The Common Ground A Place For Nature In Britains Future:

The Common Ground Richard Mabey,1980 Words for Country Tim Bonyhady,2002 Stories and phrases can powerfully shape the ways we experience and manage our environment What languages have been used to characterise Australian landscapes and how have they influenced the way we see and treat our environment How do stories take root in particular places How do we find the right words for those parts of the country that matter to us Words for Country answers these questions while exploring the inter relationship between Australia s landscape and language Tim Bonyhady and Tom Griffiths have brought together a collection of essays whose subjects range from the Ord River in the far north west to Antarctica in the south from the centre to the coast the prehistoric to the present Their terrain is environmental and cultural political and poetic Words for Country reveals not just how language grows out of the landscape but how words and stories shape the places in which we live Theatres of Memory Raphael Samuel,2012-09-11 When Theatres of Memory was first published in 1994 it transformed the debate about what is to be considered history and questioned the role of heritage that lies at the heart of every Western nation s obsession with the past Today in the age of Downton Abbey and Mad Men we are once again conjuring historical fictions to make sense of our everyday lives In this remarkable book Samuel looks at the many different ways we use the unofficial knowledge of the past Considering such varied areas as the fashion for retrofitting the rise of family history the joys of collecting old photographs the allure of reenactment societies and televised adaptations of Dickens Samuel transforms our understanding of the uses of history He shows us that history is a living practice something constantly being reassessed in the world around us How to Think Seriously about the Planet Roger Scruton,2014-10 Roger Scruton here makes a plea to rescue environmental politics from the activist movements and to return them to the people The book defends the legacy of home building and practical reasoning with which ordinary human beings solve their environmental problems and attacks the alarmism and hysteria that are being used to uproot these resources while putting nothing coherent in their place Representing the Nation Jessica Evans,David Boswell,1999 Representing the Nation gathers key writings from leading cultural thinkers to ask what role cultural institutions play in creating and shaping our sense of ourselves as a nation Representing the Environment John R. Gold,George Revill,2004-08-02 This is an introductory guide to the representations of the environment found in everyday life in nature culture landscape art and in the media These provide an important means of understanding environmental attitudes and decision making Latin American Peasants Tom Brass,2004-08-02 The essays in this collection examine agrarian transformation in Latin America and the role in this of peasants with particular reference to Bolivia Peru Chile Brazil and Central America Among the issues covered are the impact of globalization and neo liberal economic policies Landscape, Race and Memory Divya Praful Tolia-Kelly,2016-04-22 Memory is seldom explored through the experience of geographically mobile racialized populations Whilst the relationships between the political value of landscape and national memory have previously been written through there has been little mention of postcolonial diasporic racialized citizens Using both visual and material culture this book examines the value of landscape and memory for postcolonial migrants living in Britain It uses memory to examine how postcolonial citizenship in Britain is experienced through remembered citizenships of other geographies abroad By reflecting on the cultural landscapes of British Asian women the book reveals social historical narratives about migration citizenship and belonging New spaces of memory are presented as mobile and as politically charged with meaning as the more formal spaces of memorialization The book offers a refiguring of race memory as being critical to English heritage and postcolonial politics and makes an important contribution to the writings on memory race and landscape Green Pages John

Elkington,Tom Burke,Julia Hailes,2017-10-19 Originally published in 1988 Europeans want a better environment Increasingly too they are demanding the products services legislation and policies that will provide it Green Pages reveals what Europe s environmentalists plan to do next and how environmental pressures will threaten major markets and at the same time opens up new opportunities for business investment and employment Green Pages is a fantastic reference source for green enterprise and will be of interest to students of environmental economics The New Reproductive Order Sarah

Franklin,Marcia C. Inhorn,2025-04-22 The transformative impact of new reproductive technologies over the past half century Both fertility and infertility are commonly depicted as individual biological and choice dependent conditions that can be mediated by technology In contrast The New Reproductive Order documents the complex material historical and political forces that both enable and limit human reproductivity while also arguing that both fertility and infertility have become condensed symbols of wider changes to family forms national political agendas global economies and local environments Combining anthropological sociological and intersectional feminist research from across the globe this landmark volume reveals how changing perceptions of fertility and infertility are altering how people imagine pursue and experience reproductivity both individually and collectively Using a comparative global methodology based on detailed case studies The New Reproductive Order persuasively argues that changing perceptions of fertility and infertility are giving rise to a distinctive reproductive politics based on new models of reproductive cause and effect This groundbreaking and sophisticated volume opens new horizons of scholarship on the relationship between fertility infertility reproductive technologies and social change as well as new thinking on policy practice and activism in the twenty first century s new reproductive order Hunters and Collectors Tom Griffiths,1996-04 Hunters and Collectors is about historical consciousness and environmental sensibilities in European Australia from the mid nineteenth century to the present It is in part a collective biography of amateur antiquarians archaeologists naturalists journalists and historians people who shaped the Australian historical imagination Dr Griffiths illuminates the way these avid collectors and investigators of the Australian land and of its indigenous inhabitants contributed a sense of identity at colony wide and eventually nationwide level He also considers the rise of professional history anthropology and archaeology in the universities which ignored the efforts of the amateurs Griffiths shows how the seemingly trivial activities of these hunters and collectors feed into the political and environmental debates of the 1990s This book is outstanding in its originality interpretative insight and literary flair

