Mythologized as the era of the good war and the Greatest Generation the 1940s are frequently understood as a more heroic uncomplicated time in American history Yet just below the surface a sense of dread alienation and the haunting specter of radical evil permeated American art and literature Writers returned home from World War II and gave form to their disorienting experiences of violence and cruelty They probed the darkness that the war opened up and confronted bigotry existential guilt ecological concerns and fear about the nature and survival of the human race In Facing the Abyss George Hutchinson offers readings of individual works and the larger intellectual and cultural scene to reveal the 1940s as a period of profound and influential accomplishment Facing the Abyss examines the relation of aesthetics to politics the idea of universalism and the connections among authors across racial ethnic and gender divisions Modernist and avant garde styles were absorbed into popular culture as writers and artists turned away from social realism to emphasize the process of artistic creation Hutchinson explores a range of important writers from Saul Bellow and Mary McCarthy to Richard Wright and James Baldwin African American and Jewish novelists critiqued racism and anti-Semitism women writers pushed back on the misogyny unleashed during the war and authors such as Gore Vidal and Tennessee Williams reflected a new openness in the depiction of homosexuality The decade also witnessed an awakening of American environmental and ecological consciousness Hutchinson argues that despite the individualized experiences depicted in these works a common belief in art s ability to communicate the universal in particulars united the most important works of literature and art during the 1940s Hutchinson s capacious view of American literary and cultural history masterfully weaves together a wide range of creative and intellectual expression into a sweeping new narrative of this pivotal decade Bookseller and Stationer ,1922 Pets Are a Pleasure Malcolm D. Welshman,2020-02-28 This novel is the fourth in the Pets in a Pickle series and describes the antics of young vet Paul Mitchell now in his second year at Prospect House the veterinary hospital as he continues to tackle an endless variety of pets and clients There s an escaped griffon vulture which terrorised staff in the garden A bouquet of roses for Beryl the receptionist in which lurks a venomous frog Dealings with Dave the chameleon And on the way to treat one of the Stockwells cows Paul is confronted by Boris their amorous bull who has escaped and now blocks the lane Meanwhile in the practice cottage Willow Wren he and his fianc the junior nurse Lucy raise an orphaned fox cub curb the roamings of a randy cockerel and cope with marauding badgers and the sighting of a possible lion Fans of the earlier books will relish this opportunity to delve into more zany encounters deftly written with the self depreciating humour that characterises Malcolm s style Furry Tales Fred Patten,2019-09-26 Tales featuring anthropomorphic animals have been around as long as there have been storytellers to spin them from Aesop s Fables to Reynard the Fox to Alice in Wonderland The genre really took off following the explosion of furry fandom in the 21st century with talking animals featuring in everything from science fiction to fantasy to LGBTQ coming out stories In his lifetime Fred Patten 1940 2018 one of the founders of furry fandom and a scholar of anthropomorphic animal literature authored hundreds of book reviews that comprise a comprehensive critical survey of the genre This selected compilation provides an overview from 1784 through the 2010s covering such popular novels as Watership Down and Redwall along with forgotten gems like The Stray Lamb and Where the Blue Begins and science fiction works like Sundiver and Decision at Doona The Bookseller ,1902 Vols for 1871 76 1913 14 include an extra number The Christmas bookseller separately paged and not included in the consecutive numbering of the regular series
