Systemic Analysis Of Judaism Brown Judaic Studies:

The Documentary History of Judaism and Its Recent Interpreters Jacob Neusner, 2012-07-10 The result for the history of Judaism of a documentary reading of the Rabbinic canonical sources illustrates the working of that hypothesis It is the first major outcome of that hypothesis but there are other implications and a variety of new problems emerge from time to time as the work proceeds In the recent past Neusner has continued to explore special problems of the documentary hypothesis of the Rabbinic canon At the same time Neusner notes others join in the discussion that have produced important and ambitious analyses of the thesis and its implications Here Neuser has collected some of the more ambitious ventures into the hypothesis and its current recapitulations Neusner begins with the article written by Professor William Scott Green for the Encyclopaedia Judaica second edition as Green places the documentary hypothesis into the context of Neusner s entire oeuvre Neuser then reproduces what he regards as the single most successful venture of the documentary hypothesis contrasting between the Mishnah s and the Talmuds programs for the social order of Israel the doctrines of economics politics and philosophy set forth in those documents respectively Then come the two foci of discourse Halakhah or normative law and Aggadah or normative theology Professors Bernard Jackson of the University of Manchester England and Mayer Gruber of Ben Gurion University of the Negev treat the Halakhic program that Neusner has devised and Kevin Edgecomb of the University of California Berkeley has produced a remarkable summary of the theological system Neusner discerns in the Aggadic documents Neusner concludes with a review of a book by a critic of the documentary hypothesis

Three Questions of Formative Judaism Jacob Neusner, 2021-10-01 The academic study of Judaism requires a systematic inquiry into the history literature and religion and eventually the theology as revealed in the historical documents themselves Under this premise Three Questions of Formative Judaism encounters the canonical writings of Judaism in the context of their creation at a certain time and place How something is said thus becomes as important as what is said Bringing nearly fifty years of research to bear on these fundamental questions Jacob Neusner challenges his readers to face the difficult often unasked or neglected questions about the nature background and purposes of Rabbinic Judaism and rewards them with an enriched understanding and a stronger foundation for tackling the even more elusive questions concerning the theology of formative Judaism This publication has also been published in paperback please click here for details

The Systemic Analysis of Judaism Jacob Neusner, 1988

The Transformation of Judaism Jacob Neusner, 2011-03-31 Jacob Neusner describes analyzes and interprets the transformation of one system of the Israelite social order by a connected but autonomous successor system He characterizes the successive systems classifying the one as philosophical and the other as religious He explains the categorical account of each and sets forth the outcome of a number of topical studies on the category formations of Rabbinic Judaism with special attention to the social order politics philosophy and economics These systems emerged as 1 autonomous when viewed synchronically 2 connected when seen diachronically and 3 as a continuous construction when seen at the end of their formative age In their successive stages of categorical autonomy connection and finally continuity the three distinct systems may be classified respectively as philosophical religious and theological each one taking over and revising the definitive categories of the former and framing its own fresh generative categories as well The formative history of Judaism is the story of the presentations and re presentations of categorical structures In method it is the exegesis of taxonomy and taxic systems Now after more than two decades Neusner has decided to review the initial statement Since the book summarizes ten years of work from 1980 to 1990 on the Rabbinic category formations of social science politics philosophy and economics in the setting of the law and theology of Rabbinic Judaism from the Mishnah through the Bavli 200 600 C E it seemed well worth the effort to recapitulate the original work The revised introduction explains the omission of theology in his category formation philosophy religion theology Neusner s account of the Bavli produced the decade after this title was completed did not make possible the continuous description of the unfolding of the Rabbinic system The pattern that appealed to Neusner from philosophy to religion to theology has not yet come to a satisfactory account In the twenty years The Didache Aaron Milavec,2003 In this study Aaron Milavec comprehensively examines how the first century pastoral manual known as the Didache enumerated the step by step training of converts for the full active participation in the earliest Jewish Christian communities Milavec shows how the Didache can in turn illuminate our understanding of how these first Christian men and women organized their community life socially religiously and politically in order to safeguard its members from the challenges of the surrounding Roman pagan society of the first century Mediterranean basin He argues not only that the Didache s textual and contextual clues demonstrate the document s organic unity from beginning to end but also that it dates from a period before the gospels were written and had gained acceptance BOOK JACKET Title Summary field provided by Blackwell North America Inc All Rights Reserved The Social Study of Judaism, Vol. I Jacob Neusner,1988 The Religious Study of Judaism Jacob Neusner,1988-12-07 In this volume Dr Neusner explores the history of religious ideas and writings focusing first on the idea of history and second on the conception of a foundation document comprising the Pentateuch and the Mishnah He then moves on to an interpretation of the implications for the history of Judaism of the distinctive and particular character of an important document Sifra a sustained address to the book of Leviticus by sages of the fourth or fifth century BContents Part I The Idea of History in Formative Judaism Part II The Constitution of the Judaism of the Dual Torah Part III Ethics or Ontology in Formative Judaism Part IV From Text to Matrix in the Case of Sifra Part V The University as Locus for Studying the Formative Age of Judaism static structure and system through comparison with Aristotle Although Aristotle s Politics and the Mishnah share a common economic theory based on the fundamental unit of the householder they diverge in their conceptions of political structure and order Aristotle embeds economics within political economy while Neusner argues the Mishnah presents the anomaly of an economics separated from politics Using modern political terms this study explicates the complicated politics developed by the philosopher theologians of the Mishnah It is a first rate contribution to our understanding of the intersection of politics political philosophy and the Mishnaic system