The Bioregional Imagination Cheryll Glotfelty, Karla Armbruster, Tom Lynch, 2012-03-01 Bioregionalism is an innovative way of thinking about place and planet from an ecological perspective Although bioregional ideas occur regularly in ecocritical writing until now no systematic effort has been made to outline the principles of bioregional literary criticism and to use it as a way to read write understand and teach literature The twenty four original essays here are written by an outstanding selection of international scholars The range of bioregions covered is global and includes such diverse places as British Columbia s Meldrum Creek and Italy s Po River Valley the Arctic and the Outback There are even forays into cyberspace and outer space In their comprehensive introduction the editors map the terrain of the bioregional movement including its history and potential to inspire and invigorate place based and environmental literary criticism Responding to bioregional tenets this volume is divided into four sections The essays in the Reinhabiting section narrate experiments in living in place and restoring damaged environments The Rereading essays practice bioregional literary criticism both by examining texts with strong ties to bioregional paradigms and by opening other less obvious texts to bioregional analysis In Reimagining the essays push bioregionalism to evolve by expanding its corpus of texts coupling its perspectives with other approaches or challenging its core constructs Essays in the Renewal section address bioregional pedagogy beginning with local habitat studies and concluding with musings about the Internet In response to the environmental crisis we must reimagine our relationship to the places we inhabit This volume shows how literature and literary studies are fundamental tools to such a reimagining Defending The Little Desert Libby Robin, 2015-09-08 In 1968 Sir William McDonald Victoria's Minister of Lands announced a rural settlement scheme for the Little Desert in Victoria's far north west The conservation campaign that ensued was one of unprecedented vehemence and sophistication It cost McDonald his parliamentary seat and consigned the Little Desert Settlement Scheme to oblivion The Little Desert dispute was a watershed in Australian environmental politics Suburban activists scientists amateur naturalists economists and bureaucrats banded together to oppose McDonald's ill conceived scheme It marked the beginning of a new consciousness of nature and the concept of biological diversity was voiced in the halls of parliament for the first time In Defending the Little Desert Libby Robin offers a sensitive account of the unlikely coalition of forces that assembled to save the Little Desert This beautifully written account of the campaign perhaps the earliest expression of ecological consciousness in Australia will be read by all Australians interested in conservation and the environment in participatory political processes and in public science

Interpreting Rurality Gary Bosworth, Peter Somerville, 2013-10-15 The British countryside is a national institution most people aspire to live there many people use it for leisure and recreation and we can all watch rural life played out on our television screen read about it in novels or consume its imagery in art and cinematography The aim of this book is to explore the way that these aspirations and perceptions influence the way that the term rural is interpreted across different academic disciplines Definitions of rural are not exact leaving room for these interpretations to have a significant impact on the meanings conveyed in different areas of research and across different economic social and spatial contexts In this book contributors present research across a range of subjects allowing critical reflections upon their personal and disciplinary interpretations of rural This resulting volume is a collection of diverse chapters that gives an emergent sense of how the notion of rural changes and blurs as the disciplinary lens is adjusted In drawing together these strands it becomes clear that human relations with rural space morph materiality into highly complex representations wherein both disadvantage and social exclusion persist within a rurality that is also commodified consumed and cherished

Property in the Body Donna Dickenson, 2017-06-09 We live in an era when all bodies are potentially feminised by being rendered open access for biomedical research and clinical practice Adopting a theoretically sophisticated and practical approach Property in the Body Feminist Perspectives rejects the notion that the sale of bodily tissue enhances the freedom of the individual through an increase in moral agency Combining feminist theory and bioethics it also addresses the omissions which are inherent in policy analysis and academic debate For example whilst women's tissue is particularly central to new biotechnologies the requirement for female labour is largely ignored in subsequent evaluation In its fully revised second edition this book also considers how policies and developments vary between countries and within specific areas of biomedicine itself Most importantly it analyses the new and emerging technologies of this field whilst returning to the core questions and fears which are inextricably linked to the commercialisation of the body

Wildlife Conservation Evaluation Michael Usher, 2012-12-06 In the mid 1970s two events led me to get to know the Yorkshire Dales better than I had previously Since 1964 I had been to the Malham Tarn Field Centre with groups of students first from the University of Edinburgh and then from the University of York and my family very much enjoyed the summer days we spent amid this magnificent hill scenery In 1976 the British Ecological Society and the National Trust jointly worked on a survey of the biological interest of the National Trust properties of the Kent East Anglian and Yorkshire Regions Malham Tarn itself and the surrounding farms formed one of the twenty properties of the Yorkshire Region I spent the bank holiday that commemorated the Queen's Silver Jubilee at Malham looking fairly closely at the National Trust's landholding there

Miss Sarah Priest who also looked at the National Trust properties and I produced a report in late 1977 attempting both to describe and to evaluate the nature resources of the National Trust in Yorkshire In the following year 1978 the Nature Conservancy Council wanted to survey the whole of the upland area that was known as the Malham Arncliffe SSSI Site of Special Scientific Interest A contract to look at such an exciting area considering where boundaries should go and looking to see if there were important areas of habitat that should be brought within the SSSI was a superb practical antidote to an office in the University
