The Commercial Space Age Andrew M. Thorpe, 2003-05 The Commercial Space Station Andrew M.

Thorpe, 2007-08-28 By 2016 the International Space Station will face retirement What then When colonizing space NASA blazes the trails but private industry must build the roads For common citizens to inhabit space there must be a station in near Earth orbit only 400 miles high where dedicated commercial activities can take place It will be a hub of commerce where industrial scientists can perform chemistry and biology tourists can have lavish vacations solar power stations can be built and serviced and where satellites can be tested and deployed This is now within the grasp of several businesses that are determined to see this vision through The commercialization of low Earth orbit can free NASA and the other space agencies around the world to colonize the Moon and Mars In fact these agencies will be some of the first customers on an industrial facility in space The commercial space station can be the crucible from which a new economy is forged where better medicines cleaner energy sources stronger materials and wider human experiences can be realized These space stations are being deployed now They will do practical useful things in space for the common good of taxpayers They will be new tools in the fight to solve medical and environmental problems to come And they will provide jobs and tax revenue The 21st century will be an industrial space century where average citizens can participate as entrepreneurs or customers The Rise of

Security and Stability in the New Space Age Brad Townsend, 2020-07-12 This book examines the drivers behind great power security competition in space to determine whether realistic strategic alternatives exist to further militarization Space is an area of increasing economic and military competition This book offers an analysis of actions and events indicative of a growing security dilemma in space which is generating an intensifying arms race between the US China and Russia It explores the dynamics behind a potential future war in space and investigates methods of preventing an arms race from an international relations theory and military strategy standpoint The book is divided into three parts the first section offers a broad discussion of the applicability of international relations theory to current conditions in space the second is a direct application of theory to the space environment to determine whether competition or cooperation is the optimal strategic choice the third section focuses on testing the hypotheses against reality by analyzing novel alternatives to three major categories of space systems The volume concludes with a study of the practical limitations of applying a strategy centered on commercialization as a method of defusing the orbital security dilemma This book will be of interest to students of space power strategic studies and international relations

Ottoman Seapower and Levantine Diplomacy in the Age of Discovery Palmira Johnson Brummett,1994-01-01 This work reframes sixteenth century history incorporating the Ottoman empire more thoroughly into European Asian and world history It analyzes the Ottoman Empire s expansion eastward in the contexts of claims to universal sovereignty Levantine power politics and the struggle for control of the oriental trade Challenging the notion that the sixteenth century Ottoman Empire was merely a reactive economic entity driven by the impulse to territorial conquest Brummett portrays it as inheritor of Euro Asian trading networks and participant in the contest for commercial hegemony from Genoa and Venice to the Indian Ocean Brummett shows that the development of seapower was crucial to this endeavor enabling the Ottomans to subordinate both Venice and the Mamluk kingdom to dependency relationships and providing the Ottoman ruling class access to commercial investment and wealth
