Mani Semilla Finds Her Quetzal Voice Anna Laperla,2024-03-05 For fans of Donna Barba Higuera s Lupe Wong Won t

Dance and Aida Salazar's The Moon Within comes a contemporary middle grade novel full of spunk and activist heart BEST OF THE YEAR School Library Journal Booklist New York Public Library Social Justice Books Life sucks when you're twelve. You're not a little kid but you're also not an adult and all the grown-ups in your life talk about your body the minute it starts getting a shape. And what sucks even more than being a Chinese Filipino American Guatemalan who can't speak any ancestral language well. When almost every other girl in school has already gotten her period except for you and your two besties. Manuela Mani Semilla wants two things: To get her period and to thwart her mom's plan of taking her to Guatemala on her thirteenth birthday. If her mom's always going on about how dangerous it is in Guatemala and how much she sacrificed to come to this country then why should Mani even want to visit? But one day up in the attic she finds secret letters between her mom and her Tía Beatriz who according to family lore died in a bus crash before Mani was born. But the letters reveal a different story. Why did her family really leave Guatemala? What will Mani learn about herself along the way? And how can the letters help her to stand up against the culture of harassment at her own school? P R A I S E Anna Lapera expertly voices a young girl's middle school trials but with a voice so unique and heartfelt you will be cringing one moment and cheering the next. She weaves a distinctive story filled with humor, family heartache, and secrets while a young girl releases the fear of her voice and grasps its power. Newbery Medalist Donna Barba Higuera. With strong writing, frank conversations about periods, anatomy, and bodily autonomy, plus dynamic characters, this solidly upper middle grade/lower YA story will empower readers, affirm their own middle school experiences, and show that people should be held accountable for the many daily offenses girls and women are subjected to. A powerful look at collective action that shows when we raise our voices together we don't just make noise, we sing. Not to be missed. School Library Journal starred. Lapera's debut novel focuses on the disparities against women, shedding light on the femicides occurring in other countries. Readers will root for Mani as she develops the courage to advocate for herself and other girls even when it's frightening. A great introduction for middle schoolers and tween readers on topics such as consent and the MeToo movement. Booklist starred. Using perceptive prose, debut author Lapera approaches Guatemala's fraught history with care and respect and lovingly spotlights the tension felt in the relationship between a protective mother and the daughter who seeks independence from her. Publishers Weekly. A poignant feminist coming-of-age story. Kirkus. Lapera's writing shines in the rendering of connection and levity with friends and family. There are laugh-out-loud moments from the bizarre to the everyday. There is inspiration and hope.
