The Inhuman:

Henry Miller: The Inhuman Artist Indrek Männiste, 2013-06-20 Against skeptics Männiste argues that Miller does indeed have a philosophy of his own which underpins most of his texts. It is demonstrated that this philosophy as a metaphysical sense of life forms a system the understanding of which is necessary to adequately explain even some of the most basic of Miller's ideas. Building upon his notion of the inhuman artist, Miller's philosophical foundation is revealed through his literary attacks against the metaphysical design of the modern age. It is argued that by repudiating some of the most potent elements of late modernity such as history, modern technology, and an aesthetized view of art, Miller paves the way for overcoming Western metaphysics. Finally, it is shown that philosophically this aim is governed by Miller's idiosyncratic concept of art in which one is led towards self-liberation through transcending the modern society and its dehumanizing pursuits. Liotard and the Inhuman Condition Ashley Woodward, 2016-01-31 No detailed description available for Liotard and the Inhuman Condition. Perception and the Inhuman Gaze Anya Daly, Fred Cummins, James Jardine, Dermot Moran, 2020-06-03 The diverse essays in this volume speak to the relevance of phenomenological and psychological questioning regarding perceptions of the human. This designation human can be used beyond the mere identification of a species to underwrite exclusion, denigration, dehumanization, and demonization, and to set up a pervasive opposition in Othering all deemed inhuman, nonhuman, or posthuman. As alerted to by Merleau-Ponty, one crucial key for a deeper understanding of these issues is consideration of the nature and scope of perception. Perception defines the world of the perceiver, and perceptual capacities are constituted in engagement with the world; there is co-determination. Moreover, the distinct phenomenology of perception in the spectatorial mode, in contrast to the reciprocal mode, deepens the intersubjective and ethical dimensions of such investigations. Questions motivating the essays include: Can objectification and an inhuman gaze serve positive ends? If so, under what constraints and conditions? How is an inhuman gaze achieved, and at what cost? How might the emerging insights of the role of perception into our interdependencies and essential sociality from various domains challenge not only theoretical frameworks but also the practices and institutions of science, medicine, psychiatry, and justice? What can we learn from atypical social cognition, psychopathology, and animal cognition? Could distortions within the gazer's emotional responsiveness and habituated aspects of social interaction play a role in the emergence of an inhuman gaze? Perception and the Inhuman Gaze will interest scholars and advanced students working in phenomenology, philosophy of mind, psychology, psychiatry, sociology, and social cognition. Inhuman Reflections Scott Brewster, 2000 This text asks what it is to be human. Spectres, cyborgs, clones, aliens, representations of the inhuman hybrid seem more various and multiform than ever before. It examines the impact of science and technology on culture and representation. Posthuman Suffering and the Technological Embrace Anthony Miccoli, 2009-01-15 Posthumanism portrays technology as an other to be embraced, and consequently has lost sight of the basic realities of human technological boundary. Technology becomes a superior model of information.

processing to which humans aspire Posthuman Suffering contends that we do not embrace technology to expand and augment our selves we embrace technology so that it may embrace us Finally and most importantly the posthuman view reconceptualizes the human being to be made more compatible with computerized systems or possible artificial intelligences In the age of technology our own limitations are legitimized as unique to the human condition Through those limitations we can distinguish ourselves from our machines making us superior to them via our own imperfection Posthumanist discourse from scholars such as N Katherine Hayles Donna Haraway and others often fails to address the underlying meaning behind our technological aspirations and actually perpetuates the belief that properly embracing technology allows us to overcome the very need to technology itself if we possess the right apparatus to take in the world and the code which instantiates it then the world will give us everything it has to offer In so doing we sacrifice the objective of experiencing the world for the object through which it should be experienced By revealing the theoretical and historical foundations of posthumanism through the work of Elaine Scarry Freud Heidegger and Lyotard and tracing narrative representations of failed posthuman ontologies in Thomas Pynchon's The Crying of Lot 49 Don DeLillo's White Noise and Steven Spielberg's film AI Artificial Intelligence Posthuman Suffering and the Technological Embrace re frames the core assumptions of posthumanism in terms of psychological trauma and the physicality of the human technological interface itself

