Take Care Warning Signals For Canadas Health System:

About Canada: Health Care, 2nd ed. Pat Armstrong, Hugh Armstrong, 2016-09-01T00:00:00Z Health care is Canada's best loved social program and for good reason. For over forty years Canadians have enjoyed high quality health services based on need rather than on ability to pay. Yet we hear almost daily accounts of problems with the system. We are bombarded with warnings that public health care is unsustainable especially in light of the baby boomer generation reaching retirement age. Such stories can help undermine our support for public care even though they are often based on poor partial or even false information. Our best defence of a public system is knowledge about how it works and how it can be improved in order to keep it. This second edition of About Canada Health Care is an accessible up to date introduction to how the Canadian health care system works how it is changing and what can be done to make it better. Pat and Hugh Armstrong explain a range of complicated and important questions. What do public and private mean as they apply to our current health care system and in proposed reforms. As the boomer generation ages will the growing number of seniors bankrupt Medicare. What do we mean by wait times and are they increasing. Who pays for drugs and how can we ensure Canadians have equitable access to necessary drugs. Can technologies significantly improve care and reduce costs. Health and Canadian Society David Coburn, Carl D'Arcy, George Murray Torrance, 1998-01-01 Health and Canadian Society provides a comprehensive overview of the relationship between health health care and Canadian society. It is a wide ranging volume that moves from personal and micro concerns to a more macro and institutional focus. It includes chapters of a descriptive nature and others with a more explanatory intent. They have been selected from the major journals or have been expressly written for this book. Ninety five percent of the contributions are new to this edition. The chapters and the studies reported on are methodologically diverse ranging from ethnographic studies to statistical analyses of data from large national surveys. Though the chapters are written by anthropologists economists historians political scientists and physicians as well as sociologists they all have a sociological turn. Recognized as the standard textbook on the sociology of health in Canada Health and Canadian Society is an essential reference for sociologists health care providers health administrators and policy planners. Critical to Care Pat Armstrong, Hugh Armstrong, Krista Scott-Dixon, 2008-01-01 Who counts as a health care worker. The question of where we draw the line between health care workers and non health care workers is not merely a matter of academic nicety or a debate without consequences for care. It is a central issue for policy development because the definition often results in a division among workers in ways that undermine care. Critical to Care uses a wide range of evidence to reveal the contributions that those who provide personal care who cook clean keep records and do laundry make to health services. As a result of current reforms these workers are increasingly treated as peripheral even though the research on what determines health demonstrates that their work is essential. The authors stress the invisibility and undervaluing of women's work as well as the importance of context in understanding how this work is defined and treated. Through a gendered analysis Critical to

Care establishes a basis for discussing research policy and other actions in relation to the work of thousands of marginalized women and men every day

Troubling Care Pat Armstrong, Susan Braedley, 2013 How can we plan organize distribute and offer care in ways that treat both those who need it and those who provide it with dignity and respect Using the example of residential services Troubling Care Critical Perspectives on Research and Practices investigates the fractures in our care systems and challenges how caring work is understood in social policy in academic theory and among health care providers In this era defined by government cutbacks and a narrowing sense of collective responsibility long term residential care for the elderly and disabled is being undervalued and undermined A result of a seven year interdisciplinary research project in progress this book draws together the work of fourteen leading health researchers including sociologists medical practitioners social workers policy researchers cultural theorists and historians Using a feminist political economy lens these scholars explore and challenge the theories work organization practices and state society relations that have come to shape long term care Troubling Care offers critical perspectives on the often disquieting arena of care provision and proposes alternatives for thinking about and meeting the needs of some of our most vulnerable citizens in ways that go beyond residential care This book seeks to bridge not only the gaps between disciplines but also those between theory and practice Features takes an interdisciplinary approach making this work appropriate for courses in a variety of disciplines including sociology medicine social work health policy cultural studies and political economy includes the work of fourteen leading health researchers including sociologists medical practitioners social workers policy researchers cultural theorists and historians bridges the gap between theory and practice by incorporating both theoretical research and specific case examples

Exposing Privatization Pat Armstrong, Carol Amaratunga, Jocelyne Bernier, 2001-01-01 This book begins with the international context for health care reform and then moves from coast to coast setting out what is known about the reforms in health care privatization that are underway and about their impact on women

Changing Canada Wallace Clement, Leah F. Vosko, 2003 Changing Canada examines political transformations welfare state restructuring international boundaries and contexts the new urban experience and creative resistance The authors question dominant ways of thinking and promote alternative ways of understanding and explaining Canadian society and politics that encourage progressive social change They examine how the evolution of capitalism is producing new types of transformations and new forms of resistance and show that aspects of the state and the wider society are being contested They also discuss the often paradoxical or contradictory effects of various social forces such as the liberating but also constraining features of new communications technologies new employment norms and new household forms

Women's Organizing and Public Policy in Canada and Sweden Linda Briskin, Mona Eliasson, 1999-10-25 Women's Organizing and Public Policy in Canada and Sweden highlights the impact of women's organizing on the framing and implementing of public policy the reconstituting of discourse and the practices of unions political parties and the state It examines the strategies women have used to organize themselves as a vocal and politicized constituency In so doing it stretches definitions of organizing and of political practice politicizes the social and the private and expands conceptions of agency Comparing Sweden and Canada allows the mechanisms at work in each society to emerge more clearly challenging what is often taken for granted Contributors include Christina Bergqvist Uppsala Sweden Linda Briskin Barbara Cameron York Canada Marianne Carlsson Uppsala Sweden Rebecca Priegert Coulter University of Western Ontario Canada Mona Eliasson Georgina Feldberg York Canada Sue Findlay private scholar Canada Lena Gon s National Institute for Working Life Sweden Wuokko Knocke National Institute for Working Life Sweden Catharina Landstr m Linkoping Sweden Colleen Lundy Carleton Canada Rianne Mahon Carleton Canada Chantal Maill Concordia Canada Roxana Ng Ontario Institute for Studies in Education Canada Becki Ross University of British Columbia Canada Lena W ngnerud G teborg Sweden and Inga Wernersson G teborg Sweden Configuring

