The Hyde Collection Catalogue Hyde Collection, James K. Kettlewell, 1981 Auction catalogue, books of William Dodd, 13 to 18 March 1777 John Burton (London), 1777 Catalogue of the ... Valuable Collection of Manuscripts and Autograph Letters, belonging to the late W. Upcott, etc William UPCOTT, 1846 Catalog of Copyright Entries Library of Congress. Copyright Office, 1976 Catalogue of the Curious and Valuable Collection of Manuscripts and Autograph Letters William Upcott, 1846 The Practice Run Frederick J. Fisher, 2025-05-15 On Saint Patrick's Day 1990 one of the largest art thefts in the world took place the heist of Boston's Isabella Stewart Gardner Museum in which thirteen works of art worth over half a billion dollars were stolen by two thieves posing as policemen Had there been a prior practice run for this theft Ten years earlier during the Christmas season two thieves who posed as delivery men after hijacking a FedEx van and etherizing its female driver were thwarted in their attempt of a nearly identical robbery at The Hyde Collection in Glens Falls New York an art museum modeled after a one in Boston The young mastermind of these crimes was Brian McDevitt of Swampscott Massachusetts He arrived in the small NY town in the spring of 1980 posing as a rich Vanderbilt heir and freelance writer Prior to his failed heist he spent two months ingratiating himself to the museum's director the author of this story in hopes of extracting vital information that would aid in his crime The book investigates the planning and execution of The Hyde's attempted robbery and traces McDevitt's various escapades following his jail sentences in New York State and one in Massachusetts over a previous bank heist Ten years later he fled Boston immediately after the Gardner heist and settled in Hollywood California masquerading as a screenwriter When word of his criminal past hit the West Coast he hightailed it to South America to avoid extradition where he mysteriously died FBI and Gardner Museum officials act skeptical about McDevitt's association with the heist yet they claim they know who the perpetrators were but that they are dead raising suspicion that McDevitt may be in the witness protection program This story also explores the fascinating history of these two rather impoverished sister museums with art collections of international renown that were jolted into the recognition of their vulnerabilities following one thwarted and one actual theft And even more fascinating is the possibility that a single individual might have been the mastermind of both crimes Catalog of Copyright Entries, Third Series Library of Congress. focuses on the period going from the endowment of the first chairs in Arabic at Cambridge and Oxford in 1632 and 1636 respectively to the establishment of the Asiatic Society in Calcutta in 1784 presided by Sir William Jones until 1794. Contrary to the Saidian premise of an invention of the East by the West, Gallien argues that orientalist did not invent a canon but they transferred and translated texts and authors which who were already recognised as canonical across Islamicate literary cultures. Given the above the question that preoccupies this book is what happens to the canon when partially re created and re purposed for European readers. Organised in three main parts this book analyses first the constitution of collections of Arabic Persian and Indic manuscripts and their cataloguing in England in the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries. The second part investigates the variety of linguistic and literary partitioning and assemblage proposed by orientalist and discusses how their classical literary formation underpinned theories and practices of imitation translation and writing. The third part examines the editing and translating of Arabic Persian and Indic literatures in seventeenth and eighteenth century England as well as in British colonial India and in particular the function of specimens and anthologies in the constitution of a corpus of Eastern literatures in English.

Matisse Rebecca A. Rabinow, Dorthe Aagesen, Metropolitan Museum of Art (New York, N.Y.), 2012. Throughout his long career Henri Matisse 1869 1954 continually expanded the boundaries of his art. By repeating images in pairs trios and series he conducted an ongoing dialogue with his earlier works in order to as he put it push further and deeper into true painting. In this fresh approach to a much studied artist prominent scholars from the United States and Europe examine more than sixty works in concise chapters that focus on this aspect of Matisse's working process. From early pairs such as Young Sailor I and II 1906 and Le Lexe I and II 1907-8 through a series of late studio scenes from Vence 1946-48, Matisse is shown revisiting a given theme with the aim of devising innovative, often radical solutions to such problems as how to portray light, handle paint, select colors, and manipulate perspective. New technical studies of the early paired works and photographs documenting the evolution of his later paintings help to elucidate Matisse's complex evolution. In numerous excerpts from letters and interviews, he is revealed as an artist who regularly questioned himself and his methods, a man of powerful intellect who regarded each new painting as an adventure. A significant addition to art historical literature, Matisse: In Search of True Painting is a revelatory study of a seminal figure in 20th-century modernism.
