Hitchens,2021-06-22 A love triangle shapes this intricate murder mystery from the popular twentieth century author of the Rachel Murdock series When a policeman shows up at her door one morning Doris Chenoweth is sure her husband Sargent is home but she s wrong He s been found dead in his car at the edge of a reservoir With no one else to turn to Doris calls her elderly uncle Chuck knowing he has no real reason to help her since they've fallen out of touch. But to Doris's relief, Chuck comes to her aid armed with his law degree. Acting as her attorney, he delves into her husband's affairs, business, and romantic. The revelations come fast and furiously, pointing to infidelity, shady stock investments, and a betrayal of the worst kind. And when Chuck realizes Doris has secrets of her own, ones that could land her in jail, he must determine which is a greater motive for murder: love or money. Praise for Dolores Hitchens' High grade suspense. San Francisco Chronicle on Stairway to an Empty Room: Terror Lurks in Darkness. Dolores Hitchens wrote crime novels that were both tough and compassionate, with a sharp eye for the emotional scars that violence leaves. Mystery Tribune: Almost unbearable suspense. Holds the reader to the last punctuation mark. Greensboro News Record on The Grudge: The Man Who Sleeps in My Office Jason

Sommer, 2004-04-20 With grace and style, Jason Sommer considers how to live in the wake of history among those who are indelibly marked by it. On the surface, a book of poems composed in the shadow of the Holocaust. The Man Who Sleeps in My Office offers more than a poetic chronicle of suffering and loss. Instead, Sommer, the son of a survivor, has discovered a delicate balance that allows him to be in and of history without succumbing to it. In these works, both the seen and the unseen, the failed or rejected vision alter the seer as the limit of one thing becomes the verge of something else. Whether about the Holocaust, the dog he'll never own, or love between a husband and wife or parent and child, these poems savor the mysterious instant when alternatives of vision unfold. While these moments may also conjure loss, the losses are made good as when in Legion someone forgets why he has walked into a room but salvages from the lapse not the purpose of the errand but a sense of the ultimate worth of a life. These finely crafted narrative poems tell the story of these unanticipated perceptions when the ordinary opens to the very human story of failed understanding and quiet epiphany. The Man in the Net Patrick

Quentin, 2022-01-25 A drastic domestic mystery story verging on nightmare from the Edgar Award winning author of the Peter Duluth series. Tatler: Struggling artist John Hamilton is a man living a lie. Since moving to the small New England town of Stoneville to pursue painting, he's been desperately trying to cope with his wife's alcoholism. Linda has become an expert at hiding it from her wealthy circle of friends and at keeping John from exposing her. Though their marriage has devolved into a never-ending cycle of deception and denial, but when John is offered his old job back in New York City at twice the pay, things come to a head. Linda wants nothing more than to be back in the city among her old friends living the high life, only John and his artistic ambitions stand in her way. When John comes back from Manhattan, turning down the job, he finds his house in utter disarray and Linda nowhere to be found. In her wake, she has made sure that suspicions immediately fall on John. And as the villagers turn against him and evidence points to murder, John must delve into the darkness of his own wife's twisted mind to uncover the truth. After all, no one knows her better than him. For lovers of anxiety crime fiction, The Man in the Net certainly fills the bill. At the same time, there is a neat central crime puzzle to solve and some excellent acerbic writing and character portraits. The Passing Tramp: The basis for the 1959 movie starring Alan Ladd.
