Teacher Education And Cultural Imagination Autobiography Conversation And Narrative:

Teacher Education and the Cultural Imagination Susan Florio-Ruane, Julie deTar, 2001-04-01 Making culture a more central concept in the texts and contexts of teacher education is the focus of this book. It is a rich account of the author's investigation of teacher book club discussions of ethnic literature specifically ethnic autobiography as a genre from which teachers might learn about culture literacy and education in their own and others' lives and as a form of conversation and literature based work that might be sustainable and foster teachers' comprehension and critical thinking. Dr. Florio-Ruane's role in the book clubs merged participation and inquiry. For this reason, she blends personal narrative with analysis and description of ways she and the book club participants explored culture in the stories they told one another and in their responses to published autobiographies. She posits that autobiography and conversation may be useful for teachers not only in constructing their own learning about culture but also by doing so in participating in the transformation of learning within the teaching profession.

Teacher Education and the Cultural Imagination Susan Florio-Ruane, Julie deTar, 2001-04 Examines use of ethnically diverse published autobiographies in a teacher education book club course. Focuses on autobiography as a site of teacher learning about culture. Role of conversation in that learning. Blends personal narrative with analysis and description.

New Teachers in Urban Schools: Journeys Toward Social Equity Teaching Althier M. Lazar, Leslie M. Reich, 2016-03-07 This volume informs the reader about new teachers in urban underserved schools and their development as teachers for social equity. The accounts of five novice teachers who grew up outside the communities in which they teach lead to chapters that contain advice for teacher educators' future and current teachers and school leaders. These early career teachers learned much about bridging the cultural divide between themselves and their students confronted and resolved big challenges that may immobilize some who set out to teach in these communities. They brought to their classrooms strong social justice orientations including a moral imperative to make a difference in the world, an awareness of social and educational inequalities, and a strong sense of responsibility to positively influence the life trajectories of students in their charge. Their narratives offer insights on the dispositions and contexts that will help early career teachers survive and thrive and make a difference in their students' lives.

English Teachers at Work Brenton Doecke, David Homer, Helen Nixon, 2003 By taking a global perspective on teaching English, this work takes into account a wide variety of challenges English teachers face and stresses the importance of networking and communicating with colleagues around the world as a means of overcoming those challenges. A richly differentiated view on what it means to be an English teacher is offered as are fascinating narratives about the diverse efforts of teachers in different communities. Points of view from contributors in North America, Australia, Chile, New Zealand, New Guinea, South Africa, and the United Kingdom are expressed and placed in an illuminating context with practical and theoretical considerations about teaching English.

Personal ~ Passionate ~ Participatory Ming Fang He, JoAnn Phillion, 2008-11-01 Scope of the Book: Personal, Passionate, Participatory Inquiry into

Social Justice in Education the first book in the series features 14 programs of social justice oriented research on life in schools families and communities This work done by a diverse group of practitioner researchers educators and scholars connects the personal with the political the theoretical with the practical and research with social and educational change These inquiries demonstrate three distinct qualities Each is personal compelled by values and experiences researchers bring to the work Each is passionate grounded in a commitment to social justice concerns of people and places under consideration Each is participatory built on long term heart felt engagement and shared efforts The principle aspect of the inquiries featured in the book series that distinguish it from others is that researchers are not detached observers nor putatively objective recorders but active participants in schools families and communities Researchers have explicit research agendas that focus on equity equality and social justice Rather than aiming solely at traditional educational research outcomes positive social and educational change is the focal outcome of inquiry The researchers are diverse and their inquiries are far ranging in terms of content people and geographic locations studied These studies reflect new and exciting ways of researching and representing experience of the disenfranchised underrepresented and invisible groups seldom discussed in the literature and challenge stereotypical or deficit oriented perspectives on these groups This book informs pre service and in service teachers educators educational researchers administrators and educational policy makers particularly those who advocate for people who are marginalized and those who are committed to the enactment of social justice and positive educational and social change
