Something Borrowed Something Learned The Transatlantic Market In Education And Training Reform:

Something Borrowed, Something Learned? David Finegold, William Richardson, 1993 Examines how the British government borrowed ideas from the US for education and training reforms during the last years of the Thatcher government Describes the transplanting of magnet schools school choice experiments business education compacts and the federal student loan program Also considers the problems of grafting such innovations onto a different education structure and predicts further interchange in the future The 11 papers are from a July 1990 conference location not noted No index Annotation copyright by Book News Inc Portland OR Resources in Education ,1995 Are Skills the Answer? Colin Crouch, David Finegold, Mari Sako, 2001 This study of vocational education in advanced industrial countries contributes to two different areas of debate The first is the study of the diversity of institutional forms taken by modern capitalism and the difficulties currently surrounding the survival of that diversity Rather than analysing economic institutions and governance in general the authors specifically focus upon the key area of skill creation The second theme is that of vocational education and training in its own right While sharing the consensus that the advanced countries must secure competitive advantage in a global economy by developing highly skilled work forces the authors draw attention to certain awkward aspects of this approach that are often glossed over in general debate 1 The employment generating power of improvements in skill levels is limited employment policy cannot depend fully on education policies 2 While the acquisition of skills has become a major public need there is increasing dependence for their provision on individual firms with government action being restricted to residual care for the unemployed rather than contributing at the leading edge of advanced skills policy Covering France Germany Italy Japan Sweden the UK and the USA this book provides a unique approach to education and training within the broader political and economic environment As such it will appeal to students teachers and practitioners concerned with vocational training human resource management industrial relations and the sociology of the economy International Handbook on Globalisation, Education and Policy Research Joseph Zajda, 2005-03-17 The aim of this Handbook is to present a global overview of developments in education and policy change during the last decade It has the objective of providing both a strategic education policy statement on recent shifts in education and policy research globally and offers new approaches to further exploration development and improvement of education and policy making The Handbook attempts to address some of the above issues and problems confronting educators and policy makers globally Different articles seek to conceptualize the on going problems of education policy formulation and implementation and provide a useful synthesis of the education policy research conducted in different countries and practical implications The Handbook by focusing on such issues as the OECD 2001 model of the knowledge society and associated strategic challenge and deliverable goals OECD 2001 139 UNESCO driven lifelong learning paradigm and its relevance to education policy makers globally different models of policy planning and equity questions that are raised by centralization decentralization diversity uniformity and curriculum standardization issues the crises of educational quality the debate of standards and excellence and good and effective teaching will contribute to a better and more holistic understanding of the education policy and research nexus offering possible strategies for the effective and pragmatic policy planning and implementation at the local regional and national levels

Discourse Formation in Comparative Education Jürgen Schriewer, 2009 New theories and theory based methodological approaches have found their way into Comparative Education just as into Comparative Social Science more generally in increasing number in the recent past The essays of this volume express and critically discuss quite a range of these positions such as inter alia the theory of self organizing social systems and the morphogenetic approach the theory of long waves in economic development and world systems analysis historical sociology and the sociology of knowledge as well as critical hermeneutics and post modernist theorizing With reference to such theories and approaches the chapters written by scholars from Europe the USA and Australia outline alternative research agendas for the comparative study of the social and educational fabric of the modern world In so doing they also expound frames of reference for re considering the intellectual shaping or Discourse Formation of Comparative Education as a field of study Educational Policy and the Politics of Change Miriam Henry,Bob Lingard,Fazal Rizvi,Sandra Taylor,2013-01-11

Governments around the world are trying to come to terms with new technologies new social movements and a changing global economy As a result educational policy finds itself at the centre of a major political struggle between those who see it only for its instrumental outcomes and those who see its potential for human emancipation This book is a successor to the best selling Understanding Schooling 1988 It provides a readable account of how educational policies are developed by the state in response to broader social cultural economic and political changes which are taking place It examines the way in which schools live and work with these changes and the policies which result from them The book examines policy making at each level from perspectives both inside and outside the state bureaucracy It has a particular focus on social justice Both undergraduate and postgraduate students will find that this book enables them to understand the reasoning behind the changes they are expected to implement It will help to prepare them to confront an uncertain educational world whilst still retaining their enthusiasm for education

The Global Politics of Educational Borrowing and Lending Gita Steiner-Khamsi,2004 Steiner Khamsi and her colleagues provide an in depth empirical and critical examination of the practice of global educational policy Contributors question the value of importing and exporting educational policies analyze who benefits from these arrangements and test the effectiveness of adapting one country s policies in other often quite culturally distinct countries An important contribution to comparative studies of education and educational politics From the Foreword by Thomas S Popkewitz Steiner Khamsi has established one of the major centers where cutting edge work is being done on educational borrowing and lending This book provides the richest textual evidence of this work in the context of globalization and I give it my strongest endorsement Val Rust UCLA An illuminating study that provides innovative theoretical insights on the impact of globalization in education Nelly Stromquist University of Southern California Contributors Charles Tilly J rgen Schriewer Carlos Martinez David Phillips Iveta Silova Tali Yariv Mashal Carol Anne Spreen Bernhard T Streitwieser William deJong Lambert Frances Vavrus Thomas F Luschei Dana Burde Phillip W Jones Gita Steiner Khamsi

