Young Women Against Apartheid Emily Bridger, 2021 Provides a new perspective on the struggle against apartheid and contributes to key debates in South African history gender inequality sexual violence and the legacies of the liberation struggle WINNER OF THE RHS GLADSTONE BOOK PRIZE 2022 WINNER OF THE SOCIETY FOR THE HISTORY OF CHILDREN AND YOUTH GRACE ABBOTT BOOK PRIZE 2021 SHORTLISTED FOR THE ASAUK FAGE relate their personal experiences to collective histories of the struggle and insert themselves into a historical narrative from which they have been excluded Through exploring these women s memories this book serves as an important corrective to South Africa s male centric literature on violence and provides a new gendered perspective on the wider histories of township politics activism and conflict

The Classroom Struggle Jonathan Hyslop, 1999 In 1976 the schools of South Africa exploded in a gigantic youth rebellion This revolt was to continue for years becoming a major part of the resistance to Apartheid Yet it arose from a schooling system designed to underpin Apartheid policy This book provides a detailed portrait of both state education policy and the response of the populace to this policy by focusing on the day to day experiences of the teachers and students This book provides a historical overview of apartheid education policy and resistance to it It shows how the Bantu Education system emerged out of the urbanization crisis of the 1940s as an integral part of apartheid strategy The 1950s saw the stifling of the resistance of teachers and parents and the apparent stabilization of the new system But by the mid 1970s the internal conflicts produced the conditions for uprising

Historian Hermann Giliomee, 2018-01-04 In this eloquent memoir already widely read and praised in the author s native South Africa Hermann Giliomee weaves together the story of his own life with that of his country a nation that continues to absorb and inspire him both despite and because of its tortuous history An internationally respected historian his landmark The Afrikaners writes J M Coetzee includes an account of the origins and demise of apartheid that must rank as the most sober objective and comprehensive we have Giliomee has devoted a lifetime to exploring the origins and perpetuation of the deep divisions in South African society Although he grew up in the heart of the Afrikaner nationalist movement he soon began to cut his own path in examining the rise and entrenchment of exclusive Afrikaner power and became one of the National Party s chief critics As an outside insider or to his critics a snake in the grass Giliomee has an understanding of Afrikaner power that is informed and nuanced He has engaged with members on all sides of South Africa s debates many of whom appear in these pages through vivid and insightful portraits and his outspokenness has hit nerves across the political spectrum The personal journey of this original and courageous thinker will appeal to anyone interested in the complexities of South Africa s past and present

Bulletin of the Atomic Scientists ,1969-02 The Bulletin of the Atomic Scientists is the premier public resource on scientific and technological developments that impact global security Founded by Manhattan Project Scientists the Bulletin s iconic Doomsday Clock stimulates solutions for a safer world Paperbound Books in Print ,1991 El-Hi Textbooks in Print ,1979 The Right to Learn Pam Christie,1985 State of Transition Clive Harber,2001-01-01 The main purpose of this book is to provide a concise overview of educational transition to document discuss and analyse key changes and continuities in South African education since the end of apartheid What makes this period particularly fascinating for educationalists is that the legacy of apartheid and the years of international isolation meant that educational reform had to be fundamental and wide ranging if South Africa was to become a modern democratic state participating in the global political economy of the twenty first century The result was that in the final five years of the twentieth century South Africa became something of a laboratory or crucible for educational innovation From 1948 to the early 1990s South African government was based on an institutionalised system of racial separation and inequality formally known as apartheid A white minority dominated a black majority in a context of stark social political and economic differentiation While the apartheid state used force to maintain this system formal education was also used to try to make the basic tenets of apartheid normal and acceptable in the minds of South Africans From the apartheid government s point of view the role of education was to help to perpetuate and reproduce a racist system and to encourage obedience and conformity to that system It is not therefore surprising that in the 1970s and 1980s education also became a key site in the struggle against apartheid or that educational reform was high on the agenda of the first democratically elected government after April 1994 However while the direction of educational reform has inevitably been strongly influenced by the nature and history of the anti apartheid struggle inside South Africa the global political and economic context has also played its part in shaping educational debate and policy outside South Africa Clive Harber s book recognises that there is a difference between planned reform and the actual nature of educational change on the ground and tries where possible to set reform in the contextual realities of South African education as they presently exist It aims to understand the difficulties and ambiguities of transition as well as the overt aims and goals as enshrined in policy documents and legislation Freedom in Our Lifetime ,2003 This document includes a student text and a teacher resource book The student text booklet introduces students to precolonial and colonial South Africa and the development of apartheid Students have the opportunity to evaluate decisions made by anti apartheid activists and to reflect on South Africa s transition to a post apartheid society The booklet is divided into 10 parts 1 Introduction A Negotiated Revolution 2 Part I Precolonial and Colonial South Africa 3 Part II Apartheid and Its Opposition 4 The Moment of Decision 5 Options in Brief 6 Options Option 1 Continue Nonviolent Struggle with Multi Racial Support Option 2 Use Limited Structured Violence with Communist Party Support Option 3 Advocate Guerrilla War Tactics for Africans Alone 7 Epilogue Becoming South Africa 8 Chronology of South African History 9 Supplementary Documents and 10

