Murden, strategic studies and international affairs. Britannia Royal Naval College examines how the remorseless march of the globalized Western hegemony is changing Muslim politics and culture and how Muslim peoples are reacting to it. After critically examining the West's cultural discourse about Islam, he discusses the way that the U.S. projects military power in the Middle East and looks at varying responses by Muslim states and Islamic activists. Islamic engagement with the global economic order is also explored. The tensions between Islamists and authoritarian secular states is examined with special attention paid to the democratization attempts taking place in Iran. Finally, the possibilities for the Islamic countries to push counterhegemonic plans is negatively evaluated. Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc. Mediterranean Security Into the Coming Millennium Stephen Blank, 1999. The papers included in this volume represent just such an effort to lay a firmer foundation for this continuing dialogue and to bring together different points of view. In October 1998, the Strategic Studies Institute, assisted by Pepperdine University, assembled a distinguished group of analysts from the United States, Europe and the Middle East in Florence, Italy. At a conference titled 'Mediterranean Security into the Coming Millennium', the task of the participants was to address current regional security issues in the Balkans, Middle East and the Aegean, as well as the perceptions of the individual states, the relevant security organizations (NATO and the European Union) and the players and major external actors like the United States and Russia. These papers cover the many areas discussed at the conference and should advance the debate on Mediterranean security both in the United States and abroad.