Second International Handbook on Globalisation, Education and Policy Research Joseph Zajda,2015-01-06 This handbook presents a global overview of developments in education and policy change during the last decade It provides an accessible practical and comparative source of current research that examines the intersecting and diverse discourses of this important issue Divided into two parts the handbook first examines globalisation and education policy reforms including coverage of main trends as well as specific policy issues such as gender equity minorities and human rights Next the handbook offers a comparative perspective that evaluates the ambivalent and problematic relationship between globalisation the state and education reforms globally It features coverage on curricula issues and education reforms in schools around the world as well as the curriculum in the global culture Now more than ever there is a need to understand and analyse both the intended and the unintended effects of globalisation on economic competitiveness educational systems the state and relevant policy changes all as they affect individuals the higher education sector schools policy makers and powerful corporate organisations across the globe By examining some of the major education policy issues particularly in the light of recent shifts in education and policy research this handbook offers readers a comprehensive picture of the impact of globalisation on education policy and reforms It will serve as a vital sourcebook of ideas for researchers practitioners and policy makers in education

The Cross-cultural Transfer of Educational Concepts and Practices Masahiro Tanaka, 2005-05-16 This book analyses comparatively the creation of American and Japanese universities on the model of German universities largely in the late nineteenth century and the reform of German and Japanese universities on the model of American universities after the end of the Second World War The argument is that transferring educational concepts and practices from one cultural context to another involves not merely a transfer but a transformation How and why this transformation occurs is what this book is about More precisely it is suggested that transformation of educational concepts and practices during their cross cultural movement can be understood within a theoretical perspective that is proposed and developed in the book This book is divided into six chapters Chapter One as the introduction analyses several scholars approaches to the aspects of educational transfer then attempts to construct a theoretical perspective for the book on the processes of change in educational concepts and practices during their movement across cultures Chapters Two and Three offer two narratives to investigate how German university concepts and practices were transmuted as a consequence of local actors efforts to import these concepts and practices into Japan and the United States Chapters Four and Five provide another two narratives to examine how American university concepts and practices were altered as a result of American actors attempts to export these concepts and practices to Japan and Germany Chapter Six as the conclusion through reflecting on the four narratives given in the main chapters re examines the ways in which the theoretical perspective of this book is useful to understand the processes of transformation of educational concepts and practices during their movement from one culture to another

Entrepreneurial Education Kristiina Erkkilä, 2000 The study finds that arguments supporting or opposing entrepreneurial education are highly contextual According to the literature studied entrepreneurship education is more directly focused upon small business and entrepreneurship whereas enterprise education is aimed at the development of enterprising behavior skills and attributes not only for business use Furthermore debates on entrepreneurial education are more complex than shown in previous studies The debate in the United States is more diverse and practice driven than those are in the United Kingdom and Finland In addition the discourse of each country has unique categories The book includes suggestions for future research and gives recommendations particularly for Finnish practice which could also benefit other societies just starting their path in entrepreneurial education The study serves as a comprehensive literature source for future interests and research

BOOK JACKET Global Crises, Social Justice, and Education Michael W. Apple, 2009-12-16 Education cannot be understood today without recognizing that nearly all educational policies and practices are strongly influenced by an increasingly integrated international economy Reforms in one country have significant effects in others just as immigration and population tides from one area to another have tremendous impacts on what counts as official knowledge and responsive and effective education But what are the realities of these global crises that so many people are experiencing and how do their effects on education resonate throughout the world Global Crises Social Justice and Education looks into the ways we understand globalization and education by getting specific about what committed educators can do to counter the relations of dominance and subordination around the world From some of the world's leading critical educators and activists this timely new collection provides thorough and detailed analyses of four specific centers of global crisis the United States Japan Israel Palestine and Mexico Each chapter engages in a powerful and critical analysis of what exactly is occurring in these regions and counters with an equally compelling critical portrayal of the educational work being done to interrupt global dominance and subordination Without settling for vague ideas or romantic slogans of hope Global Crises Social Justice and Education offers real concrete examples and strategies that will contribute to ongoing movements and counter hegemonic struggles already active in education today

