Systematics of Anopina Obraztsov (Lepidoptera Tortricidae) John W. Brown, Jerry A. Powell, 2000-06-20 The authors revise the genus Anopina of the leafroller family Tortricidae Lepidoptera This genus ranges from southern Canada to Costa Rica with its greatest species richness in the higher elevations of Mexico The larvae are suspected to be leaf litter feeders Sixty two species are treated of which forty nine are described as new to science The authors provide a hypothesis of phylogenetic relationships of the species propose a classification supply a key to species groups based primarily on features of the genitalia and include illustrations of adults larvae and male and female genitalia Systematics and Phylogeny of Sparganothina and Related Taxa (Lepidoptera: Tortricidae: Sparganothini) Bernard Landry, Jerry A. Powell, 2001-08-15 This work provides a hypothesis of evolutionary relationships within the Neotropical genus Sparganothina and between this genus and other lineages of Sparganothini Lepidoptera Tortricidae Nineteen species are considered to belong to Sparganothina Ten additional species are placed in Sparganothina and five in Coelostathma pending a better phylogenetic understanding of Coelostathma and related genera Thirty species are described as new Moths of Western North America Jerry A. Powell, Paul A. Opler, 2009-05-27 Insects boast incredible diversity and this book treats an important component of the western insect biota that has not been summarized before moths and their plant relationships There are about 8 000 named species of moths in our region and although most are unnoticed by the public many attract attention when their larvae create economic damage eating holes in woollens infesting stored foods boring into apples damaging crops and garden plants or defoliating forests In contrast to previous North American moth books this volume discusses and illustrates about 25% of the species in every family including the tiny species making this the most comprehensive volume in its field With this approach it provides access to microlepidoptera study for biologists as well as amateur collectors About 2 500 species are described and illustrated including virtually all moths of economic importance summarizing their morphology taxonomy adult behavior larval biology and life cycles Annotated List of the Lepidoptera of Alberta, Canada Greg Pohl, Gary Anweiler, Christian Schmidt, Norbert Kondla, 2010-03-05 This checklist of the Lepidoptera butterflies and moths of Alberta lists 2367 species reported to occur in the province as well as 138 species whose occurrence in Alberta is probable Each species entry includes adult flight time and distribution status in the Cordilleran Boreal and Grasslands ecozones as well as references to taxonomic works and to the literature and public collection sources of the records Detailed notes on taxonomy nomenclature distribution habitat and biology are given for 1524 of the listed species An additional section provides details on 171 species erroneously reported from Alberta in previous works The authors hope it will be a useful resource for anyone carrying out species level work on Lepidoptera in western Canada or taxonomic work on Lepidoptera in general An introductory section provides a general overview of the order Lepidoptera and the natural regions of Alberta and the history and current state of knowledge of Alberta Lepidoptera Each of the 63 families and selected subfamilies occurring in Alberta is briefly reviewed with information on distinguishing features general appearance and general biology The list is accompanied by an appendix of proposed nomenclature changes consisting of revised status for 25 taxa raised from synonymy to species level and new synonymy for 20 species level and one genus level taxa here considered to be subjective synonyms with resultant revised synonymy for one taxon and formalization of seven new combinations International Advances in the Ecology, Zoogeography, and Systematics of Mayflies and Stoneflies F. R. Hauer, Jack Stanford, Robert Newell, 2008-06-24 The purpose of this volume is to encourage and facilitate focused research and provide a forum for scholarly exchange about the status of Mayfly and Stonefly science Professor John Brittain whose research is focused on freshwater entomology especially egg development and life cycle strategies of Ephemeroptera and Plecoptera presents a chapter reflecting on the quality of mayflies as good indicators of global warming and the quality of streams and lakes Professor Emeritus Andrew Sheldon whose interests have encompassed community and population ecology of aquatic animals over a span of more than 40 years especially insects and fishes explores topics of Scale and Hierarchy and the Ecology of Plecoptera