Age and the Reach of Sociological Imagination Dale Dannefer, 2021-08-09 The dominant narratives of both science and popular culture typically define aging and human development as self contained individual matters failing to recognize the degree to which they are shaped by experiential and contextual contingencies Our understandings of age are thereby boxed in and constricted by assumptions of normality and naturalness that limit our capacities to explore possible alternative experiences of development and aging and the conditions both individual and social that might foster such experiences Combining foundational principles of critical social science with recent breakthroughs in research across disciplines ranging from biology to economics this book offers a scientifically and humanly expanded landscape for apprehending the life course Rejecting familiar but false dichotomies such as nature vs nurture and structure vs agency it clarifies the organismic fundamentals that make the actual content of experience so centrally important in age and development and it also explores why attention to these fundamentals has been so resisted in studies of individuals and individual change and in policy and practice as well In presenting the basic principles and reviewing the current state of knowledge Dale Dannefer introduces multi levelled social processes that shape human development and aging over the life course and age as a cultural phenomenon organizing his approach around three key frontiers of inquiry that each invite a vigorous exercise of sociological imagination the Social Structural Frontier the Biosocial Frontier and the Critical Reflexive Frontier     Emotion Communication by the Aging Face and Body Ursula Hess,Reginald B. Adams, Jr.,Robert E. Kleck,2023-12-07 As our society ages questions concerning the relations between generations gain importance The quality of human relations depends on the quality of emotion communication which is a significant part of our daily interactions Emotion expressions serve not only to communicate how the expresser feels but also to communicate intentions whether to approach or retreat and personality traits such as dominance trustworthiness or friendliness that influence our decisions regarding whether and how to interact with a person Emotion Communication by the Aging Face and Body delineates how aging affects emotion communication and person perception by bringing together research across multiple disciplines Scholars and graduate students in the psychology of aging affective science and social gerontology will benefit from this over view and theoretical framework
