The Magic Chanter Sheila Douglas, 1997      Coral Gardens and Their Magic - A Study of the Methods of Tilling the Soil and of Agricultural Rites in the Trobriand Islands - Vol II: The Language O Bronislaw, 2011-03-24 This is volume II of Coral Gardens and Their Magic dealing with Kilivila terms related to gardening and agriculture Kilivila is the language spoken on the Trobriand islands a group of islands off the east coast of New Guinea This volume will appeal to those with an interest in anthropology and Trobriand culture and it would make for a fantastic addition to collections of allied literature Contents include Language as Tool Document and Cultural Reality The Translation of Untranslatable words The Context of Words and the Context of Facts The Pragmatic Setting of Utterances Meaning as Function of Words The Sources of Meaning in the Speech of Infants Gaps Gluts and Vagaries of a Native Terminology etc Many vintage books such as this are increasingly scarce and expensive It is with this in mind that we are republishing this volume now in an affordable modern high quality edition complete with a specially commissioned new biography of the author      Melville's Short Fiction, 1853-1856 William B. Dillingham, 2008 This study treats comprehensively the sixteen short works of fiction that Herman Melville wrote between 1853 and 1856 most of which were published in Harper's and Putnam's magazines Concentrating on the writer's two basic motivations for writing as he did in these stories Dillingham argues that Melville created a surface of almost inane congeniality in many of the works an illusion of vapidness that camouflages a profundity often missed by his readers He sought to hide disturbing themes because the magazines for which he was writing would almost certainly have rejected his attempts to be more direct Dillingham's method is not however confined to a reading of the texts Melville's stories contain so many allusions to the contemporary scene that they constitute in themselves a cultural study An important contribution of Melville's Short Fiction is its discussion of these allusions Finally Dillingham examines the relationship between the short fiction and Melville's own life Much of the writer's frustration and struggle is concealed in these early works Melville's friendship with Hawthorne for example an intense and yet in some ways disappointing relationship for both men is explored as an important influence on several of the stories      Old and New World Highland Bagpiping John Graham Gibson, 2002 Old and New World Highland Bagpiping provides a comprehensive biographical and genealogical account of pipers and piping in highland Scotland and Gaelic Cape Breton The work is the result of over thirty years of oral fieldwork among the last Gaels in Cape Breton for whom piping fitted unself consciously into community life as well as an exhaustive synthesis of Scottish archival and secondary sources Reflecting the invaluable memories of now deceased new world Gaelic lore bearers John Gibson shows that traditional community piping in both the old and new world G ihealtachlan was and for a long time remained the same exposing the distortions introduced by the tendency to interpret the written record from the perspective of modern post eighteenth century bagpiping Following up the argument in his previous book Traditional Gaelic Bagpiping 1745-1945 Gibson traces the shift from tradition to modernism in the old world through detailed genealogies focusing on how the social function of the Scottish piper changed and step dance piping progressively disappeared Old and New World Highland Bagpiping will stir controversy and debate in the piping world while providing reminders of the value of oral history and the importance of describing cultural phenomena with great care and detail
