The Illustrated History of the Naval Stores (turpentine) Industry Pete Gerrell,1998 Naval Stores Review ,1926
Gamble's International Naval Stores Year Book ,1912 Wakulla County Eddie Page,2001 Established as the state's twenty third county by the Florida legislature in 1843 Wakulla's rich history dates back to the Paleo Indian period when groups of Native Americans made use of and enjoyed the region's abundant natural resources Today over three quarters of the county's total acreage is contained within wildlife refuge areas that protect tens of thousands of acres of timber marshlands and coastal estuaries creating an unmatched natural beauty that is Wakulla's greatest asset The port area of St Marks host to the Panfilo de Narvaez expedition in 1528 and the Hernando de Soto expedition in 1539 was an important shipping port to Middle Florida and South Georgia Wakulla County was also once the site of long forgotten settlements such as Magnolia and Port Leon ports along the St Marks River that played important roles in the economic development of Middle Florida during the antebellum period Home to outlets to the Gulf of Mexico along Apalachee Bay such as Panacea Spring Creek and Shell Point Wakulla also boasts one of the world's largest and deepest freshwater springs and a premier tourist attraction Capturing the spirit of Wakulla's pioneering settlers as well as the county's magnificent landscape this one of a kind pictorial retrospective showcases the region's singular past through vintage photographs and other visual memorabilia How the New Deal Built Florida Tourism David J. Nelson,2019-04-11 Florida Historical Society Rembert Patrick Award Florida Book Awards Silver Medal for Florida Nonfiction Countering the conventional narrative that Florida's tourism industry suffered during the Great Depression this book shows that the 1930s were in reality the starting point for much that characterizes modern Florida's tourism David Nelson argues that state and federal government programs designed to reboot the economy during this decade are crucial to understanding the state today Nelson examines the impact of three connected initiatives the federal New Deal its Civilian Conservation Corps program CCC and the CCC's creation of the Florida Park Service He reveals that the CCC designed state parks to reinforce the popular image of Florida as a tropical exotic and safe paradise The CCC often removed native flora and fauna introduced exotic species and created artificial landscapes that were then presented as natural Nelson discusses how Florida business leaders benefitted from federally funded development and the ways residents and business owners rejected or supported the commercialization and shifting cultural identity of their state A detailed look at a unique era in which the state government sponsored the tourism industry helped commodify natural resources and boosted mythical ideas of the Real Florida that endure today this book makes the case that the creation of the Florida Park Service is the story of modern Florida The Oil & Colour Trades Journal ,1921
The Woodenboat ,2000 The Woodsman's Daughter Gwyn Hyman Rubio,2005 A big raw boned brave novel in the post civil War era Historic Wilmington & the Lower Cape Fear Chris Eugene Fonvielle,2007 Cumulated Index to the Books ,1999 Tapping the Pines Robert B. Outland III,2004-12 The extraction of raw turpentine and tar from the southern longleaf pine along with the manufacture of derivative products such as spirits of turpentine and rosin constitutes what was once the largest industry in North Carolina and one of the most important in the South naval stores production In a pathbreaking study that seamlessly weaves together business environmental labor and social history Robert B Outland III offers the first complete account of this sizable though little understood sector of the southern economy Outland traces the South s naval stores industry from its colonial origins to the mid twentieth century when it was supplanted by the rising chemicals industry A horror for workers and a scourge to the Southeast s pine forests the methods and consequences of this expansive enterprise remained virtually unchanged for more than two centuries An important part of the timber products trade naval stores were originally used primarily in shipbuilding and maintenance Over the course of the nineteenth century these products came to be used in myriad ways including in the manufacture of paint thinner soap and a widely popular lamp oil and demand soared In response North Carolina producers enlarged their operations and expanded throughout the Southeast especially into Georgia and Florida but the short term economic development they initiated ultimately contributed to long term underdevelopment Outland vividly describes the primitive harvest and production methods that eventually destroyed the very trees the trade relied upon forcing operators to relocate every few years He introduces the many different people involved in the industry from the wealthy owner to the powerless worker and explores the reliance on forced labor slavery before the Civil War and afterwards debt peonage and convict leasing He demonstrates how the isolated forest environment created harsh working and living conditions making the life of a turpentine hand and his family exceedingly difficult With an exacting attention to detail and exhaustive research Outland offers not only the first definitive history of the naval stores industry but also a fresh interpretation of the socioeconomic development of the piney woods South Tapping the Pines is an essential volume for anyone interested in the region