discussing how studies emphasizing scale and perspective reveal importance of stoneflies to ecosystems Other topics cover a broad base of disciplines including morphology physiology phylogeny taxonomy ecology and conservation The chapters have been compiled into three sections for this volume Ecology Zoogeography and Systematics Species Revision and Generic Systematics of World Rileyinae (Hymenoptera: Eurytomidae) Michael W. Gates, 2008-06-24 The subfamily Rileyinae Hymenoptera Eurytomidae is redefined to contain 6 genera and 69 species for which keys are provided Two morphological data sets analyzed via maximum parsimony with PAUP yield hypotheses on the placement of Rileyinae within Eurytomidae and internal relationships of Rileyinae Tables detailing host utilization for Eurytomidae genera Rileyinae species and confirmed suspected plant associations for Rileyinae are included Phylogenetic Relationships within Heliodinidae and Systematics of Moths Formerly Assigned to Heliodines Stainton (Lepidoptera: Yponomeutoidea) Yu-Feng Hsu, Jerry A. Powell, 2005-01-01 Heliodinids are tiny brightly colored dayflying moths Phylogenetic relationships among genera of Heliodinidae are proposed using parsimony and character compatibility We describe and illustrate 45 North and Central species 25 newly named assigned to five genera two new two exhumed from synonymy Larval host plants are recorded for 33 species 14 newly discovered about 45% of the known fauna 90% of these are specialists on Caryophyllales primarily Nyctaginaceae California Cuckoo Wasps in the Family Chrysididae (Hymenoptera) Dr. Lynn S. Kimsey, 2006-11-27 California has one of the world's most diverse chrysidid wasp faunas These are large brightly metallic colored parasitoids of sphecoid wasps and bees This study reviews the species and genera of Chrysididae in California maps their overall distributions and gives keys to California genera and species In addition three species described by Linsenmaier in 1994 are synonymized An Annotated Catalog of the Type Material of Aphytis (Hymenoptera: Aphelinidae) in the Entomology Research Museum, University of California at Riverside Serguei Triapitsyn, Jung-Wook Kim, 2008-11-18

The catalog provides information on the type of material of 75 valid species of the genus Aphytis Howard Hymenoptera Aphelinidae in the collection of the Entomology Research Museum University of California Riverside 7 390 specimens were remounted from Hoyer's medium into Canada balsam including 309 primary types 2 473 secondary types and 4 608 non type specimens Lectotypes are designated for 11 species University of California Publications in Entomology Serguei V. Lattke, 2004-11-04 Ants belonging to the genus Gnamptogenys are important and diverse predators in the forests of the tropics of the Americas Southeast Asia and Australasia The recent rapid accumulation of these ants in collections rendered the last revision obsolete raising the number of known species from about 80 to over a 120 species worldwide The present study recognizes 49 Old World species almost half of them new distributed among 5 species groups They are present in many entomological collections as the large size of some species and their conspicuousness has caught the attention of even general collectors They figure increasingly in studies of diversity and ecology due to aspects of their biology such as predatory specialization or their reproduction which includes proper queens in some species and worker reproduction in other species While most species are ground nesters in forests some are arboreal and others are subterranean This revision covers all the Old World species and proposes phylogenetic relations among the different species groups The identification of the species is possible with aid of well illustrated keys for workers and queens The results of working with the keys can be rapidly confirmed by consulting the diagnosis that accompanies each species account or the full description if need be The phylogenetic analysis uses a valuable series of internal morphological characters previously unconsidered in ant systematics Detailed distribution data is also included for each species This work will be valuable for those studying insect diversity and ecology of forests in Southeast Asia and Australasia Their diverse biology and relative large size of many species make these ants attractive subjects for comparative studies and this reference should open the door for further studies American Entomologist ,2001 Phylogenetic Relationships, Systematics and Biology of the Species of Amorbia Clemens (Lepidoptera: Tortricidae, Sparganothini) Eugenie Phillips,2002 Phylogenetic Systematics Within and Between Species in the Tortricinae Using Classical and Molecular Methods James John Kruse,2000
