The Making Of A New Europe:

The Making of the New Europe Peter Ludlow, 2004 The European Councils in Brussels and Copenhagen in the second half of 2002 culminated in the decision to admit ten new members to the European Union from Central and Eastern Europe and the Mediterranean in May 2004 The story involves a large cast of actors from inside and outside the Union The central players are however the Danish Presidency the Commission and the heads of state or government in the member states The issues at stake included money the future of the Common Agricultural Policy Europe's Security and Defence Policy on the eve of the Iraq war and by no means least a growing struggle for power in the Union amongst the larger member states and between the small and the large The Making of a New Europe Hugh Seton-Watson, Christopher Seton-Watson, 1981

Making the New Europe M. L. Smith, Peter M.R. Stirk, 2016-10-06 This volume evaluates the notion of European Unity in a period when European identity was subjected to the destructive consequences of Nazi and Fascist domination of much of the Continent By presenting the competing visions of transformation and reconstruction played out during the war years the book aims to provide broader based and more complex insights into forces that shaped the post war period than those in conventional accounts that locate the thinking about European unity only in the years after 1945 New Europe Donald McNeill, 2014-05-12 New Europe Imagined Spaces traces the radical transformation of European places and spaces over the last two decades Instead of the familiar schoolbook map of a Europe of nation states the book unpacks the differing imaginations of European identity in recent years Taking as its central problem the fluid nature of cultural and political identity it moves firmly away from and calls into question the perspective of the nation state as the primary source of imagined identity for Europeans The book contributes to key debates such as the emerging Europe of the Regions and the return of the city state examines the rebranding of the nation state and explores the impact of Europeanisation on existing place identity Emphasising mobility and movement the chapters explore borderlands and travel and also include a detailed discussion of the everyday life of Europeans Throughout iconic images of contemporary Europe are invoked Eurodisney the Reichstag Barcelona's Ramblas and the Bilbao Guggenheim and the way in which mundane artefacts and practices such as football walking cars food passports and the Euro help construct identity is considered New Europe Imagined Spaces adopts a multidisciplinary approach to studying Europe providing students with an exploration of contemporary European space and place identity Public Opinion and the Making of Foreign Policy in the 'New Europe' Nathaniel Copsey, 2016-04-15 By drawing a new boundary between the EU and its eastern neighbours the European Union has since 1989 created a frontier that has been popularly described in the frontier states as the new Berlin Wall This book is the first comparative study of the impact of public opinion on the making of foreign policy in two Eastern European states on either side of the divide Poland and Ukraine Focusing on the vocal informed segment of public opinion and drawing on results of both opinion polls and a series of innovative focus groups gathered since the Orange Revolution Nathaniel Copsey unravels the mystery of how this crucial segment of the public impacts on foreign policy makers in both states He also takes a closer look at the business community and the importance of economic factors in forming public opinion The book presents a fresh approach to our understanding of how the public's view of the past influences contemporary politics A New Europe for the Old? Stephen Richards Graubard, Since 1989 it has been possible to review what has been published both at home abroad on the communist states of Central Eastern Europe no less importantly on the Soviet Union itself from a new perspective Few have chosen to engage in this Herculean task whether out of a residual civility in not wishing to mock certain aging scholars whose research would appear curiously dated or out of a sense of fatigue with the whole subject of casting aspersions on mistaken views A New Europe for the Old asks whether the master narratives that circulated so widely in the West in the half century since 1945 remain valid The editor's volume raises pertinent questions regarding the current state of the European world as it has evolved since 1989 He includes contributions from important scholars around the world A New Europe for the Old provides greater sympathy for the complexity of societies argues for greater tolerance of those that are small that do not cast a long shadow in the world today In the twenty first as in the twentieth century they may be engines of change both as a result of the disorder that they produce as well as the ways in which their values however seemingly antiquated survive prosper not only in their native lands This volume will intrigue historians European studies scholars alike The Politics of Multiculturalism in the New Europe Tariq Modood, Pnina Werbner, 1997-08 On multiculturalism The Politics of the New Europe Ian Budge, Kenneth Newton, 2014-01-21 A pioneering textbook which explains the dynamics of politics across Europe in the post Cold war era Comparing democratisation transition to a market economy and increasing economic and political integration in the countries of central and eastern Europe with experiences in Scandinavia and southern and western Europe the book provides a wealth of information and analysis on the state of Europe at the end of a momentous century of European and World history New York and the New Europe, 1994 Provides information on the implications of the New Europe and the opportunities it presents Addresses the issues most relevant to small and medium sized companies seeking to enter European markets or expand sales there Discusses opportunities in 3 industries medical instruments electronic components and business services Applicable to all states and localities Charts tables and maps Building Civil Society and Democracy in New Europe Sven Eliaeson, 2009-03-26 The European enlargement process culminating in 2004 was as a follow up to die Wende and the implosion of the Russian empire an event of the same magnitude as 1815 and 1919 Like 1918 19 it was an exit into history a momentous event in post Westphalian Europe Even if acceptance of ten new countries was premature it was appropriate to the moment history provided The presence of the New kids on the block meant both problems and prospects The end of the cold war meant the fall of the iron curtain but a mental remnant of the curtain remains in terms of attitudes regarding civility corruption and transparency and expectations for democratic politics Several of the new countries are late children of 1848 For them entering NATO was more important than joining the EU and also preceded EU membership Poland is bigger than the other 2004 countries together and has a heavy historical legacy It is as Germany used to be imprinted by its special path between East and West and fear of being encircled by enemies Although the Building of Civil Society and Democracy in countries in transformation can draw on experiences from the countries already within the EU there is no primrose path for EU integration It is moreover an irony that the new member states as a result of the expectations for post Communist politics build institutions of a kind that are no longer sufficiently efficient for old Europe The new countries became a full scale experiment in rule by experts now by neo liberals instead of Communists A common European public sphere and civil society might emerge but its form remains visible only at the horizon The New Europe, 1920

