The Indomitable Lady Doctors:

The Indomitable Lady Doctors Carlotta Hacker, 1974 The Indomitable Lady Doctors Hacker, Carlotta, 1984-01-01

Meet a dozen fascinating women pioneers in the medical world adventurers who went west with the homesteaders missionaries who went to Tibet China and India scholars the academic community had to recognise The medical establishment in Canada didn't accept these women doctors easily and their battles for admittance into this profession are revealing Author Carlotta Hacker presents her biographical profiles in a lively entertaining style Oregon's Doctor to the World Kimberly Jensen, 2012-12-01 Esther Clayson Pohl Lovejoy whose long life stretched from 1869 to 1967 challenged convention from the time she was a young girl Her professional life began as one of Oregon's earliest women physicians and her commitment to public health and medical relief took her into the international arena where she was chair of the American Women's Hospitals after World War I and the first president of the Medical Women's International Association Most disease suffering and death she believed were the result of wars and social and economic inequities and she was determined to combat those conditions through organized action Lovejoy's early life and career in the Pacific Northwest gave her key experiences and strategies to use for what she termed constructive resistance the ability to take effective action against unjust power She took a political and pragmatic approach to what she called woman's big job achieving a full female citizenship and emphasized the importance of votes for women In this engaging biography Kimberly Jensen tells the story of this important western woman exploring her approach to politics health and society and her civic economic and medical activism Watch the book trailer <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=blyfLWnCTV0> Feminized Justice Amanda

Glasbeek, 2010-07-01 In 1913 Toronto launched an experiment in feminist ideals a woman's police court The court offered a separate venue to hear cases that involved women and became a forum where criminalized women prostitutes vagrants alcoholics and thieves met and struggled with the meaning of justice This multifaceted portrait of the court's business and its people from its inception by middle class maternal feminists to its demise in 1934 from the repeat offender to its controversial magistrate Margaret Patterson reveals the experiment's fundamental contradiction The court was both a site for feminist adaptations of justice and a court empowered to punish the women who appeared on its docket Feminized Justice sheds new light on maternal feminist politics women and crime and the role of resistance agency and experience in the justice system

The Fate of Anatomical Collections Rina Knoeff, Robert Zwijnenberg, 2016-03-09 Almost every medical faculty possesses anatomical and/or pathological collections human and animal preparations wax and other models as well as drawings photographs documents and archives relating to them In many institutions these collections are well preserved but in others they are poorly maintained and rendered inaccessible to medical and other audiences This volume explores the changing status of anatomical collections from the early modern period to date It is argued that anatomical and pathological collections are medically relevant not only for future generations of medical faculty and future research but they are also important in the history of medicine the history of the institutions to which they belong and to the wider understanding of the cultural history of the body Moreover anatomical collections are crucial to new scholarly inter disciplinary studies that investigate the interaction between arts and sciences especially medicine and offer a venue for the study of interactions between anatomists scientists anatomical artists and other groups as well as the display and presentation of natural history and medical cabinets In considering the fate of anatomical collections and the importance of the keeper s decisions with respect to collections this volume will make an important methodological contribution to the study of collections and to discussions on how to preserve universities academic heritage

