The Impact Of Structural Adjustment On The Population Of Africa:

The Impact of Structural Adjustment on the Population of Africa Aderanti Adepoju, 1993      The Impact of Structural Adjustment on the Population of Africa A. Adepoju, 1993      The Impact of Structural Adjustment on the Population of Africa Aderanti Adepoju, 1993 Examines the consequences for the development and utilization of human resources Africa's main asset      The Impact of Structural Adjustment on the Population of Africa Aderanti Adepoju, 1995-10      Globalization and Autocentricity in Africa's Development in the 21st Century Kidane Mengisteab, 1996 African economies are the most dependent and the most marginalised in the global system Prevailing policies to integrate these economies more closely with the global economy are in the view of many misplaced and this work presents a series of alternative strategies that will tap the energies of the African people to develop their own potential and reduce their dependence on World Bank IMF led approaches      An Integrative Rights-based Approach to Human Development in Africa Dejo Olowu, 2009 An integrative rights based approach to human development in Africa by Dejo Olowu 2009 ISBN 978 0 9814124 6 7 Pages x 322 Print version Available Electronic version Free PDF available      Globalization and the Nation State Stephen Kosack, Gustav Ranis, James Vreeland, 2004-08-02 This book brings together an international team of contributors to assess the political economy of the IMF and World Bank programs Contributors include Stephen Coate Stephen Morris Ravi Kanbur and Allen Drazen      Agriculture, Autonomous Development, and Prospects for Industrialization in Africa Emmanuel Ndhlovu, 2025-03-06 The book investigates the intersection of agriculture and development in Africa and how it impacts rural industrialisation prospects It provides a comprehensive view of the position of agriculture in African socio economic activities and the agricultural sector's potential as the source for continental development and industrialisation prospects Significant research has been done on African development with a focus placed on the problematic role played by slavery colonialism and later by incompetent African leaders who failed to steer development of the type that delivers a progressive sustained and sustainable transformation of lives and societies There is limited focus on the possibility of agriculture being the potential basis of African development and the chance for industrialisation This is a matter of concern considering the dominance of agriculture as a livelihood and income source for many people on the continent In contributing to the debate on development in Africa this book aims to show how agriculture can serve as the basis for African development and industrialisation This will be achieved by i providing a detailed historical description of the position of agriculture in African socio economic activities ii outlining the trajectory of African development with a focus on agriculture innovation and mechanisation iii identifying challenges to the development of African agriculture iv exploring the opportunities for agricultural development in Africa and v providing practical and policy recommendations to improve African agriculture and make it the engine for development and industrialisation Utilising a multidisciplinary approach which combines political economy social policy financial inclusion and empowerment approaches the book also shows how engagement of youth and women digitalisation and the provision of support by public and private actors can jump start agriculture as the engine of African development and industrialisation Taken together with this conscious effort to promote a multi disciplinary discussion the book is valuable reading for students policymakers and activists interested in emerging new directions in African development thinking and research Accountability, Transparency and Democracy in the Functioning of Bretton Woods Institutions Elena Sciso,2017-07-04 This book investigates the strengths and weaknesses in terms of transparency and compliance with the democratic principle of Bretton Woods Institutions considering the most important innovations from the original framework achieved through the introduction of independent accountability and complaint mechanisms the Inspection Panel and Independent Evaluation Office but also due to relevant reforms in the internal governance of the International Monetary Fund and the new financial assistance tools One of its main focuses is on evaluating the socio economic impact of conditionality in the countries requiring financial assistance acknowledging the need to strengthen social protection policies in the adjustment programs In addition emphasis is given to the effects of the constitutionalization of the Washington Consensus in the European Union with the establishment of the so called Berlin Brussels Frankfurt Consensus Migration in the Service of African Development John O. Oucho,2012-12-19 Fifteen chapters are included here in this compendium in honour of the Nigerian migration scholar Professor Aderanti Adepoju Though the authors come from diverse disciplinary backgrounds geography demography sociology and law they all work within the fields of internal and international migration in Africa Chapters on Uganda Kenya Botswana Nigeria and Mali are devoted to aspects of internal migration while those on African emigration to Mexico and migration between Burkina Faso and Cote d'Ivoire address various aspects of international migration Migration issues in relation to women students and climate change are also discussed The Migration Experience in Africa Jonathan Baker,Tade Akin Aina,1995 South Africa by Christian M Rogerson Handbook of Human Rights Thomas Cushman,2012-02-20 The Handbook maps out the field of human rights for the humanities and social sciences It provides a solid foundation for the reader who wants to learn the basic parameters of the field but also to promote new thinking and frameworks for the future study of human rights in the twenty first century Jerry John Rawlings Felix Kumah-Abiwu,Sabella Ogbobode Abidde,2022-11-25 This edited volume examines the leadership and legacy of Ghana's Jerry John Rawlings within the broader context of Africa's leadership and democratic governance The central purpose of the book is threefold First it examines the role and place of good and effective political leadership in the development of Africa Second it situates Jerry Rawlings political style and legacy in the annals of democratic governance in post independence Africa Finally the book adds to the knowledge and understanding of former President Rawlings as one of Africa's preeminent and transformational political leaders Taking an interdisciplinary and Pan African approach this volume will be of great interest to scholars policymakers and students of African politics African studies governance political leadership democracy development studies and political economy Africa in the

