The Coming Of Industrial Order Town And Factory Life In Rural Massachusetts:

The Coming of Industrial Order Jonathan Prude, 1985-10-31 This study of antebellum industrialisation in several communities in rural Massachusetts illuminates what industrialisation meant in the early to mid nineteenth century Jonathan Prude probes the tensions produced by the conflict between innovation and the received attitudes and institutions that still shaped daily existence Two connected but discrete areas of tension emerged that between workers and managers within certain manufacturing establishments especially textiles and between manufacturers and the communities in which they were located The book demonstrates that antebellum industrialisation had a rural as well as an urban dimension and that far from being the untroubled process described by some historians it was a phenomenon characterised by deep conflict The Coming of Industrial Order Jonathan Prude, 1976 The New England Working Class and the New Labor History Smith College, 1987

Craft Capitalism Robert B. Kristofferson, 2007-01-01 Craft Capitalism focuses on Hamilton Ontario and demonstrates how the preservation of traditional work arrangements craft mobility networks and other aspects of craft culture ensured that craftworkers in that city enjoyed an essentially positive introduction to industrial capitalism The American Reaper Gordon M. Winder, 2016-04-01 The American Reaper adopts a network approach to account for the international diffusion of harvesting technology from North America from the invention of the reaper through to the formation of a dominant transnational corporation International Harvester Much previous historical research into industrial networks focuses on industrial districts within metropolitan centres but by focusing on harvesting a typically rural technology this book is able to analyse the spread of technological knowledge through a series of local networks and across national boundaries In doing so it argues that the industry developed through a relatively stable stage from the 1850s into the 1890s during which time many firms shared knowledge within and outside the US through patent licensing to spread the diffusion of the American style of machines to establishments located around the industrial world This positive cooperation was further enhanced through sales networks that appear to be early expressions of managerial firms The book also reinterprets the rise of giant corporations especially International Harvester Corporation IHC arguing that mass production was achieved in Chicago in the 1880s where unprecedented urban growth made possible a break with the constraints felt elsewhere in the dispersed production system It unleashed an unchecked competitive market economy with destructive tendencies throughout the transnational American reaper networks a previously stable and expanding production system This is significant because the rise of corporate capital in this industry is usually explained as an outworking of national natural advantage as an ingenious harnessing of science and technology to solve production problems and as a rational solution to the problems associated with the worst forms of unregulated competition that emerged as independent firms developed from small scale artisanal production to large scale manufacturers on their own and within the separate and isolated US economy The first study dedicated to the development and diffusion of American harvesting machine technology this book will appeal to scholars from a diverse range of fields including economic history business history the history of knowledge transfer historical geography and economic geography Labor and Laborers of the Loom Gail Fowler Mohanty, 2012-11-12 Labor and Laborers of the Loom Mechanization and Handloom Weavers 1780 1840 develops several themes important to understanding the social cultural and economic implications of industrialization The examination of these issues within a population of extra factory workers distinguishes this study The volume centers on the rapid growth of handloom weaving in response to the introduction of water powered spinning This change is viewed from the perspectives of mechanics technological limitations characteristics of weaving skills income and cost In the works of Duncan Bythell and Norman Murray the displacement of British and Scottish hand weavers loomed large and the silence of American handloom weavers in similar circumstances was deafening This study reflects the differences between the three culture by centering not on displacement but on survival Persistence is closely tied to the gradual nature of technological change The contrasts between independent commercial artisans and outwork weavers are striking Displacement occurs but only among artisans devoting their time to independent workshop weaving Alternatively outwork weavers adapted to changing markets and survived The design and development of spinning and weaving device is stressed as are the roles of economic conditions management organization size of firms political implications and social factors contribute to the impact of technological change on outwork and craft weavers Alamance Bess Beatty, 2000-01-01 In 1837 Edwin M Holt a thirty year old fourth generation North Carolinian established a small spinning mill on his family s land along the Haw River in rural Orange County By his death in 1884 Holt s small spinning mill had come to dominate the textile industry in Alamance County which divided from Orange County in 1849 and gave the area an industrial legacy that would last for generations Covering the Holt dynasty from the founding of the Alamance Factory in 1837 to the strike of 1900 that eventually shut down most of the family s mills Alamance provides an excellent social history of southern industrial development Bess Beatty intersperses chapters on the rise of the Holts with profiles on their workers to provide a thorough explanation of how industrialization affected sectional familial racial and gender relations across class lines Focusing on class formation and conflict she rejects the long held view that southern owners were paternalistic and that workers were docile and deferential instead arguing that owners and workers had a contentious class driven relationship with both sides striving to maximize their economic success Moreover while Beatty shows that slavery secession war defeat and postbellum race relations influenced the development of southern industry she maintains that industrialization in the South was not fundamentally different from that in other regions of the country Alamance s story of southern industrial power makes an outstanding contribution to the history of southern communities and will fascinate those interested in the region as well as students of social business and labor history The Industrial Revolution in World History Peter N Stearns, 2018-04-17 The industrial revolution was the single most important development in human history over the past three centuries and it continues to shape the contemporary world With new methods and organizations for producing goods industrialization altered where people live how they play and even how they define political issues By exploring the ways the industrial revolution reshaped world history this book offers a unique look into the international factors that started the industrial revolution and its global spread and impact In the fourth edition noted historian Peter N Stearns continues his global analysis of the industrial revolution with new discussions of industrialization outside of the West including the study of India the Middle East and China In addition an expanded conclusion contains an examination of the changing contexts of industrialization The Industrial Revolution in World History is essential for students of world history and economics as well as for those seeking to know more about the global implications of what is arguably the defining socioeconomic event of modern times Transition to an Industrial South Michael J. Gagnon, 2012-10-12 Renowned New South booster Henry Grady proposed industrialization as a basis of economic recovery for the former Confederacy Born in 1850 in Athens Georgia to a family involved in the city's thriving manufacturing industries Grady saw firsthand the potential of industrialization for the region In Transition to an Industrial South Michael J. Gagnon explores the creation of an industrial network in the antebellum South by focusing on the creation and expansion of cotton textile manufacture in Athens By 1835 local entrepreneurs had built three cotton factories in Athens started a bank and created the Georgia Railroad Although known best as a college town Athens became an industrial center for Georgia in the antebellum period and maintained its stature as a factory hub even after competing cities supplanted it in the late nineteenth century Georgia too remained the foremost industrial state in the South until the 1890s Gagnon reveals the political nature of procuring manufacturing technology and building cotton mills in the South and demonstrates the generational maturing of industrial laboring managerial and business classes well before the advent of the New South era He also shows how a southern industrial society grew out of a culture of social and educational reform economic improvements and business interests in banking and railroading Using Athens as a case study Gagnon suggests that the connected networks of family business and financial relations provided a framework for southern industry to profit during the Civil War and served as a principal guide to prosperity in the immediate postbellum years Work, Recreation, and Culture Martin H. Blatt, Martha K. Norkunas, 2013-02-01 The essays in this volume focus on the role of women in the work force They explore how organized sports social associations of all kinds and the educational system faced by the children of worker were profoundly linked to work place and community activism They examine why radical labor organizations that could win major strikes often could not sustain themselves as permanent institutions Finally the essays argue that simultaneous leadership changes in management and labor in the auto industry were less the result of internal conflicts than needed structural adjustments to changing economic and political realities Interwoven into all of the essays is the intricate dynamic between immigrant and native born between different immigrant waves and the groups and between workers at different skill levels Work Recreation and Culture enriches and expands the established labor narratives
