The Hunters Vision The Prehistoric Art Of Zimbabwe:

The Hunter's Vision Peter S. Garlake, 1995 A survey of the rock art of the San peoples of prehistoric Zimbabwe The prehistoric rock painting of these peoples are amongst the world's greatest artistic and cultural treasures There are many thousands of paintings in the granite hills and caves most of them until recently undiscovered and unrecorded Created many hundreds of years ago by societies that have long since disappeared these paintings represent an important artistic tradition

The Hunter's Vision Peter S. Garlake, 1995 New Perspectives on Prehistoric Art Günter Berghaus, 2004-04-30
Following the discovery of Franco Caribbean cave art in the nineteenth century standard interpretations of these works usually revolved around hunting magic and fertility cults Orthodox positions such as these have weighed heavily on later generations of art historians archaeologists and anthropologists even those whose views dissented from those of their predecessors In the last few decades however new approaches to cave art often based on discoveries made in Africa Asia Australia North America and the Arctic region have produced new insights into possible meanings and functions of prehistoric paintings and sculptures This new collection of essays explores these insights gathering the observations of eight experts from a variety of disciplines and examining some of the social and spiritual functions of a variety of artistic genres ranging from 40 000 B C to 5 000 B C These insights which derive from evolutionary biology feminist scholarship ritual studies and new modes of anthropology argue collectively that prehistoric art was a culture specific form of communication that should be interpreted in the social context of early hunter gatherer societies and should not be measured with the criteria and paradigms of modern art Essential reading for anyone interested in prehistoric art or its cultural implications this volume represents a bold step forward in the research and analysis of the very first artists New Approach to Cave Art in Zimbabwe Joern Stoevring, 2021-02-28 The material for the book is based on the four large caves at Musambura Northeast of HARARE with a comparison material from the other large caves and boulders in Zimbabwe It reassesses half a century of research on cave art in the country and presents a new approach for the interpretation of the old images The high pic photographic material consists of 186 high pic images subjected to various imaging software The approach is based on the Cosmology of the San as expressed in the large and majestic caves It enables a more sophisticated analysis than earlier by stratification of the material into traditions and periods The Ancient San from the last Ice Age to the Humid Period The San from the End of the Humid Period until the arrival of the Early BaNtu The Late San from the arrival of the Early BaNtu until the Demise of the Late San and The Demise of the Late San The analysis discusses and revises several assumptions and interpretations of earlier cave art contributions especially professor Peter Garlake as well as the contemporary contributions from New Animism Descola Harvey Willerslev The results of the book are used in the local conservation efforts by public authorities in Zimbabwe Culture after Humanism Iain Chambers, 2013-10-18 Culture After Humanism asks what happens to the authority of traditional western modes of thought in the wake of postmodernist theories of language and identity Drawing on examples from music architecture literature philosophy and art Iain Chambers investigates moments of tension interruptions which transform our perception of the world and test the limits of language art and technology

Termites of the Gods Siyakha Mguni, 2015-03-01 Siyakha Mguni's personal journey over many years to discover the significance of a hitherto enigmatic theme in San rock paintings known as formlings In Termites of the Gods Siyakha Mguni narrates his personal journey over many years to discover the significance of a hitherto enigmatic theme in San rock paintings known as formlings Formlings are a painting category found across the southern African region including South Africa Namibia and Zimbabwe with its densest concentration in the Matopo Hills Zimbabwe Generations of archaeologists and anthropologists have wrestled with the meaning of this painting theme in San cosmology without reaching consensus or a plausible explanation Drawing on San ethnography published over the past 150 years Mguni argues that formlings are in fact representations of flying termites and their underground nests and are associated with botanical subjects and a range of larger animals considered by the San to have great power and spiritual significance This book fills a gap in rock art studies around the interpretation and meaning of formlings It offers an innovative methodological approach for understanding subject matter in San rock art that is not easily recognisable and will be an invaluable reference book to students and scholars in rock art studies and archaeology drink the powerful hallucinogen Ayahuasca with shamans whose paintings contain images of supernatural beings identical to the animalhuman hybrids depicted in prehistoric caves Hallucinogens such as mescaline also produce visionary encounters with exactly the same beings Scientists at the cutting edge of consciousness research have begun to consider the possibility that such hallucinations may be real perceptions of other dimensions Could the supernaturals first depicted in the painted caves be the ancient teachers of mankind Could it be that human evolution is not just the meaningless process that Darwin identified but something more purposive and intelligent that we have barely begun to understand Nine Worlds of