Twenty-First Century Gashawbeza Bekele, Adebayo Oyebo, 2018-12-04 This book interrogates contemporary debates controversies achievements challenges and future prospects of African development and democratization from varied theoretical perspectives The diverse issues and sub themes addressed in this volume include tenets of democracy such as democratization democratic institutions good governance term limits minority rights and women s political participation and dynamics of development such as economic growth liberalization development strategies and models Millennium Development Goals uneven regional development sustainable development challenges transport development and management and health and development Featuring established and emerging scholars this book is a vital resource for scholars policy makers and students interested in African politics and development

African Families in the Twenty-first Century Aderanti Adepoju, 2005 African Families in the Twenty First Century explores the idea that the family is the basic unit of society and an enduring multifunctional institution in Africa The functions and structures of African families as well as the multiple roles played by Africa s women are undergoing structural changes The ways in which education employment and current economic conditions reshape these complex roles are immense The challenges facing African families and their members such as globalization war poverty economic restructuring reproductive health HIV AIDS harmful traditional practices aging and care and support of the elderly have magnified due to a series of economic social political religious ecological and other related factors Author Aderanti Adepoju explores the vulnerability and resilience of African families in the face of these crises and challenges He also looks at the opportunities facing African families in the new millennium Because of the importance of African families to the development process African Families in the Twenty First Century is essential reading for planners policy makers activists academics and students

Movements, Borders, and Identities in Africa Toyin Falola, Aribidesi Adisa Usman, 2009 Migration has become a continuous phenomenon in the history of human societies Migration is synonymous with the history of Africa itself The migration of individuals and groups over time is associated with the emergence of cultures and of civilizations throughout the world This book establishes the centrality of migrations and movements of people in the historical evolution of African peoples and societies By making use of different sources oral archaeological and written and focusing on various subjects and geographical areas the book shows that migration was a multifaceted phenomenon which varied in nature and character over time and in different places Using carefully selected case studies drawn from across the continent the book provides a broad but insightful overview of the subject of migrations and the varying impact of slavery commerce gender religion colonialism poverty and development on the movements of people and ideas and on the development of states and societies on the continent most especially in the last two centuries The chapters are based on original research and recent thinking on migrations in Africa and their changing forms and dynamics since the pre colonial period The various topics addressed include the causes and consequences of migration population movements displacements migration experiences settlement patterns and strategies labor mobility immigrant societies identity and culture contact as well as conceptual and methodological aspects of research on migration The contributors represent scholars from diverse fields with extensive teaching and research experience Thus the book provides a broad but insightful overview of the subject of migrations from Preface and Introduction

