Art and Design Peter Stupples, Jane Venis, 2018-01-23 This book is a selection of essays covering aspects of the history and contemporary understanding of the fields of art and design and their inter percolation Making things has always involved skill and thought Thought is given to their creation so they are fit for purpose Where the purpose is aesthetic or intellectual pleasure the resulting object is often called art There is however often a hierarchy placing art somewhere apart from design But isn't some art designed These essays investigate aspects of this dichotomy from both sides of the supposed divide to discuss the ground between

Place and Memory in the Singing Crane Garden Vera Schwarcz, 2014-11-05 The Singing Crane Garden in northwest Beijing has a history dense with classical artistic vision educational experimentation political struggle and tragic suffering Built by the Manchu prince Mianyu in the mid nineteenth century the garden was intended to serve as a refuge from the clutter of daily life near the Forbidden City In 1860 during the Anglo French war in China the garden was destroyed One hundred years later in the 1960s the garden served as the ox pens where dissident university professors were imprisoned during the Cultural Revolution Peaceful Western involvement began in 1986 when ground was broken for the Arthur Sackler Museum of Art and Archaeology Completed in 1993 the museum and the Jillian Sackler Sculpture Garden stand on the same grounds today In Place and Memory in the Singing Crane Garden Vera Schwarcz gives voice to this richly layered corner of China's cultural landscape Drawing upon a range of sources from poetry to painting Schwarcz retells the garden's complex history in her own poetic and personal voice In her exploration of cultural survival trauma memory and place she reveals how the garden becomes a vehicle for reflection about history and language Encyclopedic in conception and artistic in execution Place and Memory in the Singing Crane Garden is a powerful work that shows how memory and ruins can revive the spirit of individuals and cultures alike

Aesthetics beyond the Arts Arnold Berleant, 2016-03-23 Taking the view that aesthetics is a study grounded in perception the essays in this volume exhibit many sides of the perceptual complex that is the aesthetic field and develop them in different ways They reinvigorate our understanding of such arts as music and architecture they range across the natural landscape to the urban one they reassess the place of beauty in the modern environment and reassess the significance of the contributions to aesthetic theory of Kant and Dewey and they broach the kinds of meanings and larger understanding that aesthetic engagement with the human environment can offer Written over the past decade these original and innovative essays lead to a fresh encounter with the possibilities of aesthetic experience one which has constantly evolved moving in recent years in the direction of what Berleant terms social aesthetics which enhances human environmental integration and sociality

The Chinese Garden Maggie Keswick, 2003 The Distorting Mirror Laikwan Pang, 2007-10-31 The Distorting Mirror analyzes the multiple and complex ways in which urban Chinese subjects saw themselves interacting with the new visual culture that emerged during the turbulent period between the 1880s and the 1930s The media and visual forms examined include lithography photography advertising film and theatrical performances Urbanites actively engaged with and enjoyed this visual culture which was largely driven by the subjective desire for the empty promises of modernity promises comprised of such abstract and fleeting concepts as new exciting and fashionable Detailing and analyzing the trajectories of development of various visual representations Laikwan Pang emphasizes their interactions In doing so she demonstrates that visual modernity was not only a combination of independent cultural phenomena but also a partially coherent sociocultural discourse whose influences were seen in different and collective parts of the culture The work begins with an overall historical account and theorization of a new lithographic pictorial culture developing at the end of the nineteenth century and an examination of modernity's obsession with the investigation of the real Subsequent chapters treat the fascination with the image of the female body in the new visual culture entertainment venues in which this culture unfolded and was performed how urbanites came to terms with and interacted with the new reality and the production and reception of images the dynamics between these two being a theme explored throughout the book Modernity as the author shows can be seen as spectacle At the same time she demonstrates that although the excessiveness of this spectacle captivated the modern subject it did not completely overwhelm or immobilize those who engaged with it After all she argues they participated in and performed with this ephemeral visual culture in an attempt to come to terms with their own new modern self

The Classical Gardens of Shanghai (中国古典园林) Shelly Bryant, 2016-03-01 In The Classical Gardens of Shanghai Shelly Bryant looks at five of Shanghai's remaining classical gardens through their origins changing fortunes restorations and links to a wider Chinese aesthetic Shanghai's classical gardens are as much text as space they exist in art poetry and literature as much as in stone rock and earth But these gardens have not remained static entities Rather they have been remodelled constantly since their inception This book reflects this process within the constancy of traditional Chinese horticulture and reveals Shanghai's remaining classical gardens as places representing wealth and social status social and dynastic shifts through falling family fortunes and political revolutions to search for a recovery of China's ancient culture in the modern day Like a classical Chinese garden this admirable and beautifully balanced book conjures up wider landscapes from within a small compass It can be savoured on many levels poetic and aesthetic no less than scholarly and intellectual It is the next best thing to being guided through such gardens by Shelly Bryant herself Lynn Pan author of When True Love Came to China and Shanghai Style      The Making and Selling of Post-Mao Beijing Anne-Marie Broudehoux,2004-08-02 Describes the changing life of the city and its inhabitants during the final decades of the twentieth century and examines the complex forces at play in the search for modernity The author presents us with four case studies of how the city is marketing and selling itself including its refurbishment for the 2008 Olympic bid and concludes that Beijing's urban image construction may provide an avenue for opposition groups to challenge the hegemony of those in power
