SOCIETY, STATE, AND URBANISM FUAD. BAALI, 2020 Society, State, and Urbanism Fuad Baali, 1988-07-08 Ilm al umran is an independent science This science has its own peculiar object that is human civilization and social organization The discussion of this topic is something new extraordinary and highly useful Penetrating research has shown the way to it Ibn Khaldun This book probes the nature scope and methods of ilm al umran the new science of human social organization as it is developed in Ibn Khaldun s 14th century masterpiece the Mugaddimah It explores his ideas and observations on society culture socialization social control the state asabiyah social solidarity history as a cyclical movement urbanization and the typology of badawa primitive life and hadara civilized life or urbanism Through a comparative perspective this study illustrates that Khaldun s ideas about society have conceptually preceded those of Machiavelli Vico and Turgot as well as those of Montesqueau Comte Durkheim Gumplovicz Spengler Tonnies and even Marx Society State and Urbanism demonstrates that Ibn Khaldun s thought is relevant to contemporary sociological theory and that his very language differs little from that of classical and modern sociologists Civilization and the Making of the State in Lebanon and Syria

Andrew Delatolla, 2021-02-01 This book argues that the modern state from the nineteenth century to the contemporary period has consistently been used as a means to measure civilizational engagement and attainment This volume historicizes this dynamic examining how it impacted state making in Lebanon and Syria By putting social political and economic pressure on the Ottoman Empire to replicate the modern state in Europe the book examines processes of racialization nationalist development continued imperial expansion and resistance that became embedded in the state as it was assembled By historicizing post imperial and post colonial state formation in Lebanon and Syria it is possible to engage in a conceptual separation from the modern state abandoning the ongoing reproduction of the state as a standard or benchmark of civilization and progress Critical Reflections on Migration, 'Race' and Multiculturalism Martina Boese, Vince

The Art of Jihad Malik Mufti, 2019-10-01 Identifies and traces the evolution of a forgotten realist tradition in medieval Islamic political thought and considers the prospects for its revival in the context of the contemporary Middle East Now all but forgotten there exists within medieval Islamic political thought a coherent realist tradition analogous to its Western counterpart In The Art of Jihad Malik Mufti begins by analyzing contemporary debates on jihad designed to highlight the lacuna occupied by realism in other cultures He explicates the features of medieval Islamic realism those it shares with realism everywhere a focus on power for example or the ubiquity of human conflict but also those features that are distinctive its insistence on the political centrality of religion its rejection of scientific certainty its valorization of hierarchy and its adherence to empire as the optimal ethico political framework These features are fleshed out through the writings of medieval political thinkers such as Ibn al Muqaffa al Jahiz and the anonymous author of a seminal military manual as well as political philosophers such as Ibn Rushd and Ibn Khaldun Finally Mufti explores the prospects for a revival of Islamic realism in the context of the political and intellectual upheavals currently besetting the Middle East There are few more important themes in Islamic political thought than the problem and status of jihad Despite the great richness of the Islamic tradition it is widely recognized that less progress has been made than one might hope in contending in a fruitful way with this phenomenon This book is one of those rare works that offers a new way of looking at the matter Joshua Parens author of An Islamic Philosophy of Virtuous Religions Introducing Alfarabi

