The Collected Poems of Marsden Hartley, 1904-1943 Marsden Hartley, 1987      Repression and Recovery Cary Nelson, 1989 A poststructuralist literary history Nelson's premise that the history of modernist culture is one we no longer know we have forgotten and he aims to recover the political questions many forgotten modern poets looked straight in the eye      Marsden Hartley Townsend Ludington, 1998 A penetrating biography Ludington offers a psychological portrait of an intense contradictory scornful but gentle man who transcended his nineteenth century roots in Lewiston Maine to view Europe as his home and to make a distinctive contribution to modernism Kirkus Reviews Drawing on Hartley's letters and other writings as well as on the correspondence and reminiscences of the artist's friends Ludington traces the restless career of the painter Hartley had troubled friendships with some of the most important artists and writers of his day Gertrude Stein William Carlos Williams Fairfield Porter Eugene O'Neill Georgia O'Keeffe and others His relationship with Alfred Stieglitz who supported him financially and exhibited his work runs like a leitmotif through the book and indicates Hartley's character demanding touchy often ungrateful but also compelling This frank and unsentimental account of a life of contradictions and paradoxes returns one to the artist's paintings with a fresh eye Publishers Weekly Marsden Hartley 1877 1943 had a virtually unique role as a modernist painter He was notable not only for his powerful canvases but for his poetry and essays Townsend Ludington's astute portrait of the artist focuses upon his cosmopolitan sensibility in a generation melding modern art with an American tradition of mystical idealism Ludington views Hartley as an essential American artist embarked on a spiritual odyssey Robert Taylor Boston Globe      Marsden Hartley's Maine Donna M. Cassidy, Elizabeth Finch, Randall R. Griffey, 2017-03-13 Marsden Hartley had a lifelong personal and aesthetic engagement with Maine where he was born in 1877 and where he died at age sixty six As an important member of the artistic circle promoted by Alfred Stieglitz Hartley began his career by painting the mountains of western Maine He subsequently led a peripatetic life traveling throughout Europe and North America and only occasionally visiting his native state By midlife however his itinerant existence had taken an emotional toll and he confided to Stieglitz that he wanted so earnestly a place to be Finally returning to the state in his later years he transformed his identity from urbane sophisticate to the painter from Maine But while Maine has played a clear and defining role in Hartley's art not until now has this relationship been studied with the breadth and richness it warrants p p1 margin 0 0px 0 0px 0 0px font 14 0px Verdana Marsden Hartley's Maine is the first in depth discussion of Hartley's complex and shifting relationship to his native state Illustrated with works from throughout the painter's career it provides a nuanced understanding of Hartley's artistic range from the exhilarating Post Impressionist landscapes of his early years to the late roughly rendered paintings of Maine and its people The absorbing essays examine Hartley's view of Maine as a place of light and darkness whose spirit imbued his art which encompassed buoyant coastal views mournful mountain vistas and portraits of Mainers An illustrated chronology provides an overview of Hartley's life juxtaposing major personal incidents with concurrent events in Maine's history. For Hartley, who was strongly influenced by such artists as Paul Cézanne, Winslow Homer, and Albert Pinkham Ryder, Maine was an enduring source of inspiration, one powerfully intertwined with his past, his cultural milieu, and his desire to create a regional expression of American modernism. Marsden Hartley Wadsworth Atheneum Museum of Art, Hartford, Connecticut, Marsden Hartley, Elizabeth Mankin Kornhauser, Ulrich Birkmaier, Patricia McDonnell, 2002-01-01. Marsden Hartley 1877-1943 was a painter, poet, writer, and pioneer of American modernism. Born in Lewiston, Maine, he lived a peripatetic life working in Paris, Berlin, New York, Mexico, New Mexico, Bermuda, and elsewhere before returning to Maine in 1934. This superbly illustrated book encompasses the extraordinary range and depth of Hartley's creative output. Some one hundred and five of his works, landscapes, still lifes, portraits, and abstract paintings, demonstrate the visual power for which Hartley gained acclaim, as well as the development of his art over the course of his thirty-five year career. The book gathers together the most recent scholarship on Hartley's work, discussing such topics as the artist's working methods, his self-portraits, the influence of Cézanne on his work, and Hartley's attitudes toward Native Americans. A chronology of his life is included, and each painting is accompanied by a full catalogue entry. This book also serves as the catalogue of an exhibition organized by the Wadsworth Atheneum Museum of Art and traveling to the Phillips Collection, Washington, D.C., and the Nelson Atkins Museum of Art, Kansas City. BOOK JACKET Title Summary field provided by Blackwell North America, Inc. All Rights Reserved. A Strange Mixture Sascha T. Scott, 2015-01-21. Attracted to the rich ceremonial life and unique architecture of the New Mexico pueblos, many early twentieth-century artists depicted Pueblo peoples, places, and culture in paintings. These artists' encounters with Pueblo Indians fostered their awareness of Native political struggles and led them to join with Pueblo communities to champion Indian rights. In this book, art historian Sascha T. Scott examines the ways in which non-Pueblo and Pueblo artists advocated for American Indian cultures by confronting some of the cultural, legal, and political issues of the day. Scott closely examines the work of five diverse artists, exploring how their art was shaped by and helped to shape Indian politics. She places the art within the context of the interwar period, 1915-30, a time when federal Indian policy shifted away from forced assimilation and toward preservation of Native cultures. Through careful analysis of paintings by Ernest L. Blumenschein, John Sloan, Marsden Hartley, and Awa Tsireh, Alfonso Roybal, Scott shows how their depictions of thriving Pueblo life and rituals promoted cultural preservation and challenged the pervasive romanticizing theme of the vanishing Indian. Georgia O'Keeffe's images of Pueblo dances, which connect abstraction with lived experience, testify to the legacy of these political and aesthetic transformations. Scott makes use of anthropology, history, and indigenous studies in her art historical narrative. She is one of the first scholars to address varied responses to issues of cultural preservation by aesthetically and culturally diverse artists, including Pueblo painters. Beautifully designed, this book features nearly sixty artworks reproduced in full color. Seeking the Spiritual Townsend Ludington, 1998. Marsden Hartley 1877-1943 was a writer and a spiritual seeker, as well as a distinguished American painter.

