To which is prefixed a brief memoir of the author, by lord Redesdale* William Mitford, 1829 The Story of the Greatest Nations, from the Dawn of History to the Twentieth Century Edward Sylvester Ellis, 1906 Best Stories to Tell to Children Sara Cone Bryant, 1912 The Story of the Greatest Nations: Greece. Rome Edward Sylvester Ellis, Charles Francis Horne, 1906 Story Listening and Experience in Early Childhood Donna Schatt, Patrick Ryan, 2021-03-22 This book shows connections between oral story listening and unique enduring educational effects in and outside of the classroom Using scientific studies and interviews as well as personal observations from more than thirty years in schools and libraries the authors examine learning outcomes from frequent story listening Throughout the book Schatt and Ryan illustrate that experiencing stories told entirely from memory transforms individuals and builds community affecting areas such as reading comprehension visualization focus flow states empathy attachment and theory of mind Paul, Founder of Churches James Constantine Hanges, 2012 Expanded from the author's dissertation University of Chicago 1999 The Progressive Teacher and Southwestern School Journal, 1919 The Greek Hoplite Phalanx Richard Taylor, 2021-12-22 The Greek hoplite and the phalanx formation in which he fought have been the subject of considerable academic debate over the past century Dr Richard Taylor provides an overview of the current state of play in the hoplite debate in all its aspects from fighting techniques to the social and economic background of the hoplite revolution in a form that is accessible for the general reader and military history enthusiast But the book goes further offering a new perspective on the hoplite phalanx by putting it in the context of other military developments in the Mediterranean world in the middle of the first millennium BC He argues that the Greek phalanx was different in degree but not in kind from other contemporary heavy infantry formations and that the hoplite debate with its insistence on the unique nature of the hoplite phalanx has obscured the similarities with other equivalent formations The result is a fresh take on a perennially popular subject Prolepsis in Ancient Greek Narrative, 2024-12-23 This edited volume offers the first comprehensive study of prolepsis in narratives written in ancient Greek ranging from Homer to the late antique author Colluthus with the inclusion of Second Temple Jewish Literature Structuralist narratology defines prolepsis as the narration in advance of an event that takes place later in the story The papers collected in this volume start from this approach but move beyond it by exploring a wide range of new definitions forms and readerly effects of prolepsis Several contributions draw on postclassical narratological approaches and focus on cognitive aspects of reading narrative virtuality and readerly uncertainty that stems from prolepses The Political Biographies of Cornelius Nepos S. Rex Stem, 2012-11-19 The Roman writer Cornelius Nepos was a friend of Cicero and Catullus and other first century BCE authors and portions of his encyclopedic work On Famous Men are the earliest surviving biographies written in Latin. In The Political Biographies of Cornelius Nepos, Rex Stem presents Nepos as a valuable witness to the late Republican era whose biographies share the exemplary republican political perspective of his contemporaries Cicero and Livy. Stem argues that Nepos created the genre of grouped political biographies in order to characterize renowned Mediterranean figures as role models for Roman leaders and he shows how Nepos invested his biographies with moral and political arguments against tyranny. This book is the first to regard Nepos as a serious thinker in his own right; it also functions as a general introduction to Nepos, placing him in his cultural context. Stem examines Nepos' contributions to the growth of biography and he defends Nepos from his critics at the same time that he lays out the political significance and literary innovation of Nepos' writings. Accessible to advanced undergraduates, this volume is addressed to a general audience of classicists and ancient historians as well as those broadly interested in biography, historiography, and political thought.

Neural Networks for Knowledge Representation and Inference Daniel S. Levine, Manuel Aparicio IV, 2013-04-15. The second published collection based on a conference sponsored by the Metroplex Institute for Neural Dynamics, the first is Motivation, Emotion, and Goal Direction in Neural Networks (LEA, 1992). This book addresses the controversy between symbolicist artificial intelligence and neural network theory. A particular issue is how well neural networks, well established for statistical pattern matching, can perform the higher cognitive functions that are more often associated with symbolic approaches. This controversy has a long history but recently erupted with arguments against the abilities of renewed neural network developments. More broadly than other attempts, the diverse contributions presented here not only address the theory and implementation of artificial neural networks for higher cognitive functions but also critique the history of assumed epistemologies both neural networks and AI and include several neurobiological studies of human cognition as a real system to guide the further development of artificial ones. Organized into four major sections, this volume outlines the history of the AI neural network controversy, the strengths and weaknesses of both approaches, and shows the various capabilities such as generalization and discreteness as being along a broad but common continuum. It introduces several explicit theoretical structures demonstrating the functional equivalences of neurocomputing with the staple objects of computer science and AI such as sets and graphs, shows variants on these types of networks that are applied in a variety of spheres including reasoning from a geographic database, legal decision making, story comprehension, and performing arithmetic operations. It discusses knowledge representation processes in living organisms, including evidence from experimental psychology, behavioral neurobiology, and electroencephalographic responses to sensory stimuli.

Why Did They Write This Way? Katherine M. Stott, 2008-11-15. This book examines the character and function of the documents mentioned in the biblical texts in relation to comparable references in literature from wider antiquity. Citing various references to written documents in the Hebrew Bible, Stott takes into consideration both those references that may point to external sources, for example the many literary citations in the books of Kings and Chronicles as well as certain other documents that play a role in the narrative such as the book of the law in 2 Kings the scrolls of Jeremiah and the tablets of the law The aim of this study is not to determine to which texts external to the world of the narrative if any these documents refer or to identify the content of these documents or to reconstruct their origins and historical development Instead the primary focus is to understand these references within their literary context asking why indeed they are mentioned at all and what purpose they serve in the narrative regardless of whether they existed or not in the external world or whether the stories about them have basis in historical reality as it happened