Black-Arab Encounters in Literature and Film Touria Khannous, 2021-08-27 This book investigates how representations of Black Africans have been negotiated over time in Arabic literature and film The book offers direct readings of a representative selection of primary texts shedding light on the divergent ways these authors understood race across different genres including pre Islamic classical poetry polemical essays travel narratives novels and films Starting with the first recognized Black Arab poet Antara Ibn Shaddad 580 C E and extending right up to the present day the works examined illuminate the changes in consciousness that attended Black Africans as they negotiated their position in Arab society In a twist to Edward Said s Orientalism the book argues that scholars in the Middle East and North Africa generated a hierarchical representational discourse themselves one equally predicated on the Self Other binary However it also demonstrates that Arab racial discourse is not a linear rhetoric but changes according to history political circumstances and ideologies such as tribal politics the Shu ubiyya movement nationalism and imperialism Blacks and Arabs have had tangled relationships that are based not only on race but also on kinship and solidarity due to trade and other types of connections Challenging fundamental assumptions of Black Diaspora studies and postcolonial studies this book will be of interest to scholars of the African diaspora Arabic literature Middle East studies and critical race studies Ibn Khaldun and the Social Sciences Javad Tabatabai, 2024-10-16 Arabic and European studies of Ibn Khaldun the great medieval polymath follow one of two paths In one direction scholars interpret his Prolegomena written in 1377 as the point at which the new social sciences emerged They identify Ibn Khaldun s new science of culture as sociology or as an Islamic or Arab alternative to sociology In the other direction the interpretation of Khaldunian discourse is confined to the Islamic Aristotelian paradigm of its time The epistemological novelty of the Prolegomena is dismissed and the science of culture is perceived as a minor contribution to the Aristotelian curriculum Charting a different path Javad Tabatabai s highly original Ibn Khaldun and the Social Sciences is an inquiry into the condition of the impossibility of the social sciences in the Islamic Aristotelian paradigm Rather than identifying the science of culture as a forerunner of or alternative to sociology it investigates the Prolegomena within the epistemological framework established by the social sciences Javad Tabatabai theorizes the condition of impossibility of the scientific revolution as the epistemic obstacle to modernity in Islamic civilization This theorization revisits Michel Foucault s discussion of the condition of possibility of the human sciences in light of the history of Christian Aristotelian thought and the broader French debates about epistemology from Bachelard to Althusser Ibn Khaldun and the Social Science offers a critical theory of tradition and modernity in the Middle East elaborating on a historical situation where social and human sciences emerged by the way of colonial and post colonial translations of discourse from Europe and in a historical and epistemological break with inherited traditions of knowledge In this situation Tabatabai highlights the significance of reactivating Ibn Khaldun s critical reckoning with the limit of inherited traditions as the political theological horizon of renewal The Hadrami Diaspora Leif O. Manger, 2010 The Hadramis of South Yemen and the emergence of their diasporic communities throughout the Indian Ocean region are an intriguing facet of the history of this region s migratory patterns In the early centuries of migration the Yemeni or Hadrami traveler was both a trader and a religious missionary making the migrant community both a trade diaspora and a religious diaspora This tradition has continued as Hadramis around the world have been linked to networks of extremist Islamic inspired movements Osama bin Laden leader of Al Qaeda and descendant of a prominent Hadrami family as the most infamous example However communities of Hadramis living outside Yemen are not homogenous The author expertly elucidates the complexity of the diasporic process showing how it contrasts with the conventional understanding of the Hadrami diaspora as an unchanging society with predefined cultural characteristics originating in the homeland Exploring ethnic social and religious aspects the author offers a deepened understanding of links between Yemen and Indian Ocean regions including India Southeast Asia and the Horn of Africa and the emerging international community of Muslims

State and Tribes in Syria Haian Dukhan, 2018-12-07 State and Tribes in Syria Informal Alliances and Conflict Patterns explores the policies of the successive Syrian governments towards the Arab tribes and their reactions to these policies. The book examines the consequences of the relationship between state and tribe since the fall of the Ottoman Empire and its withdrawal from Syria in 1916 until the eruption of the current Syrian civil war. Throughout history and up to the present day, tribalism continues to influence many issues related to governance, conflict, and stability in the Middle East and North Africa. The book provides a dissection of a crucial but neglected axis of the current crisis on the relationship between the state and the tribes. The research draws on data gathered through interviews with members of Syrian tribes as well as written literature in various languages including English, Arabic, and French. The book combines the research focus of political scientists and anthropologists by relating the local patterns, communities, and tribal affiliations to the larger system, state institutions, and policies of which they are a part. State and Tribes in Syria: Informal Alliances and Conflict Patterns advances our knowledge of an under-studied component of the Syrian society, the tribes. Therefore, it is a vital resource for students, scholars, and policymakers interested in Syrian Studies and Middle Eastern Studies.
