Social Process Of Aging And Old Age:

The Social Processes of Aging and Old Age Arnold S. Brown, 2009-01 MySearchLab provides students with a complete understanding of the research process so they can complete research projects confidently and efficiently. Students and instructors with an internet connection can visit www.MySearchLab.com and receive immediate access to thousands of full articles from the EBSCO ContentSelect database. In addition, MySearchLab offers extensive content on the research process itself, including tips on how to navigate and maximize time in the campus library, a step-by-step guide on writing a research paper, and instructions on how to finish an academic assignment with endnotes and bibliography. A critical yet optimistic analysis of the provision of services to the aged, this timely book offers comprehensive coverage of all aspects of aging in contemporary life and stresses how much can be learned about the aged through cross-cultural comparisons. Analyzes the social and economic forces that tend to make elderly people appear to be increasingly dependent with age. Gives a historical perspective of the field of aging to allow a better understanding of present aging conditions. Provides cross-cultural comparisons and data from a variety of different cultures to show that what life is like for the aged is very much subject to the culture of which they are a part. For service providers, social service planners, and both local and state agency on aging directors.

Aging as a Social Process Barry D. McPherson, 1998

Aging, Society and the Life Course Leslie A. Morgan, 2007. As our aging population grows ever larger, it is increasingly important to understand how adults age and what we can do to provide up-to-date care to ensure their well-being as an integral part of society. Leslie Morgan and Suzanne Kunkel understand that this phenomenon is about much more than just the physical or biological aspects of growing older and have put together a comprehensive text on the impact of society and sociology on the aging process. Use this text to explore the diversity of the aging population and dispel the major stereotypes surrounding the elderly. Learn about aging through all the layers of social context, from family life to politics and economics. And through this approach, come to see how aging is more than just an individual process; it is a process that effects the direction of our society as a whole. For the Student: Web sites of interest and key terms defined at the end of each chapter. Real-life stories and essays on love, sex, music, medicine, and crime. For the Professor: Assignment-ready reading in a One Chapter a Week format. Questions for discussion and review at each chapter end. Applying Theory sections place the lesson of each chapter in a clear real-world setting. Instructor's Guide Now Available. An Instructor's Manual for this textbook is available for those professors who have adopted Aging, Society and the Life Course Third Edition and can verify a bookstore order of 7 or more copies.