A New Narrative for a New Europe Daniel Innerarity, Jonathan White, Cristina Astier, Ander Errasti, 2018-10-31 According to the European Commission Europe is facing a transversal crisis that obliges the rethinking and redefinition of its narrative As a result of the economic crisis that has affected Europe during the past years Europe has in turn faced a structural crisis that forces the reconsideration of its own existence The foundation of the European project the promises of Democracy and Human Dignity need to be assessed The internal crisis and global challenges require a paradigm shift to establish a new foundation upon which to keep those promises alive This crisis is multidimensional environmental cultural political social economic etc and the European Union should tackle it as such The book aims at contributing to that debate by offering a new conceptual approach to the core ideas of European integration process sovereignty diversity common challenges etc By doing so the edited volume settles the ground for some institutional and legal transformations that may reflect this new narrative for a new Europe Searching for Security in a New Europe

Gerald J. Protheroe, 2004-03-01 Drawing on an array of archival material this study sheds light on Sir George Russell Clerk an important yet forgotten figure in British and European diplomatic history During the First World War Clerk was a senior Foreign Office official strongly sympathetic to the cause of the oppressed nationalities of the Austro Hungarian Empire This biographical study focuses on the most significant part of Clerk's career his role as a nation builder in post war Europe until his eventual downfall at the hands of Antony Eden and retirement in 1937 This is an excellent account of the thoughts and deeds of a remarkable man in British History The New European Union and Its Global Strategy Valentin

Naumescu, 2019-10-17 In a relatively short period of time the European Project has faced an incredibly diverse spectrum of crises and challenges From the Eurozone crisis to the sovereign debt crisis and from the migration crisis to Brexit the European Union has found itself confronted with unprecedented internal and external threats and pressures The Global Strategy of 2016 and the Permanent Structured Cooperation PESCO in the field of defence of 2017 are just two of the new strategies and policies to which it has turned Whether the Franco German engine will succeed in surpassing this critical moment and trigger a deep reform of the European Union remains to be seen Raising its level of strategic ambition the European Union projects itself as a global actor in the system of international relations reshaping its ties with the United States China and Russia However European security along with the topics of European politics and society remain subjects of intense debate This volume offers a number of possible answers to various questions regarding the future of the European Union and its relationships with the rest of the world Based on a variety of perspectives from international relations European studies political science economics and cultural studies the contributions here address the conundrum of the EU's transformations

The New European Community Robert O Keohane, 2018-03-09 The New European Community is the first systematic book length discussion of the major political institutions of the European Community EC after the transformation of the 1987 Single European Act itself a surprise and a mystery whose effects are unraveled here Professors Keohane and Hoffmann open the volume by placing the evolution of the new European Community into broad theoretical perspective Their expert contributors including highly regarded international scholars a judge of the European Court of Justice and a long term British politician present engaging overviews of the process at work in major EC events and institutions The centerpiece of the volume Peter Ludlow's chapter on the European Commission lays out all of the systems and actors in the emerging EC and shows their direct connection with problems of Community development and integration Filled with examples illustrations anecdotes and valuable data The New European Community will be indispensable for all students and scholars of international relations and European studies as well as for those in business and government who want to understand the European Community before and beyond 1992

