Ideology and Empire in Eighteenth-Century India Robert Travers, 2007-04-19 Robert Travers analysis of British conquests in late eighteenth century India shows how new ideas were formulated about the construction of empire After the British East India Company conquered the vast province of Bengal Britons confronted the apparent anomaly of a European trading company acting as an Indian ruler Responding to a prolonged crisis of imperial legitimacy British officials in Bengal tried to build their authority on the basis of an ancient constitution supposedly discovered among the remnants of the declining Mughal Empire In the search for an indigenous constitution British political concepts were redeployed and redefined on the Indian frontier of empire while stereotypes about oriental despotism were challenged by the encounter with sophisticated Indian state forms This highly original book uncovers a forgotten style of imperial state building based on constitutional restoration and in the process opens up new points of connection between British imperial and South Asian Europe and the World, 1650-1830 Professor Jeremy Black, Jeremy Black, 2013-10-08 Europe and the World history 1650 1830 is an important thematic study of the first age of globalisation It surveys the interaction of Europe Europe s growing colonies and other major global powers such as the Ottoman Empire China India and Japan Focusing on Europe s impact on the world Jeremy Black analyses European attitudes exploration trade and acquisition of knowledge The Making of Britain Lesley M. H. Halsey, 2004-03-18 This is the first ever critical history of sociology in Britain written by one of the world's leading scholars in the field Renowned British sociologist A H Halsey presents a vivid and authoritative picture of the neglect expansion fragmentation and explosion of the discipline during the past century He is well equipped to write the story having lived through most of it and having taught and researched in Britain the USA and Europe The story begins with LT Hobhouse's election to the first chair in sociology in London in 1907 but traces earlier origins of the discipline to Scotland and the English provinces There is a lively account of the nineteenth century battles between literature and science for the possession of the third culture of social studies setting the context for a narrative history of rapid expansion in the second half of the twentieth century LSE had a virtual monopoly before World War II The educational establishment of Oxford and Cambridge opposed its introduction into the undergraduate curriculum Only the expansion of sociology to the Scottish Welsh provincial and new universities after the Robbins Report of 1963 brought reluctant acceptance of the subject to Oxford and Cambridge The student troubles of 1968 are then described and the subsequent doubts confrontations and cuts of the 1970s and 80s Then paradoxically by a Conservative Government there was a new university expansion incorporating polytechnics and other colleges with a consequent doubling of both staff and students in the 1990s Yet the end of the century left sociology riven by intellectual conflict It had survived the Marxist subversions of the 70s and the feminist invasion Yet the renewed challenges of various forms of relativism especially enthno methodology and post modernism still threatened and at root the war was as it began between a scientific quantifying and explanatory subject and a literary interpretative set of cultural studies Britain in the Hanoverian Age, 1714-1837 Gerald Newman, Leslie Ellen Brown, 1997 In 1714 king George
