The established theoretical frameworks including a narrative descriptive model and a sociological explanatory framework and the data collected may provide methodological and empirical support for further studies on shifts of narrative features in translation The tendencies manifested by different translators and identified by the study may also shed new light on the teaching and learning of translation skills The book offers a valuable reference guide for scholars practitioners translators and graduate students in the fields of e g language translation literature and cultural studies and for anyone with an interest in Chinese classical literature Chinese English translation narrative studies or cross cultural studies Sound Rising from the Paper Paize Keulemans, 2020-05-11 Chinese martial arts novels from the late nineteenth century are filled with a host of suggestive sounds Characters cuss and curse in colorful dialect accents vendor calls ring out from bustling marketplaces and martial arts action scenes come to life with the loud clash of swords and the sounds of bodies colliding What is the purpose of these sounds and what is their history In Sound Rising from the Paper Paize Keulemans answers these questions by critically reexamining the relationship between martial arts novels published in the final decades of the nineteenth century and earlier storyteller manuscripts He finds that by incorporating imitating and sometimes inventing storyteller sounds these novels turned the text from a silent object into a lively simulacrum of festival atmosphere thereby transforming the solitary act of reading into the communal sharing of an oral performance By focusing on the role sound played in late nineteenth century martial arts fiction Keulemans offers alternatives to the visual models that have dominated our approach to the study of print
