Japanese American community formation and contestation before during and after World War II A varied collection of scholarly articles and interviews Manzanar Mosaic engages diverse voices and considers multiple perspectives to illuminate aspects of the Japanese American community the ethnic press the Manzanar concentration camp and the movement for redress and reparations The Flowers of Edo Michael Dana Kennedy, 2012-05-08 In the climactic closing months of World War II Allied Intelligence officers are summoned to the Malacañan Palace in Manila to be briefed by General MacArthur's Intelligence Staff on the optimal conclusion to the conflict in the Pacific Theater Intelligence collected at the time concluded that the Americans had only three options to effectively force the Imperial Japanese Military into surrender encirclement blockade and bombardment isolating Japan from its forces in China Korea and Formosa or engaging Japan through a full scale amphibious invasion In the debut novel by Michael Dana Kennedy Japanese American Lt Ken Kobayashi must straddle a delicate line between duty to country and honor to his family as he is assigned by General MacArthur to infiltrate the Imperial Japanese Army in the lead up to an invasion of the Japanese archipelago From the deck of the USS Yorktown to the halls of the Imperial Ministry of War in Ichigaya in Tokyo The Flowers of Edo reveals the intricacies of the military machine and the human and cultural price that was paid in the bombings on Japan through a perspective never before seen in fiction Meticulously researched and endorsed by military insiders and historians from both sides of the Pacific Lt Kobayashi's tale of espionage and romance will shed new light on what might have happened Critical Public Archaeology Camille Westmont, 2022-09-13 Critical approaches to public archaeology have been in use since the 1980s however only recently have archaeologists begun using critical theory in conjunction with public archaeology to challenge dominant narratives of the past This volume brings together current work on the theory and practice of critical public archaeology from Europe and the United States to illustrate the ways that implementing critical approaches can introduce new understandings of the past and reveal new insights on the present Contributors to this volume explore public perceptions of museum interpretations as well as public archaeology projects related to changing perceptions of immigration the working classes and race Beneath Heavy Pines in World War II Louisiana Hayley Johnson, Sarah Simms, 2023-06-21 December 7 1941 changed the lives of thousands of Japanese Americans who became enemy in the eyes of the United States government within hours With Pearl Harbor still smoldering these men would be arrested and put into the enemy alien internment system As the study of internment has steadily grown the information about the confinement sites and ability to piece together the experiences of the men within has remained a challenging task Camp Livingston famous as a site for the Louisiana Maneuvers holds a darker and less well known history From 1942 1943 over 1 000 men of Japanese ancestry were held in this internment camp in the pine forests of central Louisiana The authors approach this camp's history via the experiences and linkages to and through two families the Miyamotos and Koharas who are the beating heart at the center of this saga Through them the authors have laid out a historical counter narrative that is part biography and part critical exploration of a forgotten chapter of American history This manuscript is the first of its kind to focus primarily on exploring Camp Livingston arguably one of the lesser known enemy alien internment camps in depth including its layout operations and the daily life and experiences of the internees within

Architecture on the Borderline Anoma Pieris,2019-06-25 Architecture on the Borderline interrogates space and territory in a turbulent present where nation state borders are porous to a few but impermeable to many It asks how these uneven and conflicted social realities are embodied in the physical and material conditions imagined produced or experienced through architecture and urbanism Drawing on historical global examples this rich collection of essays illustrates how empires nations and cities expand their frontiers and contest boundaries but equally how borderline identities of people and places influence or expose these processes Empirical chapters covering Central Asia the Asia Pacific region the American continent Europe and the Middle East offer multiple critical insights into the ways in which our spatial imagination is contingent on border thinking on the ways of being and navigating frontiers boundaries and margins the three themes used to organise their content The underlying premise of the book is that sensitisation to border conditions can alter our understanding of the static physical spaces that service political or cultural ideologies and that the view from the periphery opens up new ways of understanding sovereignty In exploring these various spaces and their transformative subjectivities this book also reveals the unrelenting precarity of contesting and living on the margins and related spaces and discourses that are neglected or suppressed
