The Inspirations Of Tao Zhu Gong Modern Business Lessons From An Ancient Past Paperback:

The Inspirations of Tao Tzu-gong Chow Hou Wee, 2001 This volume discusses the 12 business principles of Tao Zhu gong and relates them to today's corporate setting. They state 12 vital abilities needed to succeed in business. Ranging from handling customers and employees to managing a company and its products to making business decisions, the principles cover most of the areas necessary for a business to develop. These 12 principles date back more than 2 000 years. Even so, they are still of great significance as they deal with the universal and age-old complexities of running a business. Wee demonstrates their relevance to any business size, from sundry shops to international corporations to dot-com companies. Tao Zhu gong was a great military strategist who resigned from the position of Prime Minister to become a businessman. Using what he had learnt from his military days, he accumulated a fortune that would be equivalent in modern terms to that of Bill Gates's. In his lifetime, Tao Zhu gong developed these 12 principles, which are unfortunately not only unknown to the western world but to many Chinese as well. Whether in the east or the west, every businessman will have much insight to gain from the 12 business principles of Tao.

Asian Firms Frank B. Tipton, 2008-01-01 This book appeals to a wide range of readers who might be interested in the historical development of Asian economies, evolutionary trajectories of Asian firms, institutional change and dynamics in Asia, and management and organization of Asian firms. For readers who are interested in specific Asian economies, this book will also be useful because it provides a comparative perspective that examines different Asian economies and their forms in a single work. Henry Wai chung Yeung, National University of Singapore. Tipton provides a fresh approach to understand how Asian firms differ from their western counterparts. Paul Beamish, University of Western Ontario, Canada. Frank Tipton's book is a comparative study of the management structures of Asian firms. As Asian economies continue to expand, the management of Asian firms becomes ever more important, whether they are suppliers, customers, partners, or rivals. As the author argues, Asian firms are very different from their Western counterparts, and these differences reflect the variations in national history and institutions within which they operate. Asian Firms compares Chinese, Japanese, Korean, and Southeast Asian management structures and sets them in their historical and institutional context. Based on a wide range of interviews and material drawn from a variety of disciplines, the argument is framed by the sayings of the legendary strategist Sun Tzu and the renowned businessman Tao Zhu gong. A series of case studies illustrate the strengths and weaknesses of the approaches of managers in each of the national traditions. Asian Firms asks, in each case, what Western managers can learn from Asian firms and what Asian firms can learn from each other. With a multidisciplinary approach and emphasis on practical lessons and tools, the book will be of great use and interest for managers. It will also appeal to students and researchers of international business, postgraduate management students in courses with a comparative or Asian emphasis, as well as academics and researchers of Asian studies.