Invisible Crises George Gerbner, 2018-10-08 According to the contributors to this volume the communications media deliberately blank out critical conditions and developments whose imagery would pose unacceptable challenges to the dominant structures of culture power Such invisible crises include the suppression of information about the dehumanization and stigmatization of groups of people the drift toward ecological suicide the neglect of vital institutions such as public education and the arts the way in which television corrupts the electoral process and the promotion of practices which drug poison and kill The book asks why the media are in the view of contributors withholding vital information from the public and focuses on the increasing concentration of culture power that it is argued keeps these truths from public view

Preparing Africa for the Twenty-First Century John Mukum Mbaku, 2018-12-20 First published in 1999 this volume is written by seasoned African scholars and is intended to make a significant contribution to the debate on peaceful coexistence and sustainable development in the continent The book contains a very refreshing rigorous informative and multidisciplinary analysis of the transition in Africa and provides practical and effective policy options for Africans It breaks new ground in that it emphasizes the importance of institutions to economic growth and development in Africa As such it differs significantly from previous efforts which have tended to blame Africa's underdevelopment on incompetent ill informed and poorly educated leadership While agreeing that the shortage of competent and skilled technocrats has been a significant problem for many African countries during the last four decades the contributors argue that the most critical determinant of poverty and deprivation in the continent has been the absence of institutional arrangements that enhance the creation of wealth and allow ethnic and other social cleavages to live together peacefully Thus as Africans prepare their societies for the new century the first line of business should be state reconstruction a task that was supposed to have been undertaken shortly after independence but was never accomplished The main purpose of such an exercise is for each African country to design and adopt institutional arrangements that enhance peaceful coexistence of groups the creation of wealth and sustainable development

International Migration Douglas S. Massey, J. Edward Taylor, 2004-03-25 International Migration Prospects and Policies offers a comprehensive up to date survey of global patterns of international migration and the policies employed to manage the flows It shows that international migration is not rooted in poverty or rapid population growth but in the expansion and consolidation of global markets As nations are structurally transformed by their incorporation into global markets people are displaced from traditional livelihoods and become international migrants In seeking to work abroad they do not necessarily move to the closest or richest destination but to places already connected to their countries of origin socially economically and politically When they move migrants rely heavily on social networks created by earlier waves of immigrants and in recent years professional migration brokers have become increasingly common. Developing countries generally benefit from international migration because migrant savings and remittances provide foreign earnings to finance balance of payments deficits and make productive investments. Some developing nations have gone so far as to establish programs or ministries dedicated to the export of workers. Developed nations in contrast focus more on the social and economic costs of immigrants and seek to reduce their numbers, regulate their characteristics and limit their access to social services. Over time, receiving nations have gravitated toward a similar set of restrictive policies, yielding undocumented migration as a worldwide phenomenon. Globalization also creates infrastructures of transportation, communication and social networks to put developed societies within reach. In the latter, ageing populations and segmenting markets create a persistent demand for immigrant workers. All these trends are likely to intensify in the coming years to make immigration policy a key political issue in the twenty-first century.

Economic Crisis in Africa Magnus Blomström, Mats Lundahl, 2002-01-22. While the pitiful images of famine victims generally emanate from the very poorest countries in Sub-Saharan Africa, the entire region faces an intense economic crisis. Why is this area in a state of near permanent crisis and perhaps more importantly, what can be done about it? In Economic Crisis in Africa, the authors use country studies to examine how this situation has come about. The book is divided into four parts. Part I presents an overall perspective of the African Crisis and its management. Part II addresses the problems of the external sector. Part III discusses the crises and structural adjustment from a microperspective and finally Part IV examines changes in economic systems which took place during the 1980s. At a time when famine again threatens the area, this work offers a valuable insight into a highly complex and critical situation.
