-01-01 Documentation and comparison methods to assess options for forest based livelihoods and their outcomes The contributions are based on the premise that livelihood and conservation goals can be best achieved by improving information flow about changes in the environment and the impacts of forest use The authors report on the strengths and weaknesses of methods that have been tried in the field

Forest People Interfaces Bas Arts, Séverine van Bommel, Mirjam Ros-Tonen, Gerard Verschoor, 2012-05-22 This book aims at both academics and professionals in the field of forest people interfaces It takes the reader on a journey through four major themes that have emerged since the initiation of social forestry in the 1970s non timber forest products and agroforestry community based natural resource management biocultural diversity and forest governance In so doing the books offers a comprehensive and current review on social issues related to forests that other more specialized publications lack It is also theory rich offering both mainstream and critical perspectives and presents up to date empirical materials Reviewing these four major research themes the main conclusion of the book is that na ve optimism associated with forest people interfaces should be tempered

The chapters show that economic development political empowerment and environmental aims are not easily integrated Hence local landscapes and communities are not as makeable as is often assumed Events that take place on other scales might intervene local communities might not implement policies locally and governance practices might empower governments more than communities This all shows that we should go beyond community based ideas and ideals and look at practices on the ground

Forest Biodiversity in North, Central and South America, and the Caribbean Francisco Dallmeier,James A. Comiskey,1998 Biological diversity research environmental monitoring forest ecology Hurricane Hugo wildlife Canada French Guiana Virgin Islands Puerto Rico Brazil Amazonia Bolivia Peru Ecuador Venezuela flowers plant life

Introduction to Forestry and Natural Resources Donald L. Grebner,Pete Bettinger,Jacek P. Siry,Kevin Boston,2021-01-19 Introduction to Forestry and Natural Resources Second Edition presents a broad completely updated overview of the profession of forestry The book details several key fields within forestry including forest management economics policy utilization and forestry careers Chapters deal specifically with forest regions of the world landowners forest products wildlife habitats tree anatomy and physiology and forest disturbances and health These topics are ideal for undergraduate introductory courses and include numerous examples and questions for students to ponder There is also a section dedicated to forestry careers Unlike other introductory forestry texts which focus largely on forest ecology rather than practical forestry concepts this book encompasses the economic ecological and social aspects thus providing a uniquely balanced text The wide range of experience of the contributing authors equips them especially well to identify missing content from other texts in the area and address topics currently covered in corresponding college courses Covers the application of forestry and natural resources around the world with a focus on practical applications and graphical examples Describes basic techniques for measuring and evaluating forest resources and natural resources including fundamental terminology and concepts Includes management policies and their influence at the local national and international levels

Wild Species as Commodities Curtis Freese,2012-06-22 In recent years some policymakers and conservationists have argued that natural resources will be protected only if economic benefits accrue to those who are responsible for caring for the resources Such commercial consumptive use of wild species CCU provides an economically viable alternative to more ecologically destructive land uses and could help accomplish the overall goals of biodiversity conservation Yet many questions remain Will the harvest of wild species be sustainable Will habitats be protected What tradeoffs are implied for the populations and ecosystems under management While this debate goes on researchers and managers are confronting an array of real world problems in managing harvested populations of wild species Wild Species as Commodities presents a balanced scientifically rigorous consideration of the link between CCU and biodiversity conservation The outgrowth of a four year World Wildlife Fund study the book is both a synthesis of findings and a practical guide Topics examined include forestry fisheries sport hunting and nontimber forest products the economics of wild species use social and institutional frameworks required for sustainability ecological impacts biodiversity consequences of ecosystem specialization conservation benefits of wild species use management principles and guideline Wild Species as Commodities provides a primer on the CCU biodiversity link and an interdisciplinary analysis of the major economic social and ecological factors involved along with guidelines for incorporating biodiversity conservation into commercial harvesting programs It is a highly accessible source of information concepts and management approaches for professionals in resource management and wildlife conservation and academics in conservation biology environmental and ecological economics and environmental studies
