Keywords for Travel Writing Studies Charles Forsdick,Zoë Kinsley,Kathryn Walchester,2019-04-22 Keywords for Travel Writing Studies draws on the notion of the keyword as initially elaborated by Raymond Williams in his seminal 1976 text Keywords A Vocabulary of Culture and Society to present 100 concepts central to the study of travel writing as a literary form Each entry in the volume is around 1 000 words the style more essayistic than encyclopaedic with contributors reflecting on their chosen keyword from a variety of disciplinary perspectives The emphasis on travelogues and other cultural representations of mobility drawn from a range of national and linguistic traditions ensures that the volume has a comparative dimension the aim is to give an overview of each term in its historical and theoretical complexity providing readers with a clear sense of how the selected words are essential to a critical understanding of travel writing Each entry is complemented by an annotated bibliography of five essential items suggesting further reading Transatlantic Women's Literature Heidi Slettedahl Macpherson, 2008-11-03 Transatlantic Women's Literature is a valuable contribution to the evolving debate surrounding Transatlantic Studies and transatlantic literature. Its originality and importance lie in its focus on 20th century women's narratives of travel and adventure and its deliberate expansion of the Transatlantic concept beyond the familiar US-UK axis to include Canada, South America, the Caribbean, and Eastern Europe. The crisscrossing of the Atlantic is contested and problematised throughout. The book explores culturally resonant literature that imagines the views from both sides and examines the imaginary in between the space of the Atlantic. It offers a considered exploration of the way in which the space of the Atlantic and women's space work together in the construction of meaning in transatlantic texts. Focusing on contemporary literature, this book engages with a range of genres from novellas and novels to essays, memoirs, and travel literature. Nella Larsen's Quicksand is read alongside Bharati Mukherjee's Jasmine in relation to constructions of the exotic. Eva Hoffman's Lost in Translation is explored in relation to memoirs of travel such as Jenny Diski's Skating to Antarctica and Stranger on a Train and Anne Tyler's transatlantic novel The Accidental Tourist is read alongside her latest transpacific novel Digging to America as well as Isabel Allende's Daughter of Fortune. Readers will gain an appreciation of the complexity of the transatlantic narrative and the ways in which these narratives are defined by and infused with gender considerations.

Jewish Women Writers in Britain Nadia Valman, 2014-12-01 The extraordinary range of responses to Jewish culture and history in the work of these writers will appeal to literary scholars and readers interested in Jewish women's history.

Second Chance Ruth Rosengarten, 2022-08-23 In this intimate memoir, Ruth Rosengarten explores the subject of evocative objects through a series of interconnected essays. Evocative objects reflect our attitudes to our own lives and how we seek to display ourselves to ourselves. They are therefore closely linked to our memories and how we filter, process, and reconstruct them. Rosengarten explores the themes and associations invoked by her own evocative objects, which are frequently shabby things of no material value. They are importantly often objects that in their materiality bear traces of actions of something having been. Through the associative pathways that these objects have paved, she discusses her experiences with the losses she has undergone: her family's migrations and what it means to be a childless woman. This leads her to address the question of what will become of her storied objects and the memories attached to them when she is no longer in existence. This memoir offers an interdisciplinary approach to collecting and compiling fragments of one's life, paying close attention to the evocative objects that embody us. In doing so, these essays explore loss, memory, childlessness, longing, family history, literature, and art theory through material entities which reveal the immaterial things at the heart of this study. This book is sure to be of interest to anyone stimulated by memory work and the relationship between humans and their possessions.

American Avatar Barry A. Sanders,2011 Since September 11 2001 the extensive literature on the United States s image abroad by popular pundits and academics alike leaves the reader with a false impression that foreigners views of America are normally negative and impervious to change In fact they are complex emotional frequently internally contradictory and often change quickly Barry A Sanders corrects this misimpression with a rigorous and insightful textual analysis of the roots of people s views of the United States and what can be done to alter them According to Sanders the attitudes a person expresses about the United States consist of two separate components the person s memory bank of images informed by American geography people philosophy history and foreign policy and a predisposition or bias that influences which images are called forth from memory Opinion surveys such as the Pew Global Attitude Survey only record the spoken result of this twostep process in their tabulation of favorable or unfavorable comments They necessarily fail to see the underlying complexity Examining the biases or predispositions that guide people in selecting among the myriad stored images to express an opinion on a given day Sanders analyzes both anti American and pro American biases but focuses on the former explaining which criticisms should be heeded when crafting foreign policy and communicating national objectives to friends and foes alike