International Handbook of Comparative Education Robert Cowen, Andreas M. Kazamias, 2009-08-22 A big project like this Handbook means that you incur debts and not only to your authors and your publisher As editors we along with our colleague Elaine Unterhalter who edited the section on postcolonialism would like to thank most warmly those authors who delivered on time and who did not fuss but just got on and did a r rate job We would also like to thank all authors who did deliver which was almost everyone we asked We know that some of our authors worked in very dif cult private circumstances as they were nishing their chapters and we hope the publication of the Volumes will later be for them a happy reminder of dif culties and disasters overcome The only sad theme is that some very close colleagues with whom we were wo ing and for whom we had the greatest respect and liking became very ill and died while the volumes were being prepared We decided to ask for copyright permissions to publish something of theirs These permissions were graciously given by two major journals and with the agreement also of our publishers Springer Rolland Paulston and Terry McLaughlin have examples of their writing in this Handbook

Comparative Inquiry and Educational Policy Making David Phillips, 2007-11-22 Building on an increasingly sophisticated body of research on policy borrowing in education this collection explores ways in which the foreign example in education has been and is being used by policy makers in a variety of settings its principal aim being to assess the usefulness of foreign experience in home contexts

Educational Partnerships and the State: The Paradoxes of Governing Schools, Children, and Families B. Franklin, M. Bloch, T. Popkewitz, 2003-12-18 Educational Partnerships and the State is a compelling collection of essays by an international group of scholars that provides a critical exploration of the role of partnerships in contemporary educational reform. Their focus is on the expanding role that collaboration between the public and private sector has come to play in the governing of schools, children and families in response to an array of worldwide economic and social changes. The contributors to this volume highlight the new relationship between civil society and the state through partnerships and what that linkage has come to mean for an array of educational issues including academic achievement, school governance, school-parent relationships, teacher education, the construction of family and community involvement and the discourses of reform as practices that order participation and action. Lacan and

Education Policy Matthew Clarke, 2019-06-13 Lacan and Education Policy draws on the rich conceptual resources of Lacanian psychoanalysis. Using Lacan's four discourses, Matthew Clarke offers a sophisticated critique of recent education policy and the neoliberal model of political economy within which it sits, including the ways in which education has been diminished and trivialised through the economistic and depoliticising moves of policy. Clarke articulates possibilities for thinking differently about education and education policy beyond the reductive narratives of neoliberalism. He argues that psychoanalytic theory is valuable not so much for allowing us to see what education really is, but for offering insights into what prevents education from being enabling, us to shift our focus instead into the possibilities education offers as a space of becoming. The book suggests possibilities for conceptualising and creating the other side of education. Beyond

McDonaldization Dennis Hayes, 2017-04-19 Beyond McDonaldization provides new concepts of higher education for the twenty-first century in a unique manner, challenging much that is written in mainstream texts. This book undertakes a reassessment of the growth of McDonaldization in higher education by exploring how the application of Ritzer's four features—efficiency, predictability, calculability, and control—has become commonplace. This wide-ranging text discusses arguments surrounding the industrialisation of higher education with case studies and contributions from a wide range of international authors. Written in an accessible style, Beyond McDonaldization examines questions such as: Can we regain academic freedom whilst challenging the McDonaldization of thought and ideas? Is a McDonaldization of every aspect of academic life inevitable? Will the new focus on student experience damage young people? Why is a McDonaldized education living on borrowed time? Is it possible to recreate the university of the past or must we start anew? Does this industrialisation meet the educational needs of developing economies? This book brings international discussions on the changing world of higher education and the theory of McDonaldization together, seeking to provide a positive future vision of higher education. Analysing and situating the discussion of higher education within a wider social, political and cultural context, this ground-breaking text will have a popular appeal with students, academics and educationalists. Post-Education-for-All and Sustainable Development

Paradigm Shoko Yamada, 2016-06-27 This book sheds light on the nexus of driving factors for the paradigm shift based on the chapters on emerging state and nonstate actors and discourse on post-EFA agendas. Special attention will be given to actors in the Asia Pacific region which simultaneously demonstrate diversity and common regional features Education and the Fantasies of Neoliberalism Matthew Clarke, 2021-11-29 Education and the Fantasies of Neoliberalism revitalizes conversations about the nature and purpose of education in a global context characterized by concerns about quality and equity in education reflecting wider economic and political anxieties around declining productivity and social inclusion The book illustrates how Lacanian psychoanalytic theory offers a conceptual vocabulary for exposing and critiquing the fantasmatic nature of policy and practice while foregrounding the tensions and contradictions they seek to conceal Specifically the book draws on ideas of lack fantasy and desire from Lacanian psychoanalytic theory to gain insights into the contentious but disavowed politics of reform in education The book builds on cutting edge work in political and psychoanalytic theory to offer unique insights that challenge and contest the simplistic and often trivializing readings of education in contemporary media and political debates Offering a novel perspective on education policy reform this book will be of great interest to academics researchers and post graduate students in the fields of philosophy of education and educational policy and politics
