pure innocent and idyllic state the opposite of adulthood to its expression today as a mere variation of adulthood complete with characteristics of sophistication temptation and corruption Kapur argues that this change in definition is not a media effect but rather a structural feature of a deeply consumer driven society Providing a new and timely perspective on the current widespread alarm over the loss of childhood Coining for Capital concludes that our present moment is in fact one of hope and despair As children are fortunately shedding false definitions of proscribed innocence both in film and in life they must now also learn to navigate a deeply inequitable antagonistic and consumer driven society of which they are both a part and a target
