Court of Appeals, 1880 Remains of a Self Cathrine Bjørnholt Michaelsen, 2021-06-29 From the twentieth century in the twenty first psychoanalysis and deconstruction have challenged and continue to challenge our conceptions of subjectivity and selfhood Psychoanalysis revealed that even in our innermost households we are never quite alone rather instances of otherness incessantly interfere in our most intimate relation to ourselves forcing us to adapt continuously Deconstruction inheriting both this psychoanalytic disclosure and Heidegger's destruction of the history of metaphysics went to the foundations of the Western constructions of the subject and the self only to find how a destabilizing otherness was always already haunting them What if anything remains of the self in the aftermath Early on in the wake of deconstruction a certain misconceived and simplified notion of the death of the subject was proclaimed and in recent years more or less successful attempts have been made at reviving the notions of the subject the self and agency In contrast to these attempts at revival this book offers a two pronged approach On the one hand it argues that neither psychoanalysis nor deconstruction propounds a simple annihilation of the subject or liquidation of the self on the other hand however neither do they pave the way for a return to the subject or resurrection of the self that would allow us once again to become confident about our presence to ourselves. Instead, this book suggests that if we set ourselves the task of taking up the heritage from psychoanalysis and deconstruction in a serious manner, we are obliged to retrace the subject and the self as undergoing perpetual auto deconstruction.

Aaron Miller, 2024-02-20 The risen Jesus sends his disciples out as witnesses of repentance and the forgiveness of sins in his name. One part call to action, one part celebration of the miracle that is the local church. Witnesses of These Things is an invitation to grab hold of the life that is truly life for which each one of us and this God-beloved world are made.
