Your Gates Gary G. Porton,1994-11 The intellectual dilemma that converts posed to classical Jews played itself out in discussions of marriage religious practice inheritance of property and much else on the one hand converts must be no different from native born Israelites if the god of the Hebrew Bible is a universal deity on the other hand converts must be distinguishable from native born members of the community if a divine covenant was made with Abraham s descendants

Strangers in Yemen David Malkiel,2020-12-16 Strangers in Yemen is a study of travel to Yemen in the nineteenth century by Jews Christians and Muslims The travelers include a missionary artist scientist rabbi merchant adventurer and soldier The focus is on the encounter between people of different cultures and the chapters analyze the travelers accounts to elucidate how strangers and locals perceived each other and how the experiences shaped their perceptions of themselves Cultural encounter is among the most important challenges of our time a time of global migration and instant communication Today as in the past history provides a valuable tool for illuminating the human experience and this scholarly work stimulates us to contemplate the challenge of cultural encounter for it affects us all Midnight Stroll Janice Kulyk Keefer,Natalka

Husar,Claire Weissman Wilks,Goran Petkovsky,2006 A unique collaboration that explores themes of love and family this collection features poems that are based on works of art placed alongside the very works that inspired them It includes paintings by Natalka Husar drawings monotypes and lithographs by Claire Weissman Wilks and photographs by Goran Petkovsky May You Meet A Stranger Robert Cherny,2022-03-27 A young pianist and his new found singer girlfriend use their music to rescue a historical resort from bankruptcy and reverse their small town s economic downturn while falling in love Growing up Indigenous: Developing Effective Pedagogy for Education and Development R.M.

Nichol,2011-07-23 This is a fascinating account of traditional socialisation and Indigenous forms of learning in Australia and Melanesia It draws from rich ethnographic historical and educational material There has never been a greater need for a socially and historically informed yet critical account of the mismatch between traditional ways realities of life in Indigenous communities villages and enclaves and the forms of education provided in schools Raymond Nichol a specialist in Indigenous education and pedagogy surveys the links too often disparities between ethnographic detail of life on the ground and the schooling provided by nation states in this vast region Most importantly he explores and suggests ways community developers and educators Indigenous and non Indigenous may work to bridge the gaps in social rights educational and economic development This is relevant for all Indigenous communities their survival and development Many vexed issues are discussed such as race ethnicity identity discrimination self determination development and relevant effective pedagogical learning and schooling strategies Laws of the New Synagogue, Leadenhall Street, London. A.M. 5584 New Synagogue, London, 1824 The History of Sumatra William Marsden, 2022-11-21 William Marsden's The History of Sumatra is a groundbreaking work that combines meticulous scholarship with vivid narratives offering an in-depth exploration of the island's geography, cultures, and historical developments. Written in the late 18th century, Marsden employs a stylistic approach that blends empirical observation with rich descriptive language, making the text both informative and engaging. The book is situated within the context of European colonial expansion, providing insight into the Dutch and British colonial interactions with the indigenous population of Sumatra, thus illuminating the complexities of early global trade networks and their socio-political ramifications. William Marsden, a British diplomat and linguist, had a profound fascination with Southeast Asia, fueled by his extensive travels and interactions with diverse cultures during his tenure in the region. His dedication to the study of local customs, beliefs, and languages enriched his understanding and appreciation for Sumatra's rich heritage, informing his detailed accounts and analyses. Marsden's extensive knowledge and firsthand experiences allow him to provide a nuanced perspective that is both authentic and enlightening. This book is highly recommended for readers interested in Southeast Asian history, colonial studies, and the intersection of culture and geography. Marsden's text serves not only as an academic resource but also as a captivating narrative that invites readers to journey through the vibrant tapestry of Sumatra's past. It is an essential addition to any library focused on historical inquiry and cross-cultural understanding.

The Phrenological Journal and Life Illustrated, 1875 American Phrenological Journal and Life Illustrated, 1875 The T.N. Madan Omnibus T.N. Madan, 2010-11-03 For more than half a century, T.N. Madan has been a towering influence on the sociological and anthropological studies of family and kinship, cultural dimensions of development, religion, secularism, and Hindu society and tradition. This Omnibus brings together his seminal writings on marriage, kinship, family, and the household in Hindu society. Family and Kinship: A Study of the Pandits of Rural Kashmir, first published in 1965, remains a pioneering ethnographic study of the Kashmiri Pandits and is considered a classic in the field of world anthropology. The book presents a social history of a people and culture which is currently virtually non-existent in the Kashmir Valley. Drawing upon new theoretical and methodological perspectives, Non-renunciation: Themes and Interpretations of Hindu Culture provides a nuanced understanding of Hinduism as a lived tradition. It explores aspects of auspiciousness, purity, asceticism, eroticism, altruism, and death while focussing on the householder's life in Hindu society. The Omnibus also includes additional essays on the Brahmanic gotra and the Hindu family and development, along with a short piece on aspects of traditional household culture. It features an autobiographical essay, the author's recollection of growing up in a Pandit home in Srinagar, Kashmir. In the Prologue, T.N. Madan engages with the householder tradition across the cultural regions of India, analysing themes of householdership and renunciation in religious philosophy and ethnography.
