Society As Power:

The Balance of Power in Society Frank Tannenbaum, 1969 Power & Society Thomas R. Dye, 1996 Through six successful editions of Power and Society Thomas R Dye has encouraged readers to pursue their interests in the social sciences by illustrating how important these disciplines are to understanding many conditions of our lives As Dye introduces readers to the central concepts of sociology anthropology economics political science history and psychology he links elements of these disciplines through a dynamic and unifying theme the manifestation of power in society With this idea in mind readers gain a real sense of social scientists interests as they explore power in the context of social problems such as racism sexism poverty crime violence urban decay and international and ideological conflict Dye s presentation includes analyses of social science research studies and the contributions of masters of social thought such as Bertrand Russell Karl Marx Sigmund Freud and Martin Luther King Jr Evocative discussions are enhanced with case studies and cross national perspectives to highlight critical ideas including the power and society theme The approach of learning to understand power as an integral part of our social world continues with great impact in this seventh edition Among the new topics readers will find how men and women view their relations today evolutionary psychology the mating game the burdens of government debt Native Americans an historical overview social scientists look at sex in America treating mental illness a brief history of the cold war the long history of women s protests sexual harassment and the law and should we limit the terms of Congress members

BOOK JACKET Title Summary field provided by Blackwell North America Inc All Rights Reserved Civil Society, Peace, and Power David Cortright, Melanie Greenberg, Laurel Stone, 2016-10-12 Civil society plays an increasingly powerful role in the global landscape emerging as key actors in preventing and managing conflict and building more peaceful and sustainable societies The multiple case studies featured in this volume illustrate the growth of civil society involvement in national regional and international peacebuilding policy The focus is on multi stakeholder systems based approaches to peacebuilding and human security that involve diverse civil society groups NGOs religious organizations media etc government agencies intergovernmental organizations and security forces This unique comprehensive approach encompasses diverse stakeholders seeking to understand the drivers of conflict and the possibilities for working together to build peace The book illustrates how the involvement of civil society can result in better informed more inclusive more accountable government decision making and more effective peacebuilding policies Importantly a number of the case studies provide a gender perspective on peacebuilding and civil society issues voicing and giving attention to women s perspectives without being focused only on gender issues Further authors from the Global South offer the perspectives of those directly immersed in ongoing struggles for justice and peace Society, Power, and Land in Northeastern Zimbabwe, ca. 1560-1960 Admire Mseba, 2024-11-12 A little over two decades ago Zimbabwe undertook its Fast Track Land Reform Programme Critics saw it as nothing more than an assault on human and property rights for political expedience by a ruling elite that was fast

losing its power In contrast those sympathetic to the land reform program saw it as fundamental to the righting of colonialism's historical wrongs Yet rural displacements at the hands of state actors or of those closely connected to them continue As in the past the continuing land conflicts are mostly understood as the result of the actions of an authoritarian state that exploits its control of land for the political and economic benefit of those who inhabit it These explanations share one thing in common each understands the country's perpetual land questions in terms of the actions or inactions of the colonial or the postcolonial state This book refocuses attention on how regimes of power rooted in kinship gender generation and status have individually and in combination informed access to land in precolonial northeastern Zimbabwe It then examines how these regimes of power interacted with colonial policies to inform the African experience in colonial Zimbabwe Further the book places land and the ability to ensure its fecundity at the center of the making and moderation of precolonial political power and how this power was impacted by the imposition of colonial rule Tracing the dynamics of land and power from precolonial times together with their entanglement with colonial policies is important for this relationship is almost always neglected by both scholars and policymakers drawn to the high drama of colonial and postcolonial politics of land This oversight has real consequences on our understandings of landed inequalities and how they are addressed When Zimbabwe's postcolonial state focused on colonially induced racialized land inequalities its land reform efforts left older forms of landed inequalities based on gender generation and ideas of belonging intact The book which details these inequalities reminds Zimbabweans and others that if the quest for equity espoused in postcolonial land reforms is to be meaningful it must be attentive to both colonially induced inequalities and those enduring disparities that predated were deepened by and outlived colonial rule At the same time Zimbabweans who now live with a postcolonial state that is increasingly centralizing power over land may well learn from past societies' creative efforts to limit the authority of their leaders

