Die

Einführung der Eisentechnologie in Sudkaukasien und Ostanatolien während der Spatbronze- und Fruheisenzeit

Jens Nieling, 2009-05-08 This German doctoral thesis challenges the orthodox view that the South Caucasian culture of the Late Bronze Age played a decisive role in early iron production The region is characterized on the contrary as a traditionally bound aristocratic society with an impressive bronze industry It was instead the underestimated nomad population of South Eastern Turkey that first made use of the new metal and discovered the art of steel making Climatic changes forced a southward migration which not only brought the two cultures into contact but also into conflict with each other However a process of successful acculturation finally resulted in the creation of the Urartian Empire While for some time the neighbouring Assyrian and Neohittite states remained hesitant towards the adoption of advanced iron technology this soon changed when they recognized the opportunity for cheap mass production Text in German with English summary Syunik During the Bronze and Iron Ages Onnik Xnkikyan, 2002-11 In the Field Lauren Elizabeth Talalay, Susan E. Alcock, 2006

Megaliths and Lost Science Learn Alchemical, 2025-08-20 Across windswept plains misty coasts and forgotten valleys stand the megaliths silent monuments of stone that defy time and explanation From the vast circles of Stonehenge and Carnac to the underground chambers of Malta from the spiraled carvings of Newgrange to the shattered blocks of Puma Punku these sites are more than ruins They are enigmas carved in granite whispering of a science we no longer understand For centuries archaeologists explorers and visionaries have asked Who built them and why Were these monuments primitive ritual centers or did they encode astronomical knowledge acoustic harmonics and geometric principles lost to history Why do so many cultures separated by oceans share spirals cup marks and sacred orientations toward the stars Could sound itself have been a forgotten tool shaping stone and altering consciousness In Megaliths and Lost Science the stones are not treated as mute relics but as active archives of ancient memory This book journeys through spirals and symbols echo chambers and alignments myths and suppressed discoveries uncovering how these monuments may have preserved fragments of a forgotten world science Drawing upon archaeology archaeoastronomy mythology and emerging fields such as archaeoacoustics and cymatics it challenges orthodox timelines while grounding its insights in cross cultural comparisons and hard data Both rigorous and provocative this work invites readers into the great debate between mainstream history and alternative visions of the past It explores how colonialism and academic orthodoxy have shaped the way we interpret sacred sites and how new technologies satellite mapping genetic research acoustic testing are reawakening questions long dismissed This is not a book of simple answers but of necessary questions The megaliths endure because they were built on more than stone They were tuned to resonance aligned with the heavens and infused with meaning Their silence is deceptive for those who listen carefully the stones still speak Karacamirli - Tepe 5 Kai Kaniuth,2020-12-31 The 6th volume of the MAAO series details the results of two seasons of excavation carried out on Karacamirli Tepe 5 a small hill near the southern bank of the river Kura in Shamkir District Azerbaijan The site was first occupied in the 5th millennium BC from which several pits containing pottery and obsidian could be studied After the mid 2nd mill BC Tepe 5 saw repeated use as a place of burial Altogether 46 graves starting with the Late Bronze Early Iron Age continuing with interments from Late Antiquity and concluding with the 14th cent AD were documented Their archaeological discussion forms the core of the volume A series of 21 radiocarbon dates an anthropological study including isotope data as well as a comprehensive programme of chemical analysis with portable XRF targeting obsidian ceramic and metal finds contribute to produce one of the most fine grained sets of burial data available from the Southern Caucasus The Archaeology of the Caucasus Antonio Sagona,2018 This conspectus brings together in an accessible and systematic manner a dizzy array of archaeological cultures situated between several worlds Shepherds who Write Marta Bazzanella,Giovanni Kezich,2020 In a number of significant sites of the vast ancient pasturelands of the Old World generations of wandering shepherds have left their testimony in the form of graffiti drafted on the rocks sometimes in their tens of thousands over a period of hundreds of years from ancient to modern times The phenomenon is a conspicuous one and has considerable significance for two reasons On the one hand the study of such pastoral graffiti may convey fresh ethnoarchaeological information as to the circumstances of the pastoral activities and the pastoral economy of the past On the other hand these signs which can be often fully alphabetic as well as drawing upon ancient symbolic repertoires can be of some aid in the interpretation of rock art as a whole genre of human expression and projected back in their significance and their modes of appearance the earliest times of prehistory International Symposium on East Anatolia—South Caucasus Cultures Mehmet Işıklı,Birol Can,Mehmet Işıklı,2015-09-04 The Southern Caucasus is a region of great historical cultural and strategic importance which means that it has become an indispensable research field for most of the social sciences particularly archaeology However despite its rich potential research in the areas of modern day Georgia Armenia Azerbaijan Nakhichevan North western Iran and North eastern Turkey has been inadequate when compared with other important culture basins such as Mesopotamia and the Mediterranean In October 2012 Atatürk University in Erzurum North eastern Anatolia Turkey with the patronage of the Eurasian Silk Road Universities Consortium ESRUC hosted a Symposium of academics from more than 120 science and education institutions around the world to discuss opinions and share information about cultures in this region from its earliest times to the Middle Ages within the scope of Ancient History Archaeology Art History and Ethno archaeology This two volume publication is a compilation of 75 articles which were evaluated and selected by an Academic Committee from contributors who presented their academic papers at the Symposium
