British Frigates and Escort Destroyers 1939-45 Angus Konstam, 2023-06-22 A history of the small mass produced warships that defended the Atlantic convoys from U boats and secured Britain's lifeline to the United States As the Battle of the Atlantic grew fiercer Britain and the Commonwealth needed large quantities of new warships to defend their shipping which could be produced cheaply The two largest type of ship produced were the escort destroyer and the frigate Escort destroyers were essentially small destroyers optimized for anti submarine warfare with speed and anti surface weaponry sacrificed while frigates were simpler designed so they could be built quickly in civilian shipyards Nearly 200 were built These warships were key to protecting convoys in the Atlantic Ocean where their range and seagoing qualities made them well suited for operations They were also used to form hunting groups and collectively accounted for the destruction of scores of German U boats Their arrival came at a critical time for the Royal Navy when the Battle of the Atlantic was reaching its climax and losses among both merchant ships and escorts were mounting In this book naval expert Angus Konstam outlines the history of the Hunt Loch Bay and River class escort destroyers and frigates revealing how crews fought and what life was like on board Using archive photos detailed colour profiles a Hunt class cutaway and battlescenes of the

Davies, 2017-10-18 This journal reprints the history of the Elder Dempster company by Peter N Davies from 1852 1972 originally published in 1973 It includes an additional chapter also by Peter Davies on the history of the company from 1973 1989 covering its decline and final years The purpose is to describe and analyse the economic history of the Elder Dempster shipping company and its predecessors plus an account of West African and British economic backgrounds The journal is divided into five parts each concerning a different era in the company s history Part 1 covers the formation of the African Steam Ship Company which would eventually merge and become Elder Dempster Part 2 covers the expansion of Elder Dempster and the partnership with Alfred Lewis Jones Part 3 explores major historical events and their impact on Elder Dempster including the Great War the transition from war to peace and the end of the Royal Mail group Part 4 concerns the establishment of Elder Dempster Lines Limited the emergence of successful rival companies the Second World War and post war reconstruction and prediction for the company for the 1970s and beyond as this part concluded the first edition of the history Part 5 is a retrospective look at the 1970s and 1980s and tracks the decline of Elder Dempster Albert Winsemius And Singapore: Here It Is Going To Happen Euston Quah, Luke Nursultan Iuldashov, Zach Lee, 2022-05-18 Here it is going to happen is the title of a painting memorialising Albert Winsemius industrial survey mission to Singapore The picture depicts the hilltop view of a pre industrial Jurong Besides being a biography of Albert Winsemius the book examines Albert Winsemius affinity with Singapore and his contributions to the nation s economic development It also looks at his legacy and influence on past current and future economic planners Crossing the Bar Anthony Slaven, Hugh Murphy, 2017-10-18 This book is a collection of sixty interviews with key figures in British shipbuilding ship repair and marine engine building industries across the United Kingdom plus government and civil service members in the sector from the 1960s to the 1980s The aim of the project is to understand the economic social and political environment of the shipping industry from the perspective of those who worked in it The interviews place the twentieth century decline of British shipbuilding into a firm context The topics covered include international competition a recurring pertinent theme labour difficulties industry modernisation the attitude of shipowners the strong belief in traditional methods which kept many of those in the industry from recognising the cheaper faster and better quality work taking place overseas and leaving Britain behind ship production and production control the postwar boom shipyard overcrowding the decline of the domestic industry in favour of the international marketing weaknesses trade disputes and trade unions and nationalisation and privatisation concerns Opinions and viewpoints often conflict particularly between the perspectives of those working within the industry and the civil servants working outside of it but the interviews are presented as a unit and the reader is encouraged to draw their own conclusion The result is a unique historical archive that offers a multitude of firsthand perspectives on the British shipping decline open to interpretation by historians and future researchers It includes a preface introduction and select bibliography

The interviews are grouped together by location and role Industrial Ruination, Community and Place Alice Mah, 2012-10-03 Abandoned factories shipyards warehouses and refineries are features of many industrialized cities around the world But despite their state of decline these derelict sites remain vitally connected with the urban landscapes that surround them In this enlightening new book Alice Mah explores the experiences of urban decline and post industrial change in three different community contexts Niagara Falls Canada USA Newcastle upon Tyne UK and Ivanovo Russia Employing a unique methodological approach that combines ethnographic spatial and documentary methods Mah draws on international comparisons of the landscapes and legacies of industrial ruination over the past forty years Through this she foregrounds the complex challenges of living with prolonged uncertainty and deprivation amidst socioeconomic change This rich comparative study makes an essential contribution to far reaching debates about the decline of manufacturing regeneration and identity and will have important implications for urban theory and policy The Hunter's Feast, Or, Conversations Around the Camp Fire Mayne Reid, 1883 Shipbuilding and Shipping Record ,1913 Shipbuilding & Shipping Record ,1921 The Economics of Shipbuilding in the United Kingdom J. Johnston,2013-05-08 The launch in 1606 of HMS Dreadnought the worlds s first all big gun battleship rendered all existing battle fleets obsolete but at the same time it wiped out the Royal Navy s numerical advantage so expensively maintained for decades Already locked in the same arms race with Germany Britain urgently needed to build an entirely new battle fleet of these larger more complex and more costly vessels In this she succeeded spectacularly in little over a decade fifty such ships were completed almost exactly double that of what Germany achieved It was only made possible by the company s vast industrial nexus of shipbuilders engine manufacturers armament fleets and specialist armour producers whose contribution to the Grand Feet is too often ignored This heroic achievement and how it was done is the subject of this book It charts the rise of the large industrial conglomerates that were key to this success looks at the reaction to fast moving technical changes and analyses the politics of funding this vast national effort both before and beyond the Great War It also attempts to assess the true cost and value of the Grand Fleet in terms of the resources consumed And finally by way of contrast it describes the effects of the post war recession industrial contraction and the very different responses to rearmament in the run up to the Second World War Lloyd's Register of British and Foreign Shipping ,1906