Ladies in the Laboratory III Mary R. S. Creese, Thomas M. Creese, 2010-02-08 Published in 1998 Ladies in the Laboratory provided a systematic survey and comparison of the work of 19th century American and British women in scientific research A companion volume published in 2004 focused on women scientists from Western Europe In this third volume author Mary R S Creese expands her scope to include the contributions of 19th and early 20th century women of South Africa Australia New Zealand and Canada The women whose lives and work are discussed here range from natural history collectors and scientific illustrators of the early and mid years of the 19th century to the first generation of graduates of the new colonial colleges and universities Rarely acknowledged in publications of the British and European specialists the contributions of these women nonetheless formed a significant part of the natural history information about extensive previously unknown regions and their products Rather than a biographical dictionary or a collection of self contained essays on individuals from many time periods Ladies in the Laboratory III is a connected narrative tied into the wider framework of 19th century science and education A well organized blend of individual life stories and quantitative information this volume is for everyone interested in the story of women s participation in 19th century science The stories of these women make for fascinating reading and serve as a valuable source for the student of women s and colonial history The Canada Year Book, 1975 Canadian Women Shaping Diasporic Religious Identities Becky R. Lee, Terry Tak-ling Woo, 2016-01-01 This collection of essays explores how women from a variety of religious and cultural communities have contributed to the richly textured pluralistic society of Canada Focusing on women s religiosity it examines the ways in which they have carried and conserved and brought forward and transformed their cultures old and new in modern Canada Each essay explores the ways in which the religiosities of women serve as locations for both the assertion and the refashioning of individual and communal identity in transcultural contexts Three shared assumptions guide these essays religion plays a dynamic role in the shaping and reshaping of social cultures women are active participants in their transmission and their transformation and a focus on women s activities within their religious traditions often informal and unofficial provides new perspectives on the intersection of religion gender and transnationalism Since the first European migrations Canada has been shaped by immigrant communities as they negotiated the tension between preserving their religious and cultural traditions and embracing the new opportunities in their adopted homeland Viewing those interactions through the lens of women s religiosity the essays in this collection model an innovative approach and provide new perspectives for students and researchers of Canadian Studies Religious Studies and Women s Studies Tell the Driver Julie Vandervoort, 1992-01-15 A biography of Dr Elinor Black 1905 1982 the first Canadian woman to gain membership in the Royal College of Obstetricians and Gynecologists in London Encyclopedia of Women Social Reformers Helen Rappaport, 2001-12-06 The first comprehensive guide to women activists from every part of the world illuminating the broad range of women s struggles to reform society from the 18th century to the present Despite being marginalized disenfranchised impoverished and oppressed women have always stepped forward in disproportionate numbers to lead movements for social change This two volume encyclopedia documents the visions struggles and lives of women who have changed the world This encyclopedia celebrates the lives and achievements of nearly 300 women from around the globe women who have bravely insisted that the way things are is not the way they have to be Nadeshda Krupskaya the wife of Lenin spearheaded the drive against illiteracy in post revolutionary Russia American Dorothy Day founded the Catholic worker movement Begum Rokeya Hossain organized a girls school in Calcutta in 1911 Rachel Carson launched the modern environmental movement with her book Silent Spring The stories of these women and the hundreds of others collected here will restore missing pages to our history and inspire a new generation of women to change the world Framing Our Past Lorna R McLean, Kate O'Rourke, Sharon Anne Cook, 2001-05-14 With introductory essays by historians Framing Our Past emphasizes the lived experiences of women their participation in many areas of social life such as social rituals with other women organized sporting clubs philanthropic spiritual and aesthetic activities study and reading groups The authors then focus on women s roles as nurturers and keepers of the hearth B their experiences with family management child care and health concerns They consider women s varied contributions within formal and informal educational systems as well as their instrumental political role in consumer activism social work peace movements and royal commissions Canadian women s shaping of health care and science through nursing physiotherapy and research are discussed as is women s work from domestic labour to dressmaking to broadcasting to banking Using diary accounts oral history letters organizational records paintings quilts dressmaking patterns milliners records posters Framing our Past offers a unique opportunity to share what is rarely if ever seen offering insights into the preservation and interpretation of historical sources

Women's Work, Markets and Economic Development in Nineteenth-Century Ontario Marjorie Griffin Cohen, 1988-12-15 Cohen focuses on the productive relations in the family and the significance of women s labour to the process of capital accumulation in both the capitalist sphere and independent commodity production In this study Marjorie Griffin Cohen argues that in research into Ontario s economic history the emphasis on market activity has obscured the most prevalent type of productive relations in the staple exporting economy the patriarchal relations of production within the family economy Cohen focuses on the productive relations in the family and the significance of women s labour to the process of capital accumulation in both the capitalist sphere and independent commodity production She shows that while the family economy was based on the mutual dependence of male and female labour there was not equality in productive relations The male ownership of capital in the context of the family economy had significant implications for the control over female labour Among countries which experience industrial development there are common patterns in the impact of change on women s work there are also significant differences One of the most important of these is the fact that economic development did not result in women s labour being withdrawn from the social sphere of production Rather economic growth has steadily brought women s productive efforts more directly into the market sphere In exploring the roots of this development Cohen adds a new dimension to the study of women s labour history Dictionary of Canadian Biography / Dictionnaire Biographique Du Canada Ramsay Cook, Jean Hamelin, 1966 Internet version contains all the information in the 14 volume print and CD ROM versions fully searchable by keyword or by browsing the name index No Man's Land Wendy Moore, 2020-04-28 The absorbing and powerful Wall Street Journal story of two pioneering suffragette doctors who shattered social expectations and transformed modern medicine during World War I A month after war broke out in 1914 doctors Flora Murray and Louisa Garrett Anderson set out for Paris where they opened a hospital in a luxury hotel and treated hundreds of casualties plucked from France s battlefields Although prior to the war and the Spanish flu female doctors were restricted to treating women and children Flora and Louisa's work was so successful that the British Army asked them to set up a hospital in the heart of London Nicknamed the Suffragettes Hospital Endell Street soon became known for its lifesaving treatments In No Man's Land Wendy Moore illuminates this turbulent moment of global war and pandemic when women were for the first time allowed to operate on men Their fortitude and brilliance serve as powerful reminders of what women can achieve against all odds
