Localizing Foreign Policy B.

Hocking, 1993-10-15 Accompanying the oft noted globalisation of international relations there is an equally significant trend towards localisation as a range of subnational constituencies and the authorities that represent them respond to externally generated pressures on the one hand and seek to exploit enhanced opportunities to operate in the international arena on the other The book examines these developments in the context of the growing international involvement of the non central governments within federal states Employing a number of case studies it argues that the significance of these developments can best be understood as one facet of an increasingly complex multilayered diplomacy as national policy makers are forced to negotiate simultaneously with domestic and foreign interests in the pursuit of policy objectives

Deferring Peace in

International Statebuilding Pol Bargués-Pedreny, 2018-05-15 This book explores the last 25 years of international peacebuilding and recasts them as a growing crisis of confidence in universal ideas of peacebuilding and self government Since current peacebuilding interventions are abandoning domineering top down and linear methodologies and experimenting with context sensitive self reflexive and locally driven strategies the book makes two suggestions The first is that international policymakers are embracing some of the critiques of liberal peace For more than a decade scholarly critiques have pointed out the need to focus on everyday dynamics and local initiatives and resistances to liberal peace in order to enable hybrid and long term practice based strategies of peacebuilding Now the distance between the policy discourse and critical frameworks has narrowed The second suggestion is that in stepping away from liberal peace a transvaluation of peacebuilding values is occurring Critiques are beginning to accept and valorise that international interventions will continuously fail to produce sensitive results The earlier frustrations with unexpected setbacks errors or contingencies are ebbing away Instead critiques normalise the failure to promote stability and peace This book will be of much interest to students of peacebuilding international intervention conflict resolution international organisations and security studies in general

Colebatch, 2018-12-28 This Handbook covers the accounts by practitioners and observers of the ways in which policy is formed around problems how these problems are recognized and understood and how diverse participants come to be involved in addressing them H K Colebatch and Robert Hoppe draw together a range of original contributions from experts in the field to illuminate the ways in which policies are formed and how they shape the process of governing Iraqi Kurdistan, the PKK and International Relations Hannes Černý, 2017-07-28 Due to its primacy in explaining issues of war and peace in the international arena the discipline of International Relations IR looms large in analyses of and responses to ethnic conflict in academia politics and popular media in particular with respect to contemporary conflicts in the Middle East Grounded in constitutive theory this book challenges how ethnic ethno nationalist conflict is represented in explanatory IR by deconstructing its most prominent state centric models frameworks and analytical concepts As much a critique of contemporary scholarship on Kurdish ethno nationalism as a detailed analysis of the most prominent Kurdish ethno nationalist actors the book provides the first in depth investigation into the relations between the PKK and the main Iraqi Kurdish political parties from the 1980s to the present It situates this inquiry within the wider context of the ambiguous political status of the Kurdistan Region of Iraq its relations with Turkey and the role Kurdish parties and insurgencies play in the war against ISIS in Iraq and Syria Appreciating these complex dynamics and how they are portrayed in Western scholarship is essential for understanding current developments in the Iraqi and Syrian theatres of war and for making sense of discussions about a potential independent Kurdish state to emerge in Iraq Iraqi Kurdistan provides a comprehensive and critical discussion of the state centric and essentialising epistemologies ontologies and methodologies of the three main paradigms of explanatory IR as well as their analytical models and frameworks on ethnic identity and conflict in the Middle East and beyond It will therefore be a valuable resource for anyone studying ethnicity and