Europeanization of Environmental Policy in the New Europe Mats Braun, 2016-04-22 Prior to the European Union EU 2004 2007 enlargement there were several predictions that this event would hamper progressive decision making within the EU on environmental policy It was believed that the new member states had adopted EU rules as a consequence of the EU's conditionality and consequently they would rather slow down the reform speed in the field after accession In this book Mats Braun offers an up to date account of how post communist member states have handled policy initiatives in the field of environmental policy after accession Using detailed case studies of how Bulgaria the Czech Republic Poland and Romania dealt with two different EU policy initiatives REACH and the Climate Energy Package he explores whether social norms and the process of socialization can help us understand why the track record of new member states in the area of environmental policy is more varied than was originally envisaged prior to enlargement

Negotiating Diplomacy in the New Europe Stefanos Katsikas, 2011-10-30 Bulgaria has faced previously unimaginable pressures over the last two decades as it struggles to adapt to a post Communist landscape and to reform both state and society in the wake of the fall of the Soviet Union while facing the challenge of increased efforts by NATO and the EU to expand into this region In Negotiating Diplomacy in the New Europe Stefanos Katsikas sheds new light on the mechanisms and factors which have influenced the making and shaping of Bulgarian foreign policy examining the extent to which both domestic factors and the international environment have affected its trajectory Following the promulgation of Gorbachev's now famous policies of glasnost and perestroika and the fall from power of the Bulgarian Communist Party led at the time by Todor Zhivkov many have directly attributed Bulgaria's changes in foreign policy to the processes of democratization witnessed throughout Eastern Europe. However, although this was to some extent the case, the commonalities shared with the country's foreign policy during the Cold War era leave in question the extent to which the effects of democratization alone suffice to explain Sofia's post-communist diplomatic and strategic policies. By analysing the influencing factors of Bulgaria's foreign policy since 1989, Katsikas considers factors such as domestic policies as well as the effects of EU and NATO efforts to expand their influence and membership. Rich in primary sources including personal interviews with key protagonists who have dominated foreign policy making in both communist and post-communist Bulgaria, Negotiating Diplomacy in the New Europe examines the shift of foreign relations not only within the context of post-Cold War democratization but also the country's integration into wider Euro-Atlantic frameworks. It thus holds invaluable analysis for researchers of Europe's post-communist international relations as well as those interested in the processes of democratization and those of foreign policy formation. NATO in the "New Europe" Alexandra Gheciu, 2005-08-17 In recent years the question of the post-Cold War NATO, particularly in relation to the former communist countries of Europe, has been at the heart of a series of international reform debates. NATO in the New Europe contributes to these debates by arguing that, contrary to conventional assumptions about the role of international security organizations, NATO has been systematically involved in the process of building liberal democracy in the former communist countries of Central and Eastern Europe. The book also seeks to contribute to the development of an international political sociology of socialization. It draws on arguments developed by political theorists, sociologists and social psychologists to examine the dynamics and implications of socialization practices conducted by an international institution. Immigration and Politics in the New Europe Gallya Lahav, 2004-04-22 With almost a quarter of the world's migrants, Europe has been attempting to regulate migration and harmonize immigration policy at the European level. The central dilemma exposed is how liberal democracies can reconcile the need to control the movement of people with the desire to promote open borders, free markets and liberal standards. Gallya Lahav's book traces ten years of public opinion and elite attitudes toward immigration cross-nationally to show how and why increasing EU integration may not necessarily lead to more open immigration outcomes. Empirical evidence reveals that support from both elite and public opinion has led to the adoption of restrictive immigration policies despite the requirements of open borders. Unique in bringing together original data on European legislators and national elites, longitudinal data on public opinion and institutional and policy analyses, this 2004 study provides an important insight into the processes of European integration and globalization more broadly. The Economics of the New Europe Nigel Healey, 1995-05-04 Europe is in a period of rapid transition. The Single European Market has been completed and many barriers to the free movement of goods, services, labour and capital have been removed. However, the moves towards deeper European union with full monetary union by 1999 have proved more problematic. Outside the EU, the collapse of communism
