The Hunting Grounds Of Social Knowledge:

Settlements, Kinship and Hunting Grounds in Traditional Greenland Robert Petersen, 2003 Knowledge as Social Order Massimo Mazzotti, 2016-04-22 Investigating a theme first pioneered by Barry Barnes in the early 1970s this volume explores the relationship between social order and legitimate knowledge and is intended as a tribute to Barnes seminal role in the development of the discipline of science and technology studies STS The contributors highlight the way in which Barnes work has shaped their way of conceptualizing the basic relation between knowledge and society In doing this they explore the original sociological underpinnings of STS while pointing to the way in which Barnes interdisciplinary work has been developed to tackle current concerns in the field as well as in social theory They also address the concerns of social scientists who are investigating the nature of power and agency and the problem of social order emphasizing the essential role played by scientific knowledge and technological machinery in the construction of social life Contributors to the volume include Martin Kusch Steven Loyal Mark Haugaard David Bloor Trevor Pinch John Dupre Donald MacKenzie Harry Collins Steven Shapin and Karin Knorr Cetina The Social Life of Climate Change Models Kirsten Hastrup, Martin Skrydstrup, 2013 Drawing on a combination of perspectives from diverse fields this volume offers an anthropological study of climate change and the ways in which people attempt to predict its local implications showing how the processes of knowledge making among lay people and experts are not only comparable but also deeply entangled Through analysis of predictive practices in a diversity of regions affected by climate change including coastal India the Cook Islands Tibet and the High Arctic and various domains of scientific expertise and policy making such as ice core drilling flood risk modelling and coastal adaptation the book shows how all attempts at modelling nature's course are deeply social and how current research in climate contributes to a rethinking of nature as a multiplicity of modalities that impact social life Welcome to the Graphic Design Age Kevin Curtis, 2004-11 THE GIFT OF POETRY Kevin Curtis Barr, 2019-11-13 THE GIFT OF POETRY is was written out of my love for writing all sorts of poetry One poem I'm particularly proud of is a poem honoring the Saint Mother Teresa One may find at times the pages within seem to not follow any set course of structure otherwise I also enjoy writing song lyrics and recording new music when time allows Some words from the Author Kevin Curtis Barr Social Capital and Rural Development in the Knowledge Society Hans Westlund, Kiyoshi Kobayashi, 2013-01-01 This book by Westlund and Kobayashi emphasises the fact that the gap between urban and rural areas is no longer relevant today all places and regions are under a strong influence from cities The authors show in a straightforward way that the continuum between more and less urbanized places requires new types of regulations based on innovation and local skills and that rural policies cannot be based on agriculture only but primarily require the mobilization of local social capital links Andr Torre INRA Agroparistech Paris France Rural communities are not all resource dependent and very low density places Not all have people leaving in droves and no newcomers This book's theoretical arguments and case studies from five countries help one understand better the diversity of rural We find population gainers population losers newcomers and long term stayers together in sizable towns Aboriginal communities where out migration is limited The diversity is a key dimension in the analyses of public and private action to build and maintain social capital Roger E Bolton Williams College US This amazingly surprising book takes the popular topic of social capital and provocatively examines the contemporary rural development issue New social capital driven thinking and insights are applied globally from a conceptual frame and locally with examples The way forward for both urban and rural development is achieved when the variables that define social capital are simultaneously balanced around focused development objectives Examples show how a multidimensional view of social capital enables meaningful rural development Roger R Stough George Mason University US Social capital is often considered a key factor for local development This book analyzes the role of social capital for rural areas survival and development in the current age of metropolitan growth an era in which urban is the norm and where rural areas must adapt to this new situation and build innovative urban rural relations The traditional division between rural and urban is no longer valid in the knowledge society Instead of being a homogeneous unit based on primary sector production the countryside in the developed world increasingly consists of areas with very different development paths With examples from Europe Asia and America the book discusses building and renewal of rural social capital from both bottom up and top down perspectives and from the standpoint of business and both the public and private sectors Being the first book to treat social capital and rural development in the age of megacities and the knowledge economy it will be of great benefit to academics interested in social capital research and rural development

Postcolonial Thought and Social Theory Julian Go, 2016-09-23 Social scientists have long resisted the radical ideas known as postcolonial thought while postcolonial scholars have critiqued the social sciences for their Euro centric focus However in Postcolonial Thought and Social Theory Julian Go attempts to reconcile the two seemingly contradictory fields by crafting a postcolonial social science Contrary to claims that social science is incompatible with postcolonial thought this book argues that the two are mutually beneficial drawing upon the works of thinkers such as Franz Fanon Amilcar Cabral Edward Said Homi Bhabha and Gayatri Spivak Go concludes with a call for a third wave of postcolonial thought emerging from social science and surmounting the narrow confines of disciplinary boundaries

Americus Featherman, 1889 Social Learning and Innovation in Contemporary Hunter-Gatherers Hideaki Terashima, Barry S. Hewlett, 2016-10-22 This is the first book to examine social learning and innovation in hunter gatherers from around the world More is known about social learning in chimpanzees and nonhuman primates than is known about social learning in hunter gatherers a way of life that characterized most of human history The book describes diverse patterns of learning and teaching behaviors in contemporary hunter gatherers from the perspectives of cultural anthropology ecological anthropology biological anthropology and developmental psychology The book addresses several theoretical issues including the learning hypothesis which suggests that the fate of Homo sapiens and Neanderthals in the last glacial period might have been due to the differences in learning ability It has been unequivocally claimed that social learning is intrinsically important for human beings however the characteristics of human learning remain under a dense fog despite innumerable studies with children from urban industrial cultures Controversy continues on problems such as do hunter gatherers teach If so what types of teaching occur who does it how often under what contexts and so on The book explores the most basic and intrinsic aspects of social learning as well as the foundation of innovative activities in everyday activities of contemporary hunter gatherer people across the earth The book examines how hunter gatherer core values such as gender and age egalitarianism and extensive sharing of food and childcare are transmitted and acquired by children Chapters are grouped into five sections 1 theoretical perspectives of learning in hunter gatherers 2 modes and processes of social learning in hunter gatherers 3 innovation and cumulative culture 4 play and other cultural contexts of social learning and innovation 5 biological contexts of learning and innovation Ideas and concepts based on the data gathered through an intensive fieldwork by the authors will give much insight into the mechanisms and meanings of learning and education in modern humans

The Social Life of Stories Julie Cruikshank, 2000-08-01 In this theoretically sophisticated study of indigenous oral narratives Julie Cruikshank moves beyond the text to explore the social significance of storytelling Circumpolar Native peoples today experience strikingly different and often competing systems of narrative and knowledge These systems include traditional oral stories the authoritative literate voice of the modern state and the narrative forms used by academic disciplines to represent them to outsiders Pressured by other systems of narrative and truth how do Native peoples use their stories and find them still meaningful in the late twentieth century Why does storytelling continue to thrive What can anthropologists learn from the structure and performance of indigenous narratives to become better academic storytellers themselves Cruikshank addresses these questions by deftly blending the stories gathered from her own fieldwork with interdisciplinary theoretical perspectives on dialogue and storytelling including the insights of Walter Benjamin Mikhail Bakhtin and Harold Innis Her analysis reveals the many ways in which the artistry and structure of storytelling mediate between social action and local knowledge in indigenous northern communities
