Handbook of Research on Representing Health and Medicine in Modern Media Sarı, Gülşah, 2021-04-02. Traditional and social media are used extensively in terms of public health today. Studies show that social media works much better than other follow up systems leading it to become a modern and somewhat new tool for disease coverage and information discovery. The current state of the representation of health and medicine in the media is an important factor to analyze in the field of health communication especially amidst the onset of a global pandemic. The ways in which the media discusses health, the campaigns that are used and the ethics around this role of media and journalism are defining factors in the spread of information regarding health. The Handbook of Research on Representing Health and Medicine in Modern Media is a crucial reference that discusses health communication within two contexts in terms of the media and journalists presenting critical health information and in terms of media literacy and information retrieval methods of media consumers through modern digital channels. The main purpose of these chapters is the development of critical thinking about health presentations and health communication issues in the media by presenting a discussion of the issues that will contribute to this vital view of health, medicine and diseases in the media. The primary topics highlighted in this book are infectious diseases in the media, campaigning, media ethics, digital platforms such as television and social media in health communication and the media's impact on individuals and society. This book is ideal for journalists, reporters, researchers, practitioners, public health officials, social media analysts, researchers, academicians and students looking for information on how health and medicine are presented in the media, the channels used for information delivery and the impact of the media on health and medicine.

Sleepiness and Human Impact Assessment Sergio Garbarino, Lino Nobili, Giovanni Costa, 2014-04-08. The World Health Organization supports tools and initiatives in Health Impact Assessment to dynamically improve health and well being across different sectors. Human Impact Assessment (HuIA) is a relatively new concept. It describes an integrated process that encompasses both Health Impact Assessment and Social Impact Assessment and is used to anticipate the effects of programs projects and decisions on human health and welfare Sleep occupies approximately one third of our lives but its human impact remains largely unrecognized The prevalence of excessive sleepiness is recognized to be increasing in industrialized societies Without doubt sleepiness and fatigue have high costs in terms of both lives lost and socioeconomic impact For example the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration estimates that up to 4% of all fatal crashes are caused by drowsy drivers and that as many as 100 000 deaths per year in the United States may be due to fatigue related medical errors Sleepiness and Human Impact Assessment provides a uniquely comprehensive exploration of many different facets of sleepiness in our 24 hour society from the new HuIA point of view Among the covered issues are the physiology and pathophysiology of sleep its relationship to daytime alertness fatigue and drugs the relevance of sleep related fatigue in various occupational settings and public safety This book will be of assistance to physicians occupational health professionals ergonomists researchers and decision makers as they strive to understand the full significance of sleepiness and to create a culture of accountability in everyday life without sleep related risks
