The Hungry Tide:

The Hungry Tide Amitav Ghosh, 2005 The arrival of marine biologist Piya Roy and urbane businessman Kanai Dutt upsets the balance in the small community in the Sundarbans HUNGRY TIDE. AMITAV. GHOSH, 2017 The Hungry Tide Amitav Ghosh, 2005 From the author of The Glass Palace the widely acclaimed bestseller The Hungry Tide is a rich exotic saga set in Calcutta and in the vast archipelago of islands in the Bay of Bengal The Post-colonial Space Nandini Sahu, 2007 The 1980s and after has created a typical post modern anxiety with the advent of Salman Rushdie as an influential diaspora writer This book is conceptualized around a series of topics like post modern anxiety identity politics national and self definition the problem of exile and diaspora and an interest to examine the way Indian English literature has established itself and set up as a separate discipline while the bright and brilliant promises about Indian English literature rejuvenate us Some pertinent questions hang above us related to our identity historiography and the political and national affiliation of a writer Does the absence of a national identity affect the tone of a creative writer and the mindset of his readers as well Does the post colonial space invite and initiate the Indian English writers and the diaspora writers to take their self and national identity as the metaphor of their creativity How do they define and justify themselves What do they mean by Indianness Nation and narration Women issues Subaltern conditions Nativism Post colonialism Post modernism and essentialism What are their literary and extra literary concerns Do they succeed in giving a clear image to the indigenous culture and the narrative traditions of India What linguistic and stylistic innovations are being introduced by the post colonial writers This book is a humble attempt to point out some of these issues by the editor and the contributors The present analytical study will prove an ideal reference book to students researchers and teachers of Indian English literature The Hungry Tide Lucy Gillen, 1976 Psycho Dynamics Of Women In The Post Modern Liter. S. P. Sree, 2008 Papers presented at the International Seminar on Psycho Dynamics of Women in the Postmodern Literature of the East and West held at Visakhapatnam during 25-26 February 2006 The Hungry Tide - B Format AMITAV. GHOSH, Amitav, 2011 The Construction of Place in Amitav Ghosh's "The Hungry Tide" Marnie Hensler, 2020-10-09 Seminar paper from the year 2020 in the subject Literature Asia University of Freiburg English Department course On the Beach Narrating Littoral Space in Literature language English abstract This paper claims that the space of the tide country as perceived by the protagonists in The Hungry Tide is constructed through two major embedded narratives The first narrative is the legend of the goddess Bon Bibi Passed down orally from generation to generation the rhythmic legend sediments itself in the minds of the tide country people defines how they see their homeland and thus actively and repeatedly constructs and reconstructs the space of the tide country The second narrative is Nirmal's recollection of his repeated adventures to Morichjhapi Unlike the legend of Bon Bibi his adventures are transmitted in writing through his notebook Accessible to Kanai and the reader only its content shapes and constructs how both character and reader perceive and construct the space of the historical island. However, it also works the other way around. The place of the tide country also influences the narratives that evolve around it. The Bon Bibi legend is as fluid as the tide country being re-interpreted from generation to generation. Nirmal's notebook as well reflects the main characteristics of the tide country as it travels on water on the Megha and ultimately also disappears in water like the tide country eventually will as well. In this paper, a close textual analysis of both embedded narratives reveals how they manage to re-construct the space of the tide country for both characters and readers, i.e. which narrative strategies are used etc. and what distinct topographical characteristics of the tide country can be found within them. In sum, this paper claims that narratives have the ability to construct the space we live in. Cultural geography examines how places and identities are produced. It looks into how people of a certain culture and place perceive their homeland or, inverse, how they construct it with the help of cultural artefacts. Cultural artefacts like folktales or songs can contribute to the construction of space since they describe and determine how people view and perceive the places around them. Whatever cultural artefacts people produce give insight into how they see their space. Narratives as cultural artefacts, for example, can thus show us how spaces are perceived by those who tell and consume them.

Book Jacket The Postsecular Imagination Manav Ratti, 2013-01-04. The Postsecular Imagination presents a rich interdisciplinary study of postsecularism as an affirmational political possibility emerging through the potentials and limits of both secular and religious thought. While secularism and religion can foster inspiration and creativity, they also can be linked with violence, civil war, partition, majoritarianism, and communalism, especially within the framework of the nation-state. Through close readings of novels that engage with animism, Buddhism, Christianity, Hinduism, Islam, and Sikhism, Manav Ratti examines how questions of ethics and the need for faith, awe, wonder, and enchantment can find expression and significance in the wake of such crises. While focusing on Michael Ondaatje and Salman Rushdie, Ratti addresses the work of several other writers as well, including Shauna Singh Baldwin, Mahasweta Devi, Amitav Ghosh, and Allan Sealy. Ratti shows the extent of courage and risk involved in the radical imagination of these postsecular works, examining how writers experiment with and gesture toward the compelling paradoxes of a non-secular secularism and a non-religious religion. Drawing on South Asian Anglophone literatures and postcolonial theory and situating itself within the most provocative contemporary debates in secularism and religion, The Postsecular Imagination will be important for readers interested in the relations among culture, literature, theory, and politics.