Health Advocacy, Inc. Sharon Batt,2017-06-15 Over the past several decades a gradual reduction in state funding has pressured patient groups into forming private sector partnerships raising an important ethical question do these alliances ultimately lead to policies that are counter to the public interest Health activist scholar and cancer survivor Sharon Batt examines the issue by investigating Canada s breast cancer movement from 1990 to 2010 Health Advocacy Inc dissects the relationship between the companies that sell pharmaceuticals and the individuals who use them drawing links between neoliberalism and corporate financing and the ensuing threat to the public health care system Combining archival analysis interviews with advocacy and industry representatives and personal observation Batt argues that the resulting power imbalance continues to challenge the groups ability to put patients interests ahead of those of the funders A movement that once encouraged democratic participation in the development of health policy now eerily echoes the demands of the pharmaceutical industry Batt s thorough account of this shift defines the stakes of activism in public health today

Geographies of Women's Health Nancy Davis Lewis,Isabel Dyck,Sara McLafferty,2012-11-12 This international collection explores the relationships between society place gender and health and how these play out in different parts of the world The chapters work together in examining the complex layering of social economic and political relations that frame women's health. The authors demonstrate that women's health needs to be understood in place if gains are to be made in improving women's health and health care. Caring For/caring about Karen Ruth Grant, 2004-01-01 Caring For Caring About explores the complex nature of caring in Canadian society today by examining current research on women's home care and unpaid caregiving. The Public Shaping of Medical Research Peter Wehling, Willy Viehöver, Sophia Koenen, 2014-11-27 Bringing together an international selection of leading scholars and representatives from patients' organizations, this comprehensive collection explores the interaction between civil society groups and biomedical science, technology development and research politics. This volume is an important reference for academics and researchers with an interest in the sociology of health and illness, science and technology studies, the sociology of knowledge or healthcare management and research, as well as medical researchers and those involved with health-related civil society organizations. Challenging the Public/private Divide Susan B. Boyd, 1997-01-01 Feminist scholars in disciplines ranging from law to geography challenge our traditional notion of a public-private divide in legal and public policy in Canada and internationally. Cleaning Up Dan Zuberi, 2013-09-20 To cut costs and maximize profits, hospitals in the United States and many other countries are outsourcing such tasks as cleaning and food preparation to private contractors. In Cleaning Up, the first book to examine this transformation in the healthcare industry, Dan Zuberi looks at the consequences of outsourcing from two perspectives: its impact on patient safety and its role in increasing socioeconomic inequality. Drawing on years of field research in Vancouver, Canada, as well as data from hospitals in the U.S. and Europe, he argues that outsourcing has been disastrous for the cleanliness of hospitals, leading to an increased risk of hospital-acquired infections, a leading cause of severe illness and death, as well as for the effective delivery of other hospital services and the workers themselves. Zuberi's interviews with the low-wage workers who keep hospitals running uncover claims of exposure to near-constant risk of injury and illness. Many report serious concerns about the quality of the work due to understaffing, high turnover, poor training and experience, inadequate cleaning supplies, and on-the-job injuries. Zuberi also presents policy recommendations for improving patient safety by reducing the risk of hospital-acquired infection and ameliorating the work conditions and quality of life of hospital support workers. He makes the case that hospital outsourcing exemplifies the trend towards low-road service sector jobs that threatens to undermine society's social health as well as the physical health and well-being of patients in health care settings globally. Managing to Nurse Janet Mary Rankin, Marie Louise Campbell, 2006-01-01 How does the contemporary restructuring of health care affect nursing practice? Increasingly since the 1970s and more intensively under recent reforms, Canadian health care is the focus of information-supported, professionally based management. In Managing to Nurse, Janet M. Rankin and Marie L. Campbell probe the operation of this new form of hospital and its effect on management of nurses and nursing. Written from the nurse's perspective, this institutional ethnography discovers a major transformation in the nature of nursing and associated patient care the work is now organized according to an accounting logic that embeds a cost orientation into care related activities Rankin and Campbell illustrate how nurses adapt to this new reality just as they themselves perpetuate it how they learn to recognize their adaptations as professionally correct and as an adequate basis for nursing judgement Although Managing to Nurse may contradict contemporary beliefs about health care reform the insiders account that it provides is undeniable evidence that nurses caring work is being undermined and patient care is being eroded sometimes dangerously by current health care agendas Vision for a Canada Strong and Free Mike Harris, Preston Manning, 2007 Efficiency and Cost Effectiveness of the U.S. Health Care System United States. Congress. House. Committee on Government Operations, 1995 Valuing Care Work Cecilia Benoit, Helga Hallgrimsdottir, 2011-02-12 There are many forms of paid and unpaid labour encompassed in health care systems including home care for the elderly or disabled community health services and the care family members provide for loved ones Valuing Care Work is an international comparative study that examines economic organizations as well as intimate settings to show how personal service work is shaped by broader welfare state developments To trace the relationships between gender labour and equity in health care the essays in this volume analyse the rules and practices that shape care work The contributors highlight how national configurations of the welfare state shape the gendering of paid and unpaid intimate labour in a range of settings and discuss how the policies and practices associated with neoliberalism have focussed on efficiency and accountability to the detriment of other policy agendas including those that might further increase dignity and equity for both recipients and providers of paid and unpaid health care