"We Hid Books in Bags of Sugar" Maxine Getz,2013 In this thesis on teacher resistance to apartheid in South Africa I argue that teaching against the prescribed curriculum constituted a form of subversion to the National Party led government Students teachers and parents resisted the apartheid education system using various tactics between 1948 and 1990 but this presentation will focus on teachers strategies and memories about working within the framework of education for liberation in a shift away from liberation first education after Through testimony teachers explained how they sought to raise the political and historical consciousness of their students by presenting a two layered curriculum The conclusions I came to were informed by interviews I conducted with history teachers in Cape Town South Africa My overarching question is why was the struggle for better school conditions and counter histories so inextricably tied to the struggle for national liberation I examined the political function of educational policy and content during apartheid and student and teacher resistance to National Party prescribed education I argue that the National party used education policy and content to bolster the apartheid system and to delineate parameters of citizenship and nationhood in South Africa Students and teachers identified this use and responded by using schools as sites of resistance to the apartheid state Specifically the political nature of historiography caused history instruction to become a site of contention Where the National Party employed historiography to glorify Afrikanerdom and subjugate the black majority resistors used history classrooms for intellectual resistance against apartheid The second part of this thesis explores the way that history teachers today perceive challenges to teaching apartheid history and how that reflects post apartheid politics The Classroom Crisis Monica Bot, Lawrence

Schlemmer,1986 The History of Education Under Apartheid, 1948-1994 Peter Kallaway,2002 Annotation This collection of 19 essays stems from two scholarly workshops held during 1998 and 1999 as part of a project initiated by the Centre for Education Policy Development The project s goal is to stimulate critical evaluation of the nature and direction of contemporary education policy discourse and practice in South Africa by examining education under the apartheid years Coverage includes the origins construction and experience of apartheid education popular resistance and alternative education during the 1970s 80s and 90s firsthand accounts of the everyday lives practices and experiences of teachers and students new sources of traditional research in the history of education and the identities of historical actors and institutions Annotation c Book News Inc Portland OR booknews com The struggle against apartheid education: towards people's education in South Africa Research on Education in South Africa,1988 Education and the Struggle for National Liberation in South Africa Neville Alexander,1990 Students Must Rise Ann Heffernan,Noor Nieftagodien,Sifiso Mxolisi Ndlovu,Bhekizizwe Peterson,2016-06-01 A detailed account of the incredibly influential Soweto Student Uprising of 1976 The Soweto Student Uprising of 1976 was a decisive moment in the struggle against apartheid It marked the expansion of political activism to a new generation of young activists but beyond that it inscribed the role that young people of subsequent generations could play in their country's future Since that momentous time students have held a special place in the collective imaginary of South African history Drawing on research and writing by leading scholars and prominent activists Students Must Rise takes Soweto '76 as its pivot point but looks at student and youth activism in South Africa more broadly by considering what happened before and beyond the Soweto moment Early chapters assess the impact of the anti pass campaigns of the 1950s of political ideologies like black consciousness as well as of religion and culture in fostering political consciousness and organisation among youth and students in townships and rural areas Later chapters explore the wide reaching impact of June 16th itself for student organisation over the next two decades across the country Two final chapters consider contemporary student based political movements including RhodesMustFall and FeesMustFall and historically root these in the long and rich tradition of student activism in South Africa 2016 marks the 40th anniversary of the 1976 June 16th uprisings This book rethinks the conventional narrative of youth and student activism in South Africa by placing that most famous of moments the 1976 students uprising in Soweto in a deeper historical and geographic context Resistance and Transformation Michael Cross,1992 A Social History of the University Presses in Apartheid South Africa Elizabeth Le Roux,2015-10-14 In A History of the University Presses in Apartheid South Africa Elizabeth le Roux examines scholarly publishing history academic freedom and knowledge production during the apartheid era Using archival materials comprehensive bibliographies and political sociology theory this work analyses the origins publishing lists and philosophies of the university presses The university presses are often associated with anti apartheid publishing and the promotion of academic freedom but this work reveals both greater complicity and complexity Elizabeth le Roux demonstrates that the university presses cannot be considered oppositional because they did not resist censorship and because they operated within the constraints of the higher education system but their publishing strategies became more liberal over time