In his introduction to this generously illustrated volume Townsend Ludington explores the relationships among Hartley's art, poetry, and essays. He traces the philosophical and literary sources that nourished the artist's evolving spiritual consciousness. Raised in Lewiston, Maine, Hartley felt at odds with life. A voracious reader, he educated himself and became enamored of the transcendentalists Ralph Waldo Emerson and Henry David Thoreau, and particularly of Walt Whitman. He began spending winters in New York City where he met and was befriended by Alfred Stieglitz. He visited Europe but remained restless for the right physical environment. Eventually returning to New England, Hartley painted in Dogtown, Massachusetts, in the low hills behind the port of Gloucester, and the stark landscape there stimulated some of his most famous paintings. Throughout his career, Hartley painted landscapes and seascapes in which he tried to convey his sense of the wonder of earth at the same time attempting to articulate the spiritual awareness that came to him in the magic of dreams. Consciously representative of modernism, Hartley strove to express as Wallace Stevens said, not ideas about the thing but the thing itself. He believed that the acts of reading, writing, and painting gave significance to the world accessible to his senses. This book is published with the cooperation of the Ackland Museum in Chapel Hill, North Carolina, and the Babcock Galleries in New York City.

The Lincoln Enigma Gabor Boritt, 2001-02-08 In The Lincoln Enigma, Gabor Boritt invites renowned Lincoln scholars and rising new voices to take a look at much debated aspects of Lincoln's life, including his possible gay relationships, his plan to send blacks back to Africa, and his high-handed treatment of the Constitution. Boritt explores Lincoln's proposals that looked to a lily-white America. Jean Baker marvels at Lincoln's loves and marriage. David Herbert Donald compares Lincoln and Jefferson Davis as Commanders in Chief. Douglas Wilson shows us the young Lincoln, not the strong leader of popular history, but a man who struggles to find his purpose. Gerald Prokopowicz searches for the military leader William C. Harris for the peacemaker, and Robert Bruce meditates on Lincoln and death. In a final section, Boritt and Harold Holzer offer a fascinating portfolio of Lincoln images in modern art. Acute and thought-provoking in their observations, this all-star cast of historians, including two Pulitzer and three Lincoln Prize winners, questions our assumptions of Lincoln and provides a new vitality to our ongoing reflections on his life and legacy.

Somehow a Past Marsden Hartley, 1997 Marsden Hartley (1877-1943) is best known as an American modernist and pioneering artist and writer of the early 20th century. This autobiographical account of his life is the most revealing document he left about his personal life and relationships but has never been published before. SOMEHOW A PAST is compelling both as historical document and as personal narrative. 45 illustrations.

Native American Representations Gretchen M. Bataille, 2001-12-01 Profiles the teacher who died with the NASA crew when the Challenger exploded in 1986 and describes the various ways her enthusiasm for learning and exploration, determination to teach children, and love of life continue all over the world.

Matter, Magic, and Spirit David Murray, 2013-04-23 The spiritual and religious beliefs and practices of Native Americans and African Americans have long been sources of fascination and curiosity owing to their marked difference from the religious traditions of white writers and researchers. Matter, Magic, and Spirit

explores the ways religious and magical beliefs of Native Americans and African Americans have been represented in a range of discourses including anthropology comparative religion and literature Though these beliefs were widely dismissed as primitive superstition and inferior to higher religions like Christianity distinctions were still made between the supposed spiritual capacities of the different groups David Murray's analysis is unique in bringing together Indian and African beliefs and their representations First tracing the development of European ideas about both African fetishism and Native American primitive belief he goes on to explore the ways in which the hierarchies of race created by white Europeans coincided with hierarchies of religion as expressed in the developing study of comparative religion and folklore through the nineteenth century Crucially this comparative approach to practices that were dismissed as conjure or black magic or Indian medicine points as well to the importance of their cultural and political roles in their own communities at times of destructive change Murray also explores the ways in which Indian and African writers later reformulated the models developed by white observers as demonstrated through the work of Charles Chesnutt and Simon Pokagon and then in the later conjunctions of modernism and ethnography in the 1920s and 1930s through the work of Zora Neale Hurston Zitkala Sa and others Later sections demonstrate how contemporary writers including Ishmael Reed and Leslie Silko deal with the revaluation of traditional beliefs as spiritual resources against a background of New Age spirituality and postmodern conceptions of racial and ethnic identity
