

The Comforters.

The Baron had set up a bookshop in Charing Cross Road, one of those which keep themselves exclusively intellectual. 'Intellect-u-al', the Baron pronounced it. He would say, 'Of course there are no intellect-u-als in England.'

Modernism and the Machinery of Madness Andrew Gaedtke, 2017-10-26 Modernism and the Machinery of Madness demonstrates the emergence of a technological form of paranoia within modernist culture which transformed much of the period's experimental fiction Gaedtke argues that the works of writers such as Samuel Beckett Anna Kavan Wyndham Lewis Mina Loy Evelyn Waugh and others respond to the collapse of categorical distinctions between human and machine Modern British and Irish novels represent a convergence between technological models of the mind and new media that were often regarded as thought influencing machines Gaedtke shows that this literary paranoia comes into new focus when read in light of twentieth century memoirs of mental illness By thinking across the discourses of experimental fiction mental illness psychiatry cognitive science and philosophy of mind this book shows the historical and conceptual sources of this confusion as well as the narrative responses This book contributes to the fields of modernist studies disability studies and medical humanities The History of British Women's Writing, 1945-1975 Clare Hanson, Susan Watkins, 2017-09-14 This volume reshapes our understanding of British literary culture from 1945 1975 by exploring the richness and diversity of women's writing of this period Essays by leading scholars reveal the range and intensity of women writers' engagement with post war transformations including the founding of the Welfare State the gradual liberalization of attitudes to gender and sexuality and the reconfiguration of Britain and the empire in the context of the Cold War Attending closely to the politics of form the sixteen essays range across literary middlebrow and popular genres including espionage thrillers and historical fiction children's literature and science fiction as well as poetry drama and journalism They examine issues including realism and experimentalism education class and politics the emergence of second wave feminism responses to the Holocaust and mass migration and diaspora The volume offers an exciting reassessment of women's writing at a time of radical social change and rapid cultural expansion A Grain of Faith Allan Hepburn, 2018-11-22 During and after the Second World War there was a concerted thinking about religion in Britain Not only were leading international thinkers of the day theologians Ronald Niebuhr Paul Tillich Jacques Maritain but leading writers contributed to discussions about religion Graham Greene Muriel Spark and Barbara Pym incorporated miracles evil and church going into their novels while Louis MacNeice T S Eliot and C S Lewis gave radio broadcasts about the role of Christianity in contemporary society Certainly the war revived interest in aspects of Christian life Salvation and redemption were on many people's minds The Ministry of Information used images of bombed churches to stoke patriotic fervour and King George VI led a series of Days of National Prayer that coincided with crucial events in the Allied campaign After the war and throughout the 1950s approximately 1.4 million Britons converted to Roman Catholicism as a way of expressing their spiritual ambitions and solidarity with humanity on a world wide scale Religion provided one way for writers to answer the question what is man It also afforded ways to think about social obligation and ethical engagement Moreover the mid century turn to religion offered ways to articulate statehood not from the perspective of nationhood and politics but from the perspective of moral action and social improvement Instead of being a retreat into seclusion and solitude the mid century turn to religion is a call to responsibility Muriel Spark Bryan Cheyette, 2000 Muriel Spark is widely considered to be one of the most gifted and innovative British novelists of her generation Professor Cheyette's study is the first to explore her twenty novels as a whole and includes discussion of her short stories poems and literary criticism Foundations of Religious Literacy John V. Apaczynski, 1982 Originally published by the College Theology Society in 1982 this collection of essays addresses issues of religious literacy The explorations forming the unifying motif here focus on where religious classics can be found today how they are encountered and how their meaning is properly grasped and expressed These concerns are vital to those engaged professionally in the transmission assimilation and creative development of our cultural heritage Co published with the College Theology Society Muriel Spark Norman Page,1990 Annotation This is a discussion of the themes and techniques of Muriel Spark s 18 novels from The Comforters of 1957 through her most substantial and ambitious novel The Mandelbaum Gate to A Far Cry from Kensington in 1988 She has been writing for 30 years and is considered one of the most interesting and original of contemporary English novelists This study examines the development of her fictional art right up to the present day The Oxford Encyclopedia of British Literature David Scott Kastan,2006-03-03 From folk ballads to film scripts this new five volume encyclopedia covers the entire history of British literature from the seventh century to the present focusing on the writers and the major texts of what are now the United Kingdom and the Republic of Ireland In five hundred substantial essays written by major scholars the Encyclopedia of British Literature includes biographies of nearly four hundred individual authors and a hundred topical essays with detailed analyses of particular themes movements genres and institutions whose impact upon the writing or the reading of literature was significant An ideal companion to The Oxford Encyclopedia of American Literature this set will prove invaluable for students scholars and general readers For more information including a complete table of contents and list of contributors please visit www.oup.com/us/eb1

