p i t Teacher and Child Hai Ginott,Haim G. Ginott,1998-01-01 Parents and Teachers Carol Vincent,1996 This work examines the factors that shape and influence home school relations At its heart is an analysis of parent teacher relationships in an inner city borough drawn from case studies of five primary schools and a parents centre Interviews with parents are revealing windows into parents views on a range of issues including curriculum discipline and parents relationships with their children s teachers The author also considers teachers perspectives on these matters and explores the influence of social class ethnicity and gender on parent teacher interactions While presenting these issues within a consideration of broader themes such as citizenship community power and participation the book discusses the reasons why initiatives designed to improve home school relations appear to result in such limited change Parents & Teachers Working Together Carol Davis,Alice Yang,2005 Provides advice for elementary teachers on collaborating with parents to enhance a child s educational experience How Can My Kid Succeed in School? What Parents and Teachers Can Do to Conquer Learning Problems Craig Pohlman,2009-09-28 What to look for when a child is struggling in school and what can be done at home and at school to help them succeed This practical resource for parents and teachers explains how to understand a child s complete learning profile an inventory of his or her unique strengths and weaknesses and provides helpful strategies that can be used at school and at home to get the child on a path to success The book walks readers through the process of gathering clues about the child s learning style and provides guidelines for selecting the most appropriate learning strategies that will help spell success in school and life Pohlman shows how parents and teachers can collaborate to help kids become successful learners and also guides readers through the process of getting an educational assessment for those students with particularly challenging issues Helps readers understand what s going on when a child is struggling in school Explains what to look for at home and at school to gather clues to understanding a child s learning profile Shows how parents and teachers can collaborate to help a child or adolescent succeed at school Includes guidelines on obtaining educational assessments Pohlman from the acclaimed All Kinds of Minds Institute has conducted or supervised thousands of assessments of struggling learners You Are Your Child's First Teacher, Third Edition Rahima Baldwin Dancy,2012-08-14 The first book in America to popularize the insights of Rudolf Steiner founder of the Waldorf schools regarding the developmental needs of young children this revised and updated edition offers new ways for parents and educators to enrich the lives of children from birth to age six Today s society often pressures us into overstimulating young children with flashcards workbooks videos and electronic gadgets in a well meaning attempt to give them a head start But children are not little adults they learn and grow in radically different ways at different ages and what we do to help could actually hurt instead Some of the most important learning years happen before your child reaches school In You Are Your Child's First Teacher respected Waldorf educator Rahima Baldwin Dancy explains the different stages of learning that children go through from birth to age six giving you the wisdom and understanding to enrich your child's natural development in the right way at the right time. A trusted classic for over twenty years, this newly revised edition contains updated resources and additional information on discipline, early childhood programs, toilet training, using home life as curriculum, and more. From language and cognitive development to appropriate toys and nourishing your child's artistic abilities, Dancy speaks up for a rational approach to child rearing, one that helps children be children while we fulfill our important role as parents and first teachers.

Parents as Educators Keith J. Topping, 2025-08-05. Modern practice in the 1980s was to involve parents increasingly in the education of their children and was supported by legislation. Particularly when children had special needs, parents required structured training and support to ensure they affectively sustained their vital role as educators at home. Many large scale programmes to provide this had been developed throughout the world at the time, for example Home Start, Portage Home Visiting Projects and Paired Reading Projects. However, not all of these had been thoroughly evaluated and the existing literature was scattered and difficult to access. Some projects demonstrated spectacular results and high cost effectiveness while others proved more disappointing. Originally published in 1986, this book critically analyses over 600 international English language research reports on the effectiveness of parent training programmes. In addition, a detailed guide to the practicalities of planning projects is provided together with a comprehensive directory of useful resource materials. After an introductory overview, the evidence on the effects on child progress of parental involvement in school activities is reviewed, as is research on the impact of schemes of regular structured communication between home and school. Programmes designed to train parents to accelerate the development of their children at home are considered in the subsequent chapters, starting with ordinary children. Much of the book reviews projects targeted on children with some sort of special educational need, from children whose special needs stem from a widespread difficulty such as poverty or second language learning, systematically through to children whose needs stem from rarer and more severe issues. Each chapter has its own summary for ease of reader use, while an overall summary chapter points out best buys and directions for future developments. This volume will be of major interest to teachers, psychologists, social workers, community health personnel, community educationalists, researchers, many others working with parents and children, and to some parents themselves. This book is a re-issue originally published in 1986. The language used is a reflection of its era and no offence is meant by the Publishers to any reader by this re-publication.

Teachers and Parents Dorothy Rich, 1987. This monograph for teachers outlines reasons for working with parents. It presents a sampling of practical strategies that teachers can use to foster parent competence and responsibility in the education of their children. It also contains answers to some of teachers' questions about getting parents to visit the school and encouraging them to become involved in their children's education. An introduction in Chapter 1 is followed by a discussion of new roles and new facts about families and teachers in Chapter 2 Chapter 3 concerns what parents and teachers want Chapter 4 discusses educational responsibility in the home Chapter 5 describes what teachers can do to increase parent involvement Chapter 6 provides tips concerning the parent teacher conference Chapter 7 deals with special experiences and needs of single parents that teachers may want to consider Chapter 8 articulates four basic rules for parent involvement programs Appendices provide discussions of parent involvement strategies the MegaSkills home curriculum ways to meet family needs and characteristics of effective families Over 40 references as well as 7 filmstrips are cited RH Parents and Teachers