Civil Society Elites Håkan Johansson,Anna Meeuwisse,2023-12-28 This open access book introduces a groundbreaking concept civil society elites and serves as an essential resource for scholars researchers and students interested in the complexities of power and influence within contemporary civil societies Through a series of unique empirical studies the authors offer a comprehensive examination of the individuals occupying the upper echelons of influential civil society organisations and movements By delving into the factors that propel individuals into key positions and examining the connections between civil society leaders within and across sectors the book offers insight into the mechanisms that shape access to powerful positions in civil societies As a reflection of current debates on elites and populism the book furthermore explores the expression and conceptualisation of counter elite positions and criticism of civil society elites With its original approach the book serves as a catalyst for further research into inequalities power structures and elites within civil societies

Journal of the Royal Geological Society of Ireland Royal Geological Society of Ireland,1873 Journal of the American Oriental Society American Oriental Society,1904 List of members in each volume Year-book of the Royal Society of London Royal Society (Great Britain),1904 Southern Historical Society Papers Southern Historical Society,1889 The Second Birth Tilo Schabert,2015-11-20 Most scholars link the origin of politics to the formation of human societies but in this innovative work Tilo Schabert takes it even further back to our very births Drawing on mythical philosophical religious and political thought from around the globe including America Europe the Middle East and China The Second Birth proposes a transhistorical and transcultural theory of politics rooted in political cosmology With impressive erudition Schabert explores the physical fundamentals of political life unveiling a profound new insight our bodies actually teach us politics Schabert traces different figurations of power inherent to our singular existence things such as numbers time thought and desire showing how they render our lives political ones and thus how politics exists in us individually long before it plays a role in the establishment of societies and institutions Through these figurations of power Schabert argues we learn how to institute our own government within the political forces that already surround us to create our own world within the one into which we have been born In a stunning vision of human agency this book ultimately sketches a political cosmos in which we are all builders in which we can be at once political and free

The Great Art of Government Peter Josephson,2002 Moving beyond previous scholarship he gives us a Locke as much concerned with the effective functioning of government as with the roots of its moral legitimacy

BOOK JACKET Sport and Society Barrie Houlihan,Dominic Malcolm,2015-11-16 This third edition of Sport and Society with contributions from some of the field's most highly respected scholars covers the myriad of complex pervasive and global issues confronting sport in the 21st century. It continues to be a foundation text for students across most sport disciplines. Russel Hoyer, La Trobe University, Australia. The third edition of Sport and Society reinforces its place as one of the most valuable texts for students and others engaging in social scientific study of sport. Overall, the book continues to achieve an unrivalled balance between different social science disciplines that have been applied to sport, between local, national and international issues, and between broad overviews and specific detail on every topic. The end result is a book that is a must on many academic reading lists. Iain Lindsey, Durham University, UK. Fully updated and revised, the Third Edition of Barrie Houlihan and Dominic Malcolm's ground-breaking Sport and Society provides students and instructors with a one-stop text that is comprehensive, accessible, international and engaging. This popular book approaches the study of sport from a multi-disciplinary perspective. Presents the importance of social structure, power and inequality in analysing the nature and significance of sport in society. Addresses the rapid commercialization and regulation of sport. Engages in comparative analysis to understand problems clearly and produce sound solutions. Expands students' knowledge through chapter summaries, guides to further reading and extensive bibliographies. Offers five new chapters addressing the key contemporary issues of lifestyle sport, sport for development and peace, the governance of international sport organisations, sports fandom and sport in East Asia. A superb teaching text, this new edition will be relished by instructors seeking an authoritative introduction to sport and society and students who want a relevant, enriching text for their learning and research needs.