Twentieth-Century Women Novelists Thomas F. Staley,1982-06-18 The Cambridge Guide to Women's Writing in English Lorna Sage,1999-09-30 This Guide aims to consolidate and epitomise the re reading of women s writing that has gone on in the last twenty five years This is an opportunity for stock taking a timely project when so much writing has been rediscovered reclaimed and republished There are entries on writers on individual texts and on general terms genres and movements all printed in a single alphabetical sequence The earliest written documents in medieval English the visionary writings of Julian of Norwich and Margery Kempe are covered in an historical and geographical sweep that takes us up to the present day The book reflects the spread of literacy the history of colonisation and the development of post colonial cultures using and changing the English language The entries are written by contributors from all the countries covered The result is a work of reference with a unique feeling for the vitality wealth and diversity of women s writing A Companion to the British and Irish Novel, 1945 - 2000 Brian W. Shaffer,2008-04-15 A Companion to the British and Irish Novel 1945 2000 serves as an extended introduction and reference guide to the British and Irish novel between the close of World War II and the turn of the millennium Covers a wide range of authors from Samuel Beckett to Salman Rushdie Provides readings of key novels including Graham Greene s Heart of the Matter Jean Rhys s Wide Sargasso Sea and Kazuo Ishiguro s The Remains of the Day Considers particular subgenres such as the feminist novel and the postcolonial novel Discusses overarching cultural political and literary trends such as screen adaptations and the literary prize phenomenon Gives readers a sense of the richness and diversity of the novel during this period and of the vitality with which it continues to be discussed Geniuses, Addicts, and Scribbling Women Cynthia Cravens,2023-01-15 Through a critical discussion of an array of written and visual texts that feature a writer as a main character Geniuses Addicts and Scribbling Women Portraits of the Writer in Popular Culture argues for a more nuanced conception of the role of writers in society their relationships with their reading publics the portrayals and realities of their labor and the construction of a writing identity Expounding upon the critical genre of authorship studies the contributors take on complex issues such as economics professionalization gender politics and writing pedagogy to shape the dialogue around the nature of representation and the practice of narrative Ultimately contributors consider the ways in which debates over art craft authorial celebrity and the literary marketplace define the parameters of culture in a given period and influence the work of culture producers The implications of such an analysis reveal much about the status and value of creative writers and their work This collection covers a wide range of historical periods offering a complex understanding of representations of writers from the medieval period to the Netflix era Such an evolution challenges the perception of the writer as a monolithic presence in society and highlights its multiplicity diversity and its transformations through cultural and political movements

International Postmodernism Johannes Willem Bertens, Hans Bertens, Douwe Fokkema, 1997 Containing more than fifty essays by major literary scholars International Postmodernism divides into four main sections The volume starts off with a section of eight introductory studies dealing with the subject from different points of view followed by a section that deals with postmodernism in other arts than literature while a third section discusses renovations of narrative genres and other strategies and devices in postmodernist writing The final and fourth section deals with the reception and processing of postmodernism in different parts of the world Three important aspects add to the special character of International Postmodernism The consistent distinction between postmodernity and postmodernism equal attention to the making and diffusion of postmodernism and the workings of literature in general and the focus on the text and the reader i e the reader's knowledge experience interests and competence as crucial factors in text interpretation This comprehensive study does not expressly focus on American postmodernism although American interpretations of postmodernism are a major point of reference The recognition that varying literary and cultural conditions in this world are bound to produce endless varieties of postmodernism made the editors Hans Bertens and Douwe Fokkema opt for the title International Postmodernism

Supermac D R Thorpe, 2010-09-09 Great grandson of a crofter and son in law of a Duke Harold Macmillan 1894 1986 was both complex as a person and influential as a politician Marked by terrible experiences in the trenches in the First World War and by his work as an MP during the Depression he was a Tory rebel an outspoken backbencher opposing the economic policies of the 1930s and the appeasement policies of his own government Churchill gave him responsibility during the Second World War with executive command as Viceroy of the Mediterranean After the War in opposition Macmillan was one of the principal reformers of the Conservatives and after 1951 back in government served in several important posts before becoming Prime Minister after the Suez Crisis Supermac examines key events including the controversy over the Cossacks repatriation the Suez Crisis You've Never Had It So Good the Winds of