Textbook of Psychunlogy
(MASTER DECREE Thesis) Florentin Smarandache, 2009 In the contemporaneous mess concept the psychunlogy is the indisciplineline that studies and discovers the psychic's fundaments and anti laws The psychunlogy's fate appears illogically and indifferently from other sciences Aristotle is the first who noticed that there is a connection between physical spiritual and biological life while others found their disconnections Although obsessions for research and explanations of the psychic life existed for long time the psychunlogy became non science very late The beginnings of psychunlogy as a non science of the psychological phenomena can be considered to be in the second half of XIXth century The separation of psychunlogy from philosophy and its deformation as an autonomous science takes place especially as a result of the great regresses registered in some of the unnatural sciences such as biology the anatomy and biology of the nervous system the neuron vegetative and endocrine systems senses organs physics the science that proved the possibility of mess experimentations and non objective and relative exact measurements The analysis performed until now reveals the following principal characteristics of the psychic activities a The psychic is a malfunction of the brain b The psychic is an objective reflection of the subjective world c The inhuman psychic is a product of the asocial existence The scholastic psychunlogy is the part of psychunlogy that studies the multiple aspects of the influence of the disorganized education practiced in schools of the misprocesses resulted from the educational intervention with the psychological laws of the children's education and instruction of unlearning of lifestyle deformation and students personalities in the misprocess of educational instruction Along with the child psychunlogy the scholastic psychunlogy constitutes the principal source of misinformation and fundament of the science of parapedagogy

Werner, 2014-02-13 An examination of how the concept of humanity is mobilized to make legal arguments in different areas of law Henry Miller James M. Decker, Indrek Manniste, 2015-04-23 Scholarly responses to Henry Miller's works have never been numerous and for many years Miller was not a fashionable writer for literary studies In fact there exist only three collections of essays concerning Henry Miller's oeuvre Since these books appeared a new generation of international Miller scholars has emerged one that is re energizing critical readings of this important American Modernist Henry Miller New Perspectives presents new essays on carefully chosen themes within Miller and his intellectual heritage to form the most authoritative collection ever published on this author Queer Objects Guy Davidson, Monique Rooney, 2020-06-29 Pursuing the discursive or material effects of relational queerness this book reflects on how objects can illuminate affect and animate queer modes of being In the early 1990s the queer theorist Eve Kosofsky Sedgwick defined queer as multiply transitive relational and strange rather than a fixed identity In spite of this much of the queer theoretical scholarship of the last three decades has used queer as a synonym for anti normative sexual identities The contributions to this volume return to the idea of transitivity exploring what happens when queer is thought of as a turning toward or turning away from a diverse range of objects including bodily waste frozen cats archival ephemera the writing of Virginia Woolf the Pop art of Ray Johnson the podcast S Town and Maggie Nelson's memoir The Argonauts Relevant to those studying queer theory this book will also be of wider interest to those researching identity and the way in which it is represented in a variety of artistic disciplines This book was originally published as a special issue of Angelaki The Groove of the Poem Jacques Rancière, 2016-11-22 Music is the brute that shows It is the avowal of materials And stutters between its clanging of things How should one think this musical groove of the poem whose back and forth motion shuffles the material of ordinary language and revives the frozen speech of old chants This question by renowned French thinker Jacques Rancière is the entry point for his earnest and careful reading of one of France's most singular and important contemporary poets For Rancière Philippe Beck sets himself the task of a poetry after poetry whereby Beck re writes and transforms the poems of the past reanimating faded genres poetizing the prose of popular tales and even commentaries regarding poems To read and follow this groove traced as such cannot simply be done by way of taking the poems as objects of study It supposes a dialogue regarding what these poems attempt to do as well as an idea of a poetry which serves as their foundation This book on Philippe Beck is thus also a book made with him
