Handbook of Social Support and the Family Gregory R. Pierce, I.G. Sarason, 2013-06-29 While insights sometimes are slow in coming they often seem obvious when they finally arrive This handbook is an outcome of the insight that the topics of social support and the family are very closely linked Obvious as this might seem the fact remains that the literatures dealing with social support and the family have been deceptively separate and distinct For example work on social support began in the 1970s with the accumulation of evidence that social ties and social integration play important roles in health and personal adjustment Even though family members are often the key social supporters of individuals relatively little research of social support was targeted on family interactions as a path to specifying supporter processes It is now recognized that one of the most important features of the family is its role in providing the individual with a source of support and acceptance Fortunately in recent years the distinctness and separateness of the fields of social support and the family have blurred This handbook provides the first collation and integration of social support and family research This integration calls for specifying processes such as the cognitions associated with poor support availability and unrewarding family constellations and factors such as cultural differences in family life and support provision that are pertinent to integration

Support Networks in a Caring Community J.A. Yoder, J.M.L. Jonker, R.A.B. Leaper, 2012-12-06 The historic Binnenhof seat of the Dutch government in The Hague provided the setting January 1985 for a conference in which participants from eleven countries met to consider the theme Support networks in a caring community research and policy fact and fiction At the outset conference leadership provided by Professors J M L Jonker The Netherlands and R A B Leaper United Kingdom urged the conferees not to allow their enthusiasm for informal support networks to combine with the pervasive awareness of the failures of welfare states into a simplistic stance of advocacy with a consequent appeal to politicians to direct state funds accordingly Legitimate criticisms of the responses of welfare states to the needs of citizens were to be seen as the context for discussion not the substance of conference deliberations More specifically if it is now apparent to many people that governmental assistance of individuals with social needs can lead to an undesirable dependency on the part of increasingly passive citizens that awareness does not lend logical support to an ideological position that governmental expenditures are pernicious per se to be replaced as rapidly as possible by a return to reliance on self family friends and associations that are developed voluntarily and financed by those who are sufficiently interested
