Social Problems/Quality Life 5E Im Robert H. Lauer, 1992-01-01 Measures of Personality and Social Psychological Constructs Gregory J. Boyle, Donald H. Saklofske, Gerald Matthews, 2014-09-04

Measures of Personality and Social Psychological Constructs assists researchers and practitioners by identifying and reviewing the best scales measures for a variety of constructs. Each chapter discusses test validity, reliability, and utility. Authors have focused on the most often used and cited scales measures with a particular emphasis on those published in recent years. Each scale is identified and described; the sample on which it was developed is summarized, and reliability and validity data are presented, followed by presentation of the scale in full or in part where such permission has been obtained. Measures fall into five broad groups. The emotional disposition section reviews measures of general affective tendencies and/or cognitive dispositions closely linked to emotion. These measures include hope and optimism, anger and hostility, life satisfaction, self-esteem, confidence, and affect dimensions. Emotion regulation scales go beyond general dispositions to measure factors that may contribute to understanding and managing emotions. These measures include alexithymia, empathy, resiliency, coping, sensation seeking, and ability and trait emotional intelligence. The interpersonal styles section introduces some traditional social psychological themes in the context of personality assessment. These measures include adult attachment concerns with public image and social evaluation and forgiveness. The vices and virtues section reflects adherence to moral standards as an individual characteristic shaped by sociocultural influences and personality. These measures include values and moral personality, religiosity, dark personalities, Machiavellianism, narcissism, and subclinical psychopathy and perfectionism. The sociocultural interaction and conflict section addresses relationships between different groups and associated attitudes. These measures include cross-cultural values, personality and beliefs, intergroup contact, stereotyping, and prejudice, attitudes towards sexual orientation, and personality across cultures. Encompasses 25 different areas of psychology research. Each scale has validity, reliability, info on test bias, etc. Multiple scales discussed for each construct. Discussion of which scales are appropriate in which circumstances and to what populations. Examples of scales included.

 Council,Commission on Life Sciences,Institute of Medicine,National Cancer Policy Board,1999-07-21 We all want to believe that when people get cancer they will receive medical care of the highest quality Even as new scientific breakthroughs are announced though many cancer patients may be getting the wrong care too little care or too much care in the form of unnecessary procedures How close is American medicine to the ideal of quality cancer care for every person with cancer Ensuring Quality Cancer Care provides a comprehensive picture of how cancer care is delivered in our nation from early detection to end of life issues The National Cancer Policy Board defines quality care and recommends how to monitor measure and extend quality care to all people with cancer Approaches to accountability in health care are reviewed What keeps people from getting care The book explains how lack of medical coverage social and economic status patient beliefs physician decision making and other factors can stand between the patient and the best possible care The board explores how cancer care is shaped by the current focus on evidence based medicine the widespread adoption of managed care where services are provided and who provides care Specific shortfalls in the care of breast and prostate cancer are identified A status report on health services research is included Ensuring Quality Cancer Care offers wide ranging data and information in clear context As the baby boomers approach the years when most cancer occurs this timely volume will be of special
